YANKEES SURE OF A "BIG FIVE" PACT BY APRIL

Two Big Obstacles Face Naval Parley.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 6.—With the London naval conference resuming discussions on the return of the French delegation tonight, members of the American delegation evince the utmost confidence that a five power naval limitation treaty will be arrived at before the first of April.

The attack on the problem of the agreement will resolve itself tomorrow into two concurrent negotiations—one between the British and French, and the other between the Americans and the Japanese. Upon Great Britain rests the burden of the effort to induce France to scale down her tonnage demands to a point justifying the British in asking no more than the 15 cruisers they are to have under the Anglo-American agreement.

U. S. Concentrates on Japan.

If the intransigeance of France compels Great Britain to go up, America will have to go up to maintain any semblance of fleet parity. The American delegation will have to concentrate on the effort to induce Japan to compromise her demand for 70 per cent of the American auxiliary tonnage, including big cruiser tonnage, as parity in submarines.

Conversations between Senator David A. Reed and Tsuneo Matsudaira have now progressed to the point of justifying Secretary of State Stimson and Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese delegation, to undertake a settlement, probably by the first of next week.

It is learned that the question of restricting six inch gun cruisers to 7,000 tons no longer figures in negotiations between the Americans, and British and Japanese. The latter two apparently are no longer pressing this demand to which America is strongly opposed.

U. S. to Watch Duel.

The American delegation will remain on the sidelines during the Franco-British negotiations, at least during the preliminary steps. The outstanding point of interest in the diplomatic passage of arms between Foreign Minister Briand of France and Prime Minister MacDonald is whether Britain will consent to enter into any kind of security pact which the French are demanding as the price of material reduction in their demands for 724,000 tons of ships by 1936, an increase of more than 250,000 tons over their present tonnage of serviceable ships.

Mr. MacDonald has flatly refused to participate in a Mediterranean Locarno such as France is demanding, but has not committed himself to an Atlantic pact or a consultative treaty to strengthen the Kellogg anti-war pact.

No Political Pact for U. S.

The American delegation will not consider going into a Mediterranean pact, and as to a consultative pact, there are several members, if not a majority, of the American delegation who are strongly opposed to the United States subscribing to any sort of a political agreement that will involve us in European affairs. The Japanese are taking the same stand as the Americans. They say any kind of a security pact hooked up with the naval limitation treaty must be confined to Great Britain, France and Italy.

Therefore, whether there is to be such a political condition attached to the treaty for the benefit of these European powers, it is for them alone to decide.

The naval delegates and experts are furnishing conflicting explanations to Mr. Stimson's statement last night, claiming that a reduction in the American navy to the extent of 200,000 tons is already in sight, provided the other powers reduce proportionately. Mr. Stimson gave no details of the calculations by which he reached this conclusion. Some have said that, even upon the basis of ships within the age limit, it is impossible to figure on 200,000 tons reduction unless there is no question of building up to cruiser parity with Great Britain.

Say Cruiser Demand Stands.

Others said today that the cruiser building program still stands, but that Mr. Stimson got his 200,00 tons reduction by including more than 100,000 tons marked for the scrap heap as over the age of usefulness. Among them is the 40 year old armored cruiser Rochester, formerly the U. S.

DENIES CHICAGO CRIME SPRINGS FROM VOLSTEAD

Dry Blames It on Wet Propaganda.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—On the heels of the Oberta-Malega gang slaying last night a leading dry witness contended today before the house judiciary committee that prohibition has little, if any, effect upon the crime situation in Chicago.

The witness was C. P. Connolly, a criminal lawyer from East Orange, N. J., who cited Chicago as an example in refutation of wet charges that the eighteenth amendment has brought a wave of lawlessness. Beer war killings, like that of last night, he argued, were just as common in Chicago in the pre-prohibition days. What prohibition lawlessness exists now, he said, is chargeable to "poisonous wet propaganda."

Challenge His Statement.

"In Chicago during the saloon days they had beer wars between brewery factions, with policemen shot down on the streets, just as they have now," Mr. Connolly told the congressional investigation group. "Prohibition did not make this country lawless. It always was lawless."

The New Jersey lawyer's statements were sharply challenged by wet members of the committee, who subjected him to a lengthy cross-examination, as they did each of the four other spokesmen presented by the drys today. The result was a hectic session marked by the most acrimonious repartee which has developed so far during the hearings being conducted by the committee on pending wet legislation. While the hearings heretofore have consisted largely of speechmaking, the session today took on the aspect of a court trial. As usual the committee chamber was jammed with listeners, mostly drys, who ignored the chairman's gavel, repeatedly applauding, laughing, and hissing.

These Witnesses on Stand.

Aside from Mr. Connolly the dry witnesses testifying today were:

Patrick H. Callahan, Louisville, Ky., paint and varnish manufacturer, general secretary of the Association of Catholics Favoring Prohibition.

Mrs. Ruth K. Strawbridge, Philadelphia, Pa., society matron.

Representative Olger B. Burtness [Rep., N. D.].

Louis J. Taber, Columbus, O., master of the National Grange.

Crime and Prohibition.

Attorney Connolly, taking up his subject of prohibition and crime, sought to support his position that lawlessness certainly has not increased, if it has not decreased, under Volsteadism, quoted voluminous statistics upon the prevalency of crime before prohibition, referring frequently to Chicago.

In 1916, he said, Chicago with its 2,500,000 population, had 20 more murders than all of England and Wales with their 38,000,000 persons. At the same time, he said, it had 532 more burglaries than London and three years later 2,146 more than London "showing a steady increase up to the time the Volstead act went into effect."

No Figures Since Volstead.

"Have you any figures since the Volstead act went into effect?" Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.], asked the witness. He replied in the negative.

"In the years 1905 and 1906," he continued, "Chicago had a reign of organized crime probably not exceeded before or since. Vigilance committees were formed and many talked of leaving Chicago, so terrified had they become. Murders by the score, shootings and stabbing affrays by the hundreds, assaults, burglaries and robberies by the thousand was the crime record for the year."

Under a storm of questions by the wets, Attorney Connolly admitted that prohibition had not cured crime or emptied the jails, as some prohibition advocates had promised, but he insisted that the reason is "agitation by wet leaders who are preaching defiance and disobedience of laws and the great wet newspapers which drop poison into the breakfast cups every morning."

Encounters Hot Reception.

Of all of today's witnesses, Mr. Callahan encountered the hottest reception. His statements and statistics were literally torn to pieces by the wet committeemen.

Callahan explained that he is a Roman Catholic, that his four grandparents were born in Ireland and that he is general secretary of the Association of Catholics Favoring Prohi-

City Homicide Rate Exceeded by 33 Others

Contrary to widespread popular opinion Chicago's homicide rate is not the highest in the nation. Thirty-three other cities experienced a greater number of homicides in proportion to population in 1929. This fact was stated in a defense of the city's reputation by Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh before the police school for detectives yesterday.

Rate Shows Decrease.

Chicago's homicide rate decreased from 15.8 per 100,000 of population in 1928 to 12.7 in 1929, while totals for 127 cities showed an increase from 10.3 to 10.4. The summary of the cities, having a total population of 36,475,016, showed killings to the number of 3,773 in 1928 and 3,796 in 1929. Chicago, which was listed in first place in 1928 with 498 homicides against 401 for New York, dropped to second place with 401 against 425 in New York for 1929.

The statistics were compiled by Frederick L. Hoffman of New York, consulting statistician for insurance companies. They were obtained by Judge Kavanagh for his use when he appears before the English house of commons to testify before a committee on capital punishment.

In addition to the thirty-three cities leading Chicago, a dozen more are close in rank. Figures for twenty representative cities, as selected by Judge Kavanagh, are as follows:

City	1928. Homicides.	Rate per 100,000.	1929. Homicides.	Rate per 100,000.
Memphis, Tenn.	115	60.5	127	66.8
Birmingham, Ala.	122	54.9	114	51.3
Atlanta, Ga.	115	45.1	130	51.0
Jacksonville, Fla.	74	52.6	66	46.9
Lexington, Ky.	15	30.8	19	39.0
Kansas City, Mo.	99	25.3	97	24.8
Cincinnati, O.	73	17.6	96	23.2
Detroit, Mich.	238	16.5	257	18.6
Evansville, Ind.	14	14.3	17	17.3
Jackson, Mich.	0	00.0	11	17.3
Sacramento, Cal.	11	14.5	14	18.5
Youngstown, O.	13	7.5	23	13.2
Chicago	498	15.8	401	12.7
St. Louis, Mo.	136	16.3	105	12.4
Cleveland, O.	134	13.3	120	11.9
Albany, N. Y.	9	7.5	14	11.6
Washington, D. C.	58	10.5	59	10.7
Denver, Colo.	17	5.8	24	8.2
Philadelphia, Pa.	182	8.8	173	8.4
New York	401	5.7	425	7.1

Eleven cities were tied for low with not a single homicide in 1929. These are: Brockton, Mass.; Concord, N. H.; Fall River, Mass.; Manchester, N. H.; Newton, Mass.; Newport, R. I.; Orange, N. J.; Quincy, Mass.; Reading, Pa.; Salem, Mass., and Utica, N. Y.

"Chicago has a reputation which might well be given to any one of the thirty-three cities with a higher rate," Judge Kavanagh said. "The reason for the reputation is that Chicago is not afraid of washing her linen in public; while other cities sweep their crimes under the bed. Every crime in the city is made public, while in other cities police conspire to hide their crime records."

ORDER FERON'S ARREST; $14,856 THEFT CHARGED

A warrant charging James M. Feron, missing Oak Park police magistrate, with embezzlement of $14,856 in fines which he had collected was issued last night by Justice of the Peace Martin H. McGrath of Oak Park on the complaint of Charles H. Crysler, village president, and the board of trustees. A second warrant charged Robert F. Nichols, 460 Turner avenue, Glen Ellyn, Feron's nephew and clerk, with being an accessory. Nichols surrendered to the police.

In an explanatory statement Crysler said that, although no discrepancies had been found in Feron's records, a check for $14,856 which the police magistrate had turned over to the village board in payment of fines collected was returned by his bank because of insufficient funds. A second check, the amount of which was not disclosed, was paid, Crysler said.

Crysler said that after the check had been returned Feron's attorney, L. S. Gibson, had advised the board that the money was being raised by friends, but when the restitution was not made the village board "felt in justice to the village that the law should be permitted to take its course." The board announced that it would pay a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest of Feron, who has been missing since Feb. 27. After his disappearance was discovered Crysler had insisted that the magistrate was suffering from a nervous breakdown. Mrs. Feron is critically ill at the home of relatives as a result of the affair.

Natalie Blair Seeks Divorce; Sues Bradley

Mrs. Natalie Blair Higinbotham Bradley, 49 years old, daughter of Henry A. Blair, president of the Chicago Surface lines, filed a bill for divorce yesterday in the Superior court against Neil Bradley, 28 years old. The bill, drawn by the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin, charges desertion.

The Bradleys were married Feb. 8, 1920, at Panhandle, Tex. Bradley was the friend of the petitioner's son, Blair Higinbotham. The boys met in 1917 at the Higinbotham summer home at Trout Lake, Wis. A year later Mrs. Higinbotham won a divorce from her husband, Harry Higinbotham. Bradley and Mrs. Higinbotham became secretly engaged on Christmas, 1919, and were to be married the following June. Bradley went to a ranch in Texas and became ill.

Keep Marriage Secret.

When she heard of the illness, Mrs. Higinbotham left for Panhandle. Bradley met her at the train with the town clerk and secured a license. The two routed out a justice of the peace at 5 a. m. and were married. They did not break the news of their marriage until a month later. Mrs. Bradley was then 39 years old and her husband was 18.

The Bradleys separated two months after the wedding. Mrs. Bradley emphatically denied rumors of a divorce. They were reunited the following Aug. 10 at Estes Park, Colo., where Mrs. Bradley went to join him. Mrs. Bradley admitted the romance was unusual at the time, but offered it as proof that love never dies and declared that she was supremely happy.

Will Waive Alimony.

Shortly after their reunion a child was born, Cameron Franklin Bradley, now 9 years old. In her bill Mrs. Bradley charges that her husband left her Jan. 3, 1928, and that she does not know his whereabouts. It is understood that she will waive alimony. The case is to be heard by Superior Judge Sabath.

LINDY THROWN BY POLO PONY, BUT IS UNHURT

Del Monte, Cal., March 6.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was thrown from a polo pony here today and dragged for twenty-five feet. He was severely shaken, but escaped injury.

Lindbergh was riding a mount owned by J. C. Cowdin of New York at the time of the accident. The aviator was galloping down the Del Monte pole field when the pony suddenly threw its rider sprawling on the turf.

Before he could halt the pony Lindbergh was dragged along the turf. He laughed off the incident and apparently was not hurt.

Whisky Deal Seen Cause of Oberta Slaying

Only Eight Robberies

For the 26 hours ending at 1 a. m. only eight robberies were reported to the Chicago police. One robber was caught five minutes after he had held up Gust Garfi, 4845 West 24th place, Cicero, a taxicab driver, and taken his cab. The police continued their roundup of hoodlums, arresting 489 persons during the day. Of these 43 had records and four had guns.

A $5,000 whisky transaction in which John (Dingbat) Oberta, politician and hoodlum, was involved led to his death Wednesday night, Chief of Detectives Stege believes. With this information gained from telephone conversations between booze peddlers who later had a falling out the police last night worked toward a solution of the murder with suspicion directed at friends of Frank McErlane, gunman.

Moreover, Stege asserted, the killing of Oberta is only the opening of a new gang war involving Polack Joe Saltis, Edward (Spike) O'Donnell, and McErlane. He predicted that the end of the war will find these three men and a number of minor hoodlums dead.

Oberta and his chauffeur, Sammy Malega, were shot to death about 9 p. m. in Oberta's automobile on a lonely road at 103d street and Roberts road, west of Chicago Ridge. An inquest conducted yesterday by Coroner Bundesen was continued until March 21.

Once Partner of McErlane.

Two years ago, according to Stege, McErlane, Saltis, and Oberta were partners in the purchase of liquor for which they were supposed to pay $5,000. The three at that time were friends. The whisky was delivered to McErlane with the understanding that he should dispose of it and split the profits with the other two.

But McErlane, acting according to the usual gangster code of honor, double crossed his friends. When the seller of the whisky asked for his money, McErlane told him that Saltis had the proceeds. On another occasion, he told the seller that Oberta had the money and laughed uproariously when both Saltis and Oberta protested.

The affair led to a split. Saltis and Oberta stayed together until Saltis went to jail for a time and later on transferred most of his activities to Wisconsin. The seller of the whisky continued to demand his $5,000 and feeling grew more bitter between the three gangsters.

Blames Saltis for Attack.

All this information Stege learned from telephone conversations overheard by police operatives. He said it was his belief that when McErlane, lying in a bed at the German Deaconess hospital, was shot by two gunmen eleven days ago, Saltis henchmen performed the job. McErlane fought the two off with a pistol.

"Saltis men committed that attack," said Stege, "but Oberta was accused of it. He's dead now, but the others won't be long in following him."

Although the only authentic information concerning the murder thus came from Chicago detectives, Chief Stege pointed out that the murder was committed outside the city limits and that the solution of the crime was actually up to the state's attorney and his force of police.

Oberta as a politician made many enemies and certain investigators last night expressed a belief that he was killed as a result of his domineering political methods. The unusual situation in the race for the Republican Thirteenth ward committeeman as a

OFFER PROGRAM FOR FINANCING COMBINED LINES

Aldermen Asked to Act on Proposals.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

An agreement has been reached by the bankers' committee on a plan to reorganize and consolidate the elevated and surface lines of Chicago, except with reference to the first mortgage bonds of the street car companies.

The members of the committee, appointed last fall by Samuel Insull, are Frank O. Wetmore of the First National bank, Arthur Reynolds of the Continental Illinois bank, and H. L. Stuart of Halsey, Stuart & Co. Yesterday afternoon they sent a letter to Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], chairman of the city council local transportation committee, saying they have "reached an accord on all points concerned" with the exception mentioned. Mr. Wetmore is credited by his two colleagues with being chiefly responsible for the "accord."

Notify Security Committees.

Immediately after dispatching their communication to Ald. McDonough the three financiers sent their recommendations to the protective committees of the holders of junior transit securities, of which there are 24 varieties. As a courtesy to these committees on underlying securities the financiers' recommendations will not be made public until there has been an opportunity for them to express their opinions.

Messrs. Wetmore, Reynolds, and Stuart have gone a step farther. The tentative draft of the proposed transit franchise has a number of important sections relating to financial structure which have been left blank or omitted by the aldermen.

Await Aldermanic Action.

"We are handing you herewith our views and suggestions with reference to them," reads the letter delivered to Ald. McDonough. "As soon as your (local transportation) committee has acted definitely upon these suggestions we will endeavor to complete a financial structure for the consolidation and reorganization of the existing companies that will make possible the raising of the capital necessary for future requirements of the new company."

"The letter indicates that substantial progress has been made," commented Ald. McDonough. "The bankers put a task up to us. My reply is that I have called a special meeting of the local transportation committee for Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, and I propose to continue in session from day to day until the committee has decided what it thinks on each suggestion and has expressed its opinion.

Action Is Expected Soon.

"All of the suggestions are matters on which the committee has much information and from time to time has discussed at length. Therefore I expect that the committee will definitely express its views on all suggestions by the end of next week."

More progress has been made than the bankers' letter indicates, it was revealed yesterday. The elevated road officials are said already to have stated informally that they approve of the bankers' plan for the junior securities of the elevated lines. Also, the relationship of Mr. Wetmore to the protective committees of the south side surface lines is such that his approval of the plan is reported to foreshadow the approval of the committees. The recommendations of the bankers then would await only the approval of the protective committees of the north and west side surface lines. Yesterday it was said that they were expected to assent to the program within a reasonable time.

Report Two Tentative Plans.

The letter of the bankers gives the impression that no agreement has been reached on the first mortgage bonds of the surface lines. Two tentative plans, however, are said to have been worked out with reference to these bonds, both of which assure the return of the investment.

In addition either of these two tentative plans, it is claimed privately, will tend to increase the market price of the bonds. Neither of these plans has been authoritatively given out, and it is understood they will not be made public until thoroughly discussed by the protective committee chairmen concerned.

On the Chicago City railway [south side lines] the first mortgage bonds total $33,936,000 and on the Calumet and South Chicago street railway, $5,- 532,000. The $55,685,000 of first mortgage bonds on the west and north side surface lines were reduced to $50,089,500 last Aug. 1 by a 10 per cent payment. Altogether the first mortgage bonds of the surface lines total $89,547,000.

Harris Rejects Committee Place.

Albert W. Harris of the Harris Trust and Savings bank is the chairman of the committee representing the first mortgage bonds of the west and north side lines. He was offered a place on the bankers' committee with Messrs. Wetmore, Reynolds and Stuart last Oct. 13. But three weeks ago he announced that he had never accepted the appointment and took a train to California.

It was reported at the time that he disliked all suggestions made with reference to the place of the present first mortgage bonds in the proposed new company. He is said to have insisted that all first mortgage bonds of the Chicago railways must be first mortgage bonds in the new company.

Other bankers were reported to have claimed that such a plan would interfere with the raising of new capital. The two tentative substitutes for the Harris demand are to be considered early next week.

As viewed by Ald. McDonough, the success of a transportation program depends much more on what has been recited to this point than upon the bankers' suggestions with reference to the blank spaces in the ordinance-franchise draft.

Bankers' View on Earnings.

One of the latter is the rate of return to the company. On that point the bankers wrote:

"It is manifest that the success of any effort to raise the sum of $200,000,000 for the city's transportation needs during the next ten years and the ability thereafter to meet the transportation needs of the city for new capital will depend absolutely upon the earnings of the company. Unless reasonable earnings are assured it would be useless to attempt to interest investors in this enterprise for the reason that we shall be obliged at all times to compete in the money market with various enterprises not only in the utility but in the industrial field whose earnings and credit are of the highest order.

"Having in mind that this is a public utility and therefore subject to regulation, we think it not only proper but an economic necessity that the ordinance provide that the new company should be entitled to a reasonable rate of return on its capital account, such rate of return to be fixed from time to time by the regulatory commission.

Urge "Fair Rate of Return."

"Considering the status of street railway securities throughout the country and the prices which the securities of the existing companies now command, in comparison with other utilities, it will be no light task to restore the credit to this enterprise and place the new company on a sound financial basis. Any limitation of the company's right to earn a fair and reasonable rate of return on its capital investment would, in our judgment, render it impossible to build up a successful company with first class credit and the ability to meet the capital requirements for the extensive improvements proposed."

Regarding compensation to the city the bankers say that "it may well be questioned whether this principle is economically sound."

But if the city's policy is adhered to, the letter reads:

"Our suggestion is that the compensation to the city be fixed at not to exceed 3 per cent of the gross earnings, such compensation to be junior to bond interest, the company's sinking fund requirements, and the dividends on the preferred stock."

Present System Described.

Under the present system the city gets 3 per cent of the gross earnings of the telephone and Edison companies. From the surface lines the city gets 55 per cent of the net, which is the first deduction after 5 per cent return is paid to the companies.

The bankers argue the necessity for a renewal and depreciation fund as a part of the operating cost of the new company, just as it is with the surface lines at present. Regarding the amount of this fund the bankers' letter says:

"We suggest a provision that a percentage of the gross earnings of the new company, such percentage to be determined from time to time by the regulatory commission, be set aside for renewals and depreciation."

The bankers oppose placing the cost of cleaning, sprinkling, paving, "and other nontransportation burdens" upon the companies. They assert that their idea "would improve the financial structure and facilitate the raising of new capital on favorable terms."

Some Expenses of Lines Listed.

The surface lines in the last year of their franchise spent $557,737 for cleaning between the tracks, $221,998 for the removal of snow, and $37,556 for paving. However, the paving expense of that year was not typical, it was said, because in the 20 years the company spent $12,112,214 for paving, which is an average of more than $600,000 a year.

The relocating of tracks because of street widenings or other public improvements involves costs "running into serious figures" in the opinion of the bankers. They wrote Ald. McDonough that "such abnormal expenditures cannot be justly charged to operating expenses."

"On the other hand," the letter continues, "the company cannot stand in the way of these improvements but must be prepared to spend money necessary to join with the city in all this development work. Our suggestion, therefore, is that the ordinance provide that the cost of all such work be charged to a deferred account and as such expenditures are not productive of income and are made solely for the purpose of city improvements demanded by the public, that the city should reimburse the company for such outlay."

Suggestions on Subways.

Concerning subways, the bankers submit the following:

"We assume that the city will construct the initial subways provided for in the ordinance. The cost of this work is to be met by use of the city's transit trustee fund, special assessments, and any other means available.

"In working out a financial structure for the new company we are proceeding on the assumption that the existing transit fund and compensation hereafter paid to the city will be used as far as necessary to complete the initial subway system and thereafter will be used in such a way as may be provided in the ordinance for the creation of additional transportation facilities and for the amortization of the city purchase price."

On Indeterminate Franchise.

With respect to the proposed indeterminate franchise the bankers say:

"We note that the tentative draft of the ordinance is based on a terminable permit. Under no other form of franchise, in our judgment, would it be possible to raise the amount of money required by the program of extensions and improvements contemplated during the next 10 years and those that will be made necessary by the further development of the Chicago metropolitan area thereafter."

JUDGE FEINBERG IS RE-ELECTED RULER OF THE CHICAGO ELKS

Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg was reelected exalted ruler of the Chicago lodge of Elks yesterday over M. G. Frankel, his sole opponent. About 1,170 votes were cast, it was understood, and the judge was reported to have won by about 200.

"I feel very grateful for this honor," Judge Feinberg said, "and for the opportunity it affords for the broad, constructive program to make Chicago lodge one of the foremost fraternal organizations in this community. I have invited the grand lodge to hold its convention in Chicago in 1933, and every effort will be put forth by our lodge to insure the success of the World's Fair that year."

Mr. Frankel said he had no comment to make on the election. Last week it was reported that politics was entering the campaign and Frankel's supporters claimed to be indignant over the fact that Judge Feinberg had been elected last year "from the ranks" instead of successively filling the "chairs" leading to the exalted rulership. Frankel is esteemed leading knight of the order.

ROBBER SUSPECT IS SEIZED AFTER GIRL TRAILS HIM

The pluck of a girl in trailing a robbery suspect yesterday afternoon resulted in the capture of Gus Radkovitz, 20 years old, 5040 South Carpenter street, who will be arraigned today on a charge of robbery and burglary.

Miss Dorothy Carlson, a salesgirl in a bakery at 1504 Howard street, saw Radkovitz in the street and recognized him, she told Lieut. Steve Barry of the Rogers Park police, as the gunman who had robbed a delivery wagon driver of $40 earlier in the day.

Miss Carlson followed Radkovitz to the fruit store of Peter Cominos at 7636 Rogers avenue. Cominos, with the aid of Max Dinisman, a salesman, seized Radkovitz, found a revolver in his pocket, and called the police.

7 FEEDER BUS ROUTES ORDERED ON N. WEST SIDE

Action of State Board Ends Long Fight.

Seventeen miles of trolley feeder bus service was ordered yesterday for the northwest side by the Illinois commerce commission at Springfield. The order directs the Chicago surface lines to establish the service on seven routes at a minimum cost of $954,500, providing the federal court, in which the north and west side surface lines are in receivership, approves the expenditure.

The trackless trolley buses, a new mode of transportation for Chicago, are to be operated on a 7 cent fare with transfer privileges to the street cars. The buses have electric motors fed by overhead wires. The absence of tracks permits the coaches to swing easily from the curb to the center of the street.

Motor Coaches to Go.

The commission directed the Chicago Motor Coach company to cease operation on a number of northwest side streets and on parts of five south side streets. The commission, however, directed the company to continue operation on some of its present northwest side routes until the feeder buses are placed in operation.

The order virtually ends the battle waged by residents of the northwest side for two years before the commerce commission and previous to that before the city council. The fight was started by Ald. Thomas J. Bowler [41st] six years ago.

Later the orders for feeder buses led to a defeat for Mayor Thompson in the city council. He vetoed council orders for the bus service, which the council immediately repassed.

The new routes authorized by the commission are as follows:

Irving Park boulevard, from Narragansett avenue to Harlem avenue.

Service on Diversey and Belmont avenues is directed to begin within six weeks from the date of service of the order and on the balance of the routes within four months. The Motor Coach company is directed to discontinue service on the routes that it will maintain during the interim within forty-eight hours after the feeder buses are installed.

Some Routes Stop Tonight.

The Motor Coach company's service on some routes specified to be dropped by the commission will be discontinued at midnight tonight, according to James G. Condon, attorney for the company. He said that his company offered to maintain the service on the routes requested by the commission until the feeder buses are installed.

James M. Sheean, attorney for the surface lines, stated that he would go into the federal court for authorization of the expenditure as soon as he had the commission's order. He expected to receive a copy today.

EX-TURNKEY'S TRIAL DATE SET.

Appleton, Wis., March 6.—[Special.]—Dan Kelly, former turnkey at the county jail under Sheriff Fred W. Giese, ousted recently for malfeasance in office, is to be tried in Municipal court here March 13, on a charge of attempted larceny. Kelly now is being held under $2,000 bonds.

SENATE GROUP TO TAKE UP BILLS ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Wagner Says Situation Calls for Action.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—The senate committee on commerce today appointed a subcommittee to consider the bills before the committee in relation to unemployment.

The subcommittee was authorized, on motion of Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota. He suggested that Senator Hiram Johnson, chairman of the committee, should head the subcommittee. The subcommittee selected consists of Senators Johnson, Nye, and Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Republicans, and Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida and Harry B. Hawes of Missouri, Democrats.

Couzens Is Invited.

Senator Vandenberg suggested that Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.] be invited to attend the meetings and hearings of the subcommittee, inasmuch as he had presided over the education and labor committee when it considered unemployment. This was agreed to unanimously by the committee.

The committee on commerce considered three bills of Senator Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.] dealing with unemployment. Senator Wagner argued in behalf of these bills at the invitation of the committee, taking the same position he recently set forth on the floor of the senate, that the present situation calls for constructive action.

Stabilization of Industry.

The three bills of Senator Wagner relating to unemployment include one to provide for the advance planning and regulated construction of public works, the stabilization of industry, and prevention of unemployment in periods of business depression. This bill would provide $150,000,000 for public improvements. James J. Davis, secretary of labor, has reported on this bill, and while expressing sympathy with the purpose, objects to various features.

Another bill provided for the establishment of a national employment system and coöperation with the states in promoting it. The third is to expand the present arrangements in the department of labor for collection of statistics on employment.

U. S. JUDGE RAPS USE OF ILLEGAL WET EVIDENCE

Passing sentence in a case in which local police raiding without a search warrant had found half a pint of moonshine in a home, Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday repeated his criticism of the practice of prosecuting dry law violators on illegal evidence. The defendant, John Milewski, 1000 West 51st street, was fined $75 on a plea of nolo contendere.

"If I were a district attorney," the judge said, "I would certainly hesitate to bring such cases into court. The evidence was seized in an illegal manner and in direct violation of the man's constitutional rights. It is a case of one law breaker bringing in another law breaker."

Assistant United States Attorney Walter Wiles argued that Malewski was attempting to escape punishment through a technicality, since the Supreme court has ruled that evidence illegally seized by police may be used by the government.

700 DIE IN FRENCH FLOODS; CIRCUS CROWDS TRAPPED

Lions and Tigers Perish in Wall of Water.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 6.—Flood waters are subsiding in southwestern France, but the nation is mourning tonight as the full extent of the disaster is slowly being revealed.

Seven hundred dead is the unofficial figure now spoken of in Paris. The material loss cause by the swollen waters of the Tarn and Garonne rivers during the last four days is estimated at $40,000,000, and though Bordeaux is declared safe the wine center of Barsac is now under water. Hundreds of houses are flooded and the stores of the famous Bordeaux white wines in the cellars ruined.

To Vote $4,000,000 Relief.

Parliament tomorrow is prepared to vote $4,000,000 for rescue work and President Doumergue and Premier Tardieu are leaving to inspect the stricken regions.

Montauban and Moissac were smiling and prosperous towns in one of the richest wine making regions in the world until the floods came. Rescue parties are now discovering how much worse the catastrophe was than any one thought. Two hundred are estimated drowned or crushed in the ruins of Moissac alone, 100 at Montauban and 400 in the surrounding villages, many of which are still inaccessible.

At Bordeaux anxious crowds gather on the river quays and watch the torrent pass, tragically laden with the debris of ruined homes, dead live stock, and now and then a corpse.

Dead Lions in City Square.

The fact that two circuses were playing in Moissac on the night the dikes broke is responsible for the loss of many lives. Many attended the shows, paying no heed to the roaring waters and the warnings of the gendarmerie. Just as the crowds were leaving the big tents the wall of water swept down upon them. One of the circuses was directly in the path of the waters, and dead lions, tigers, and other animals are now strewn around the town square and in front of the Eleventh Century church that is now serving as a hospital for those suffering from wounds received from falling buildings.

So quickly did the wall of water move that 300,000 acres of farm land between Moissac and Montauban were flooded in a few hours. The receding waters have left many a foot of slimy mud in the streets.

Two menaces have already appeared in the wake of the disaster. One is the ghouls who rob the dead and the other is epidemic.

Robbers Loot Theater Next to Evanston Police Station

The New Evanston theater, next door to the Evanston police station, was robbed of ash trays, a pen set and table lamps, with a total value of $115, yesterday by burglars who jimmied a door on a court adjoining the station.

TORNADOES IN SOUTH CLAIM AT LEAST 5 VICTIMS

Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana in Path.

Memphis, Tenn., March 6.—(AP)—Three persons were killed, nearly a score injured, much property damage was done by a tornado that tore through Mississippi and Arkansas tonight. One village was virtually wiped out.

The weather bureau in Little Rock, Ark., reported the barometer there at 29.25, the lowest point in many years. The wrecking wind ripped through plantations and villages in Bolivar, Sun Flower and Humphreys counties in Mississippi near Augusta, Ark. Two negroes were killed. Ten persons were injured and fifteen houses were destroyed as two storms cut across Bolivar county, between Boyle and Cleveland.

A 65 year old woman, Mrs. J. W. Adams, was killed and two negro farm tenants were injured when the storm swept the Adams plantation near Kosciusko, Miss.

Village Demolished.

Turning into Arkansas, the tornado struck the village of Gregory, near Augusta, virtually demolishing it. Five persons were injured, two seriously, and three churches, a business house, four large dwellings and fifteen tenant houses were destroyed. John Eldridge, plantation owner, estimated the damage there at $30,000. The population of Gregory is 200.

Two Killed in Louisiana.

Homer, La., March 6.—(AP)—A tornado striking the village of Harris eight miles west of here tonight, killed two negroes and probably fatally injured a third. Property damage was extensive, and the injured list was expected to exceed twenty-five persons. Communication lines were down.

REDS ARRESTED, MANY INJURED IN PETTY RIOTS

U. S. Demonstrations Are Curbed by Police.

Red Parades

Reports from cities in America and Europe where communist demonstrations were held showed that, except in a few instances, the celebrations were marked for an air of curiosity and comedy. Following are the principal demonstrations:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—Tear gas bombs, blackjacks, and the flying fists of policemen and spectators quelled a communist demonstration staged in front of the White House at noon today. A policeman, two elderly women, a news photographer, and a half dozen demonstrators received minor injuries during the disturbance. Thirteen communists or sympathizers were arrested.

The noise could be heard at the executive offices in the state and war department building, where the President was working, but he did not pause to watch the clash. Mrs. Hoover watched the rout of the communists from the White House, where she was entertaining a delegation from the local convention of the D. A. R.

Mostly Negroes in Parade.

Washingtonians greeted the handful of marching communists with laughter and gibes when they made their first appearance before the massed motion picture batteries. For the most part the marchers were Negro men, but there was a sprinkling of half grown white boys and girls in the group of about 100.

The fight began when William Lawrence climbed to the top of the high black iron fence surrounding the White House grounds and attempted to make a speech. Two policemen dragged him down and he struck one of them in the face. A general melée then ensued.

Policeman Drops Tear Bomb.

Many unsympathetic bystanders joined in the battle when the demonstrators, led by a girl, attacked one of the scores of policemen stationed around the White House grounds. As his attackers closed in, the policeman dropped his tear gas bomb, the fumes quickly scattering the crowd.

Other officers with blackjacks seized the confused leaders as the acrid tear gas took effect and took them away. On one occasion an excited man seized a blackjack from a policeman and cracked an elderly lady over the head. Another elderly woman was trampled when knocked down by the excited crowd.

Three carloads of police reserves were sent to the scene of the trouble to disperse the crowd attracted by the excitement.

Late this afternoon all but four of arrested communists were released on $5 bond. Miss Edith Briscoe, the girl communist who attacked the policeman, was held in bonds of $75.

A Hundred Heads Clubbed.

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—A riot in Union square, in which a hundred heads were clubbed, was New York's contribution to the world-wide communist demonstration staged today. More than 30,000 persons were in the crowd that milled and fought with 800 policemen, but only a few thousand of them were communists. The others were sensation seekers.

There were 30 arrests. Three patrolmen were injured by flying bricks.

Tonight five Red leaders, including William Z. Foster, were held. Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, who personally led the attack on the communists, said he will charge them with "inciting a riot."

The Union square demonstration began soon after noon. Seven platforms stood in a sea of cardboard placards. There was a speaker on each stand for almost two hours and they were permitted to say just about anything they desired.

Foster and five of his aids visited Mr. Whalen in his "headquarters" established in the Garden house on the north side of the square. They asked the police commissioner to clear Broadway for a march on the city hall. Mr. Whalen refused, at the same time signaling one of his inspectors to call reserves.

Foster returned to his stand and ordered the parade in defiance of Mr. Whalen's edict. Holding their cardboard signs high the Reds and their followers turned into Broadway. They were met by mounted police who turned them back into Union square. Then the bricks began to fly.

Some one turned on three fire plugs and the north side of the square began to fill with water. A wagon load of reserves armed with machine guns and tear bombs raced through the struggling crowd. They were there for moral effect. The mounted men continued to ride over the mob and a lot of folks were knocked down by the horses.

First Aid Station Established.

A first aid station was established in Whalen's headquarters in the Garden house and police began dragging their victims inside. The commissioner, himself, was on the firing line. He saw a roughly dressed fellow give a woman a push and grabbed the man by his coat collar, shook him, and handed him over to a plain clothes man. The detective made a casualty out of Mr. Whalen's capture.

Twenty minutes after the first blackjack fell white wings were busy giving the battlefield a good scrubbing. It needed it badly.

Fierce Battle in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., March 6.—(AP)—Downtown Detroit was turned into a battleground between police and the unemployed this afternoon.

In a series of disorders starting at 1 p. m. and continuing two hours 14 persons were sent to hospitals with injuries from policemen's night sticks, while 31 others, alleged agitators and sympathizers, were arrested. None of the injuries was serious. Seven women were among the arrested.

Considerable damage was suffered by stores on Woodward avenue when the crush of the crowd crashed in show windows and carried away doors. The police estimated the crowd at almost 100,000.

Mrs. Betty Graves Reyneau, a New York artist and society woman, who attempted to intercede in behalf of a man who was grappling with a policeman, was arrested, but later released. She is a granddaughter of the late Chief Justice Benjamin Franklin Graves of the Michigan Supreme court.

49 Arrested and 8 Hurt.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 6.—(AP)—A dispute between two soapbox orators touched off a riot of unemployed in downtown Milwaukee this afternoon and brought about the arrest of 49 men. Two policemen and half a dozen demonstrators were injured.

More than 1,500 men took part in a parade which preceded the battle. Marching past the city hall, they decried the efforts of the Socialist city administration to solve the unemployment problem by opening soup kitchens.

At Madison, Wis., fifty University of Wisconsin students broke up a parade led by David Gordon, New York, a student and communist leader. He and Miss Lottie Blumenthal were injured. The students took over the march, joined by hundreds of grinning citizens.

Battle Follows Red Meeting.

Cleveland, O., March 6.—[Special.]—A cursing, jeering crowd of 10,000 men and women battled several hundred police on the public square late today after a gigantic communist unemployment demonstration had been conducted without violence of any kind. Scores of men and women were trampled by the charging horses of the police and more than a hundred were injured by flying police clubs during the melée. Three mounted officers were pulled off their horses and roughly handled by the angry mob.

Boston Reds Disorderly.

Boston, Mass., March 6.—(AP)—Scenes of disorder involving thousands of persons, a march on the Massachusetts statehouse, and the arrest of nine persons marked international unemployment day in Boston.

New York Beauty Leaps to Death

Feared Cancer

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—Christine Norman, who some years ago was the toast of Broadway, and was painted by Neysa McMein as one of the twelve most beautiful women in the world, jumped to her death early today from the window of her room in the twentieth story of the Hotel Warwick. Fear of cancer is believed to have prompted her act.

Miss Norman graced the original companies of "Peg o' My Heart," "Bird of Paradise," "The Unchastened Woman," and other successes. In 1919 she was married to Enos Booth, attorney, and, for a few years, retired from the stage.

Five years ago Miss Norman parted from her husband and in 1926 she sued him for divorce, but later dropped the suit. They did not become reconciled, but became friendly, and when, a few months ago, she wrote him from California that she feared she had a cancer, or a tumor, he urged that she come east for an examination by a specialist. She did so and apparently the decision of the specialist caused her despondency.

GERMAN POLICE KILL FOUR REDS IN DAY OF RIOTS

Disorders Flat Failure in Rest of Europe.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 6.—Riot cars are clanging through the streets of Berlin tonight after two men were killed, 30 seriously wounded and 149 arrested in encounters between the police and reds, trying to stage their "starvation demonstrations."

The trouble didn't begin until dusk when workers, coming from the factories, joined the masses of jobless, who were ambling through streets waiting for an opportunity to organize the Moscow ordered demonstrations.

At midnight rifle fire was exchanged between police and the Reds near Buelowplatz and Alexanderplatz, where the communists were trying to erect barricades in the streets. The number of wounded could not be learned, because the rioters carefully smashed the lamp posts in the entire neighborhood.

Two Killed, 16 Hurt.

A huge wave of communists also tried to crush a small group of police in the Leipzigerstrasse, who fired. One communist was killed and a half dozen were wounded.

At Charlottenburg a similar encounter cost one life, with three onlookers wounded. Seven policemen also were severely hurt.

The Red demonstrations throughout Germany proved calmer than expected. Toward dusk the communists began demonstrations all over the country, but in most quarters the police had the situation in hand. It is estimated that 119 of the ringleaders were arrested.

Two Slain in Halle.

HALLE, Germany, March 6.—(AP)—Two communists were killed and 16 arrested in Red manifestations today. The police fired on the demonstrators who had attacked them with clubs and stones.

Balkan "Riots" Fizzle.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Austria, March 6.—Today's communist "hunger" demonstrations passed quietly in central Europe and the Balkans. The demonstrations fizzled out with only a few broken heads.

Here in Vienna a few thousand unemployed gathered in the city square, but mounted police dispersed them. In the industrial suburbs troops were called to aid police. There were 200 arrests.

At Prague, Budapest, Belgrade and Bucharest demonstrators were easily dispersed.

Paris, Too, Is Calm.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 6.—With one thousand gendarmes in readiness, Paris' red demonstration was a tame affair with a few battles in industrial suburbs. Less than 100 were arrested. The attempts of taxi drivers to tie up traffic failed miserably.

Riots Fail in Britain.

LONDON March 6.—(AP)—"Red Thursday" proved only a pale pink in the British Isles. In Dublin there were some lively incidents as a large number of unemployed attempted to march on Leinster house where the dail sits. They were charged by the police, who used their batons and arrested eight.

Baltic States Quiet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, March 6.—The Moscow communist Internationale unemployment day passed quietly in the Baltic states. Not even police reserves were mobilized and less than 20 persons were arrested in Esthonia, Lithuania, and Latvia.

Police Club Winnipeg Rioters.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WINNIPEG, Can., March 6.—Winnipeg police battled with communists on Market square this afternoon, using clubs freely and injuring many, including Ald. Kolisnyk, a communist.

Peace and Quiet Mark Reds' Parade in Chicago Streets

Chicago communists and unemployed held a demonstration yesterday in response to orders emanating from Russia for a world wide display of strength. And last night Police Commissioner Russell said there were no arrests and no violence. The number of persons in the parade through near west side streets was about 1,200, according to Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne, who represented the prosecutor's office among the police watchers.

The advertised converging of the unemployed and the discontented at the city hall did not take place. A committee of fifteen, including three women and headed by Neis Kjar, said by the police to be an agitator, presented its petition to Mayor Thompson. The mayor, however, was not present in his city hall office and Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Breen received the delegation.

The committee's demands included "work or wages, with wages preferred, a 35 hour working week, recognition of the soviet union, and abolition of all vagrancy laws."

Mr. Breen forwarded the petition to the city council at its afternoon session, and the aldermen referred the document to the judiciary committee.

The demonstrators and an equal number of curiosity seekers assembled early at Halsted and Lake streets, where the parade was to take form. Near-by roofs and elevated station stairs were filled with watchers.

Chief of Detectives Stege arrived at the hour the parade was scheduled to start, 11:30 o'clock. Without him there would have been no parade, observers said, because C. A. Hathaway, chief communist enlistment officer, couldn't get his army into any semblance of order.

Stege took charge, formed the marchers into line, and stopped traffic long enough for them to get under way. One of the banners they bore read "Down with the Tomson Facist Administration" and the paraders sang the "Internationale."

The march ended at 31st and Halsted streets under the eyes of Stege, Ditchburne, Deputy Detective Chief Egan, and a police squad.

WORK ON OUTER LINK BRIDGE TO BEGIN IN 2 WEEKS

Preliminary construction work on the proposed $10,000,000 outer link bridge project will be started within two weeks, the Lincoln park commissioners announced yesterday after a special meeting at which the advertising of bids for work on the extension of Lake Shore drive from Ohio street south to the Chicago river was ordered. The improvement, which is being financed by the south park and Lincoln park boards, includes the erection of two bridges, one at the mouth of the river and the other across Ogden slip. The project will link the outer boulevard systems of the two park districts.

Sheldon Clark, acting president of the Lincoln park board, said contracts would be let about March 20 for the depression of Grand avenue, made necessary by the proposed extension, and the elevation of Lake Shore drive, which will be the north approach to the bridges. Construction of a drainage system for the two level drive also will be ordered. The total cost of this work is estimated at $123,000.

Bids for the construction of the substructure of the bridge across the slip will be advertised for at the next meeting, Mr. Clark said. Bids for other work on the bridges will be received soon afterward.

ASKS $500,000 HEART BALM OF RICH REALTY MAN

Former Secretary in Suit Against Albert Fuchs.

A suit for $500,000, charging breach of promise, was filed in the Superior court in Los Angeles yesterday against Albert Fuchs, 65 years old, wealthy Chicago real estate operator, by his former secretary, Miss Martha M. Gulickson, 34 years old. Miss Gulickson charged that Fuchs invited her to California on the promise to marry her, but changed his mind during the three day interval between filing notice of his intention to marry and the issuance of the license.

File Marriage Banns.

The plaintiff said that Fuchs met her at the railroad station when she arrived in Los Angeles late last month and took her directly to the marriage license bureau, where a notice of their intention to marry was filed. She said he prevailed upon her to live at his winter home in Santa Monica, Cal., and on last Monday they obtained their license. Fuchs, however, according to her story, asked her to become his common law wife and told her he would not marry her when she refused, advising her to see his attorney to arrange a settlement.

Miss Gulickson said that Fuchs introduced her as his fiance at two social affairs in Los Angeles and that a German language newspaper there had printed an announcement of their intention to marry. Fuchs left his home in Santa Monica yesterday without disclosing his destination, according to members of his household.

Mother Unaware of Suit.

At Miss Gulickson's home at 4833 Eddy street, her mother, Mrs. Ellen Gulickson, said last night that she had heard nothing about the suit although she believed her daughter was in California. She said she did not know that Miss Gulickson had any intention of marrying the real estate man.

Fuchs, who has been living in California for several years, devoting most of his time to horticulture, has been a widower for two years. Upon the death of his first wife, Mrs. Fannie Richter Fuchs, once a pianist of international fame, he announced that he would use one half of his $2,000,000 fortune as an endowment for research to end the menace of cancer, which had caused his wife's death.

FIND FOUR DEAD OF GAS IN WEST SIDE APARTMENT

Three men and a woman were found asphyxiated by gas last night in a flat in a two story building at the rear of 1450 Erie street. They had been dead about two days.

The four victims apparently were overcome by gas while asleep after a drinking party, all four of the bodies being found in two beds. In one bed were Nels C. Pierson, a laborer; Mrs. Andrina Barry, 42 years old, who had been living there with him, and a man identified as Edward Olson. They were fully clothed and covered by blankets. The third man, who was not identified, was in a bed in another room, partly clothed.

The bodies were discovered by Mrs. Frances Winter, wife of the owner of the building, who operates a small store at the front of the lot.

BROTHER OF OBERTA WIDOW PLACED ON PROBATION BY COURT

William Diggs, 6800 Sheridan road, 19 year old brother of Mrs. John (Dingbat) Oberta, was placed on probation yesterday by Judge Howard W. Hayes, before whom he was arraigned in Boys' court. His fellow defendant, John R. Dickson, 27 years old, 2410 Lunt avenue, received the same sentence.

Rogers Park police arrested the pair on Feb. 18 at Washtenaw and Lunt avenues and found both armed with pistols. Diggs said his weapon was once owned by Big Tim Murphy, first husband of Mrs. Oberta, who was slain two years ago—as Oberta was on Wednesday night—by the guns of gangland. Where Dickson got his pistol was not ascertained.

Both defendants said they were soda clerks. On the day of arrest they said they were bound for a quarry along the drainage canal for an afternoon of target shooting. Over the objection of Assistant State's Attorney Evert O. Hutchins, Judge Hayes extended each defendant probation, since no police record appeared against either.

LOSS ON PONIES WINS ALIMONY CUT FOR BROKER

Gay Life in Tropics Is Described in Court.

Gay life at Havana, Cuba, involving considerable losses at horse races, yesterday won a reduction in a temporary alimony order for Edward S. Sheridan of the Atlantic hotel, a broker. Superior Judge Gentzel granted the reduction to Sheridan, whose wife, Mrs. Edna Terreberry Sheridan of the Washington Pine hotel, 5519 Washington boulevard, is suing for divorce, charging cruelty and habitual drunkenness.

Wife Blames the Ponies.

The Sheridans were married on Aug. 23, 1917, and separated last Jan. 15. They have a daughter, Ruth, 12 years old. Mrs. Sheridan testified that her husband sold his seat on the Board of Trade last January for $19,200 and left for Florida and Havana to spend the money. She charged that he drank and played the horses. She demanded a writ of ne exeat, with a bond of $20,000, to prevent his leaving the jurisdiction of the court and $100 a week temporary alimony.

Sheridan was examined by her attorney, John E. Mollan. He admitted having sold his seat, but said that he took only $2,000 to Florida and Cuba because he had to pay debts of $14,000, and gave his mother $3,500.

"What did you do with the $2,000?" Attorney Mollan asked.

"That's the most foolish question I have ever heard," Sheridan declared. "What do fellows do in Havana? They drink beer and bet on horses. Have a good time."

"You made $500 on one race," the attorney put in.

Loses Winnings and More.

"Let me see," Sheridan said. "I made $558, to be exact. That was on a Tuesday. I bet $900 on a horse in the next race that couldn't even walk."

Sheridan volunteered to give his wife alimony of $50 a month. Judge Gentzel suggested a compromise, ordering him to pay temporary alimony of $50 a week and set the bond on the writ of ne exeat at $5,000. The custody of the child was given temporarily to the mother.

OBERTA SLAYING LAID TO $5,000 WHISKY DISPUTE

McErlane and Saltis in Deal, Police Assert.

result of Oberta's death lends color to this story.

Oberta, Felix Kucharski, 4811 South Honore street, the regular Snow-Barrett candidate for committeeman, and Hugh Norris were the three leading Republican candidates. Oberta slipped in the name of Alex Kucharski on the ballot to confuse the Kucharski vote. Judge Lindsay yesterday ordered Alex Kucharski's name removed Norris withdrew. Oberta's death leaves Felix Kucharski the sole candidate with a chance.

Chief Deputy Coroner Henry Porsche reported that two men hurried into the coroner's office yesterday and asked for a certificate showing Oberta's death. They said they represented Kucharski and hoped to keep Oberta's name from being printed on the ballots. They were told to return, but did not.

Had Eye on Labor Rackets.

Again, Oberta had been contemplating the labor racket, police learned. In this connection, it was stated by observers that gangsters have exerted such heavy pressure in an endeavor to dominate labor unions that open warfare is imminent.

Capone gangsters attempted to take part in the building trades council recently, it was learned, and actually gained some control in the hodcarriers' and teamsters' unions. Labor officials are planning to fight these moves with force, if necessary, they intimated.

A search for William Neimoth, gunman, said to be in the employ of McErlane, as one of Oberta's slayers, was under way last night. An anonymous telephone call said that Neimoth, wounded, was in a house at 6951 South Campbell avenue. Detectives found no one there, but found a doctor's card which they intended to trace.

May Have Shot Assailant.

This information coincided with the belief that Oberta wounded one of his assailants before he was killed. Oberta, riding in the front seat with a shotgun pressed to his head, made a desperate attempt to save himself by jerking a gun from a sleeve holster and succeeded in firing three shots before he slumped in his seat with a charge of lead in his head, neck, and back.

Only two of the three bullets fired by Oberta were found, and this led to the belief that he wounded one of the killers.

Plans Elaborate Funeral.

Plans were laid by Mrs. Florence Oberta, the widow, last night for an elaborate funeral, such as she staged for her first husband, Big Tim Murphy, of labor racket fame.

An attempt will be made to have the body buried with military honors, inasmuch as Oberta was an honorary member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The widow's notice last night also cited Oberta's membership in the Bit and Bridle club, Polish National alliance, and Stockyards Civic and Business Men's club.

The body will lie at the residence at 5544 South Richmond street until next Tuesday, when it will be taken to Sacred Heart church, 46th and Lincoln streets, for services. Interment will be at Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Widow Witness at Inquest.

The inquest at the county morgue provided thrills for the spectators and the jury of six business men, headed by Burt A. Massee, when Mrs. Oberta took the stand and testified with composure.

Her husband left his home at 10 a. m., the widow said. He went to the city hall, where he loitered most of the day. He called his home at 1 o'clock, 5:30 o'clock, and 6:30 o'clock. Each time he was gay and talked about commonplace subjects, she said.

At 8 o'clock he was in his real estate office at 47th and Robey streets. He called her from there and made an appointment to meet her at the office at 11 o'clock, she said. He declared he was leaving to attend a meeting of precinct captains at 37th and Wallace streets.

She Learns of Death.

At 11 o'clock Mrs. Oberta drove her car to the office where she awaited her husband. She had been to Lenten services at Our Lady of Sorrows church, she said. After waiting an hour she went home.

"Did you hear what happened to Johnny?" her brother, Shea, asked her.

"Arrested?" she inquired calmly, according to her own testimony.

"Worse," was the answer. And Mrs. Oberta, a widow twice in two years as the result of gangland murders, observed: "Shot, then."

"I went to the county morgue to identify him," said the rather coldly handsome woman, who was several years older than Oberta.

"He was a lovely husband," she added. "Always doing something nice for some one. He was like Mr. Murphy that way. They were close friends, you know, and Johnny was a pallbearer at Tim's funeral.

"He was such a religious man. [Oberta was carrying a rosary when killed.] I'm very religious, too."

Her gentle sorrow changed to something approaching anger when she learned that $350 Oberta was carrying had been taken from his clothing.

"That was a cheap thing to do," she declared with irritation. "Johnny always carried several hundred dollars. So did Tim.

"Yes, I guess I've had more love and better husbands than most women."

Voice of Mother-in-Law Is Stilled, but Pencil Works

A brawny Gael, James Murphy by name, was hailed before Judge Burke in Des Plaines street court yesterday, charged with harassing his stepmother, Mrs. Florence Murphy, who recently became his mother-in-law also.

It was Murphy's second court appearance in six months. On the previous occasion it was charged that he had returned home after a spree, created commotion in his father's and stepmother's house at 3615 Jackson boulevard, and had tossed into the street six policemen who arrived singly to arrest him.

Murphy is a truck driver, 31 years old, and red headed. By the united efforts of the ejected six and two additional policemen he was subdued, jailed, and dragged into court. The judge placed him under probation, after a tirade from Mrs. Murphy, his stepmother-mother-in-law.

Mrs. Murphy's Charges.

When the case was called yesterday Mrs. Murphy was speechless. At a query from the judge as to her complaint she produced a pad and pencil. She handed up to the bench the following note:

"I've worn out my throat correcting this fellow. I can't even speak in a whisper." Judge Burke signified that a bill of particulars in writing would be acceptable. Mrs. Murphy began to write.

"In the first place," she wrote, "James drinks too much. In the second place, he shows no respect for his father or myself. Thirdly, he married my daughter, Maude, just to spite me for marrying his father."

Mrs. Murphy poised her pencil at the paragraph, pursed her lips a moment, then continued:

"My mother died a month ago. This rascal would not allow Maude to remain overnight at her grandmother's home. It was disgraceful. He abuses her something terrible."

Version of Mr. Murphy.

Judge Burke read the document, had it entered in the record, and then interrogated the defendant.

"It's a fact that she can't speak any more, your honor," Murphy conceded. "But she brought it on herself with her nagging. I can't say I'm sympathetic, because it's the only period of peace I've had since she became my stepmother."

The judge also questioned Maude, a dark haired girl of 20 years. He asked whether James had abused her.

"Not a bit, your honor," said the younger Mrs. Murphy. "James is a grand man. He hasn't had a drink in four months. Since we moved away from mother a few days ago he hasn't said a cross word to me."

Judge Burke sighed, and dismissed the case.

Dies of Auto Gas as He Attempts to Repair Car

Charles Wittgren, 51 years old, an inspector for the Commonwealth Edison company, was asphyxiated by carbon monoxide gas yesterday while repairing his automobile in a small garage in the rear of his home, 7836 Indiana avenue. His wife, Augusta, found the body under the car.

CHICAGO RESCUE CRUSADE PASSES 74 MILLION GOAL

Governments Will Get Cash Till July 1.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Sufficient money has been subscribed to keep the local governments operating until July 1. The goal of $74,000,000 was reached at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. By 5 o'clock an additional $245,200 had been pledged. Final reports indicated that still more will be subscribed, and when all the twenty-five committees and their 4,000 workers are heard from it is expected that the oversubscription will approach $1,000,000. The total pledged during the day was $4,772,500.

The $74,245,200 is more than the city, county, schools, and sanitary district have said they need to function for the next four months and pay the salary rolls of the last two months.

Clarke Praised by Strawn.

The ends a campaign which some bankers were reported to believe would fail by a margin of $20,000,000. Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Trust company, who conducted the Liberty Loan drives during the war, was the leader of the rescue campaign in the last thirteen days of intensive effort.

"Mr. Clarke is a citizen of great value to Chicago," said Silas H. Strawn of the citizens' committee last night. "He did a wonderful job and deserves the thanks of the city."

In addition to his own efforts, Mr. Clarke paid the cost of the campaign and the Central Trust company donated headquarters space and all clerical help.

Workers Are Complimented.

"It is putting it mildly to say that we are gratified with the accomplishment in so short a time," said Mr. Clarke. "The heads of the 25 trade committees, with their lieutenants and workers, deserve the full appreciation of the people of Chicago for their loyal and unselfish efforts. And there is a big compliment for the many far sighted business concerns and individuals of the community for their generous and timely response.

"While the job is over and the committee has disbanded, campaign headquarters at 208 South La Salle street will be open tomorrow to receive belated subscriptions, verbal reports on which have been received."

Field's Subscribes $400,000.

Among the subscriptions of the day was one of $400,000 from Marshall Field & Co. This was in addition to $600,000 which the company had already invested in tax anticipation warrants. The estate of Marshall Field made an added subscription of $350,000.

The Chicago office of the Guaranty Company of New York came forward with $300,000. The Belt Railway company subscribed $250,000, the Chicago and Alton $110,000, the estate of Leander McCormick $100,000, and the Ledyard Realty Trust $50,000. The Standard Office company also signed up for $50,000. Other subscriptions yesterday ranged from $100 to $25,000.

Fund Raised by Citizens.

Campaign observers pointed out that the rescue fund to operate the governments and insure salary payments to 43,000 public employes was raised by private citizens. With two exceptions, they said, public officials and politicians made no subscriptions.

The city council adopted a resolution which "extends the thanks of the city of Chicago and its people to the directors of the Cook County Taxpayers' Trust and to all of the public spirited individuals, firms and corporations who have subscribed for the purpose of helping Chicago out of its temporary financial embarrassment, to the end that the credit and financial prestige of the city may be speedily restored to the position they have heretofore enjoyed."

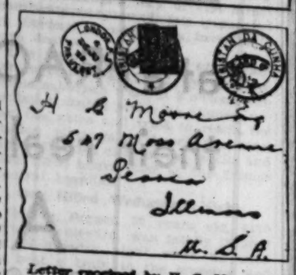
From Tristan da Cunha, South Atlantic



Letter received by H. G. Moore, 547 Moss avenue, Peoria, Ill.:

Tristan da Cunha is the largest of a group of three small islands in the South Atlantic, named after a Portuguese admiral who discovered them in 1506. It has been called "the loneliest populated spot in the world," and being off the regular trade routes is seldom visited by a ship. St. Helena is 1,320 miles north, Cape Town 1,400 miles east, Buenos Aires 2,500 miles west, and the south pole 3,300 miles south. The islands belong to Great Britain, and during Napoleon's exile in St. Helena an English garrison was maintained there. There are about 150 inhabitants on the island, including English, Scotch, Irish, Americans, and Italians.

BREEN PROFFERS AID IN SEARCH FOR CITY GRAFT

But Prosecutors Fail to Get Records.

First Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Breen wants to help the state's attorney's office ferret out the law violators, if there be any, in the city hall. He made this statement yesterday morning to Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court when a petition for a duces tecum subpoena calling for the records of the department of public works was presented by Assistant State's Attorneys Homer Dodge and Harold Keele.

All the state's attorney has to do is indicate what records he wants and photostatic copies will be furnished, Attorney Breen informed the judge, who continued the hearing on the petition until March 11. Taking Breen's statements in court at face value, two assistant prosecutors went to the city hall to look over the records so that they might indicate which ones will be material to the investigation.

Fail to See Records.

"We did not get the records nor were we allowed to look at them," said Prosecutor Dodge after his helpers had returned to the Criminal court building.

"It might look like Breen is not so anxious as he would have people believe from his statements. If we are not allowed to inspect the records how can we indicate which ones will be material to our investigation?"

Hunt Law Violations.

Breen and Attorney Edward C. Higgins appeared in court to represent Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, who is named in the petition for the subpoena. The petition stated that the records of the department are sought because "they may have a direct bearing on the commission of a law violation." The nature of the violation was not cited although it is understood the prosecutors are in search of payroll padding and civil service law evasions through 60 day appointees. The prosecutor intends, it is reported, to systematically investigate each city hall department.

"I am willing to coöperate with the state's attorney's office," said Breen. "If the investigators will tell me just what records they want I will see that they are supplied with photostatic copies without a subpoena. If any crime has been committed I want to know about it."

It was because of this statement the hearing was continued with the understanding that a subpoena may not be necessary.

CRIMINAL COURT.

LOFTUS FOUND GUILTY IN AUTO THEFT RING CASE

John W. Loftus, former police lieutenant, who served 23 years on the Chicago force, was found guilty by a jury in Federal Judge Woodward's court yesterday of violation of the Dyer act. He was convicted on charges of conspiracy and on two counts of possessing stolen cars. A motion for a new trial will be ruled on next Wednesday.

Convicted with him was Albert Hoffman, a Cincinnati bond salesman, who was charged with conspiracy and possession of a stolen car. The conspiracy convictions each carry a maximum penalty of two years in the penitentiary and $10,000 fine. The possession charges are punishable with sentences of five years and a $5,000 fine each.

Ted and Leo Baldwin, alleged leaders of an extensive auto theft ring which stole more than 200 cars in 1927 and 1928, were sentenced to serve nine years in Leavenworth penitentiary. The sentences are to run concurrently with seven year terms imposed in Indiana a year ago. The Baldwins pleaded guilty to conspiracy and possession of stolen automobiles.

AGENT MOGLUND SUED ON CHARGE OF LOVE THEFT

$200,000 Asked of Dry Spy in Two Actions.

Prohibition Agent Willard Moglund, whose stormy career in Chicago led to his transfer last November to Buffalo, N. Y., in the regions where Jacob Hanson was killed by dry law enforcers, was yesterday named defendant in two $100,000 damage suits in the Superior court by Peter J. Anzalone, 38 years old, an automobile mechanic. The first suit asks damages for false arrest and the second is for alienating the affections of Anzalone's former wife, Mrs. Comelia Anzalone, now married to Moglund.

On May 6, 1929, Moglund swung his pistol on Anzalone's head and threw him in jail because Anzalone objected to his attentions to his wife. The assault took place in the La Salle street station where Anzalone found the agent after he had learned, on his return from a visit to Italy, that his wife was keeping company with an enforcer who was providing her with a gay time at night clubs.

Disarmed by Policeman.

Anzalone berated Moglund as a wife stealer. Moglund swung with his right fist and missed. Anzalone countered with a blow to the agent's chin which knocked him down. Moglund came up with a pistol and rapped the husband across the head. A railroad policeman stopped the fray by disarming Moglund, but released him when the latter displayed his star. Anzalone was locked up in the detective bureau for fifteen hours without being booked. He was released—through the intervention of Deputy Commissioner Stege.

Moglund was suspended for 60 days. On his first day back on the job he searched a restaurant and beat up John Randecker, 60 year old Spanish war veteran, the proprietor, at 914 Fulton street. Next the agent was sued for $25,000 by two women who alleged he was driving while intoxicated and smashed into their car, injuring them severely and holding them virtually prisoners until he could make satisfactory arrangements with the police.

Transferred to Buffalo.

Shortly after the last episode Moglund was transferred to Buffalo.

In the suit for alienation of affections Anzalone's attorney, Theodore Sharf, also names Mrs. Anna Lewis, mother of the former Mrs. Anzalone and the present Mrs. Moglund, and Moglund's mother as defendants. The two women aided Moglund in alienating the former wife's affection, it is charged.

Service was obtained on Moglund as he appeared at the federal building to testify in a dry law case.

Lawyer Blames It on Wet Propaganda.

bition. The general assumption that Catholics oppose prohibition is false, he declared. The witness struck his first snag when he quoted the Rt. Rev. M. F. Foley of St. Paul's church, Baltimore, as saying prohibition is "an experiment more noble than that begun at Concord and ended at Yorktown."

Chairman Graham produced a letter from the Rev. Charles D. McShane of Pittsburgh, former head of the Catholic Total Abstinence society, stating that he had disbanded his organization because the Catholic hierarchy frowned on it.

Representative La Guardia asked Callahan the membership of his own organization. The witness said it has 318 members.

Mr. Callahan ran into trouble again when he set forth census bureau figures showing that under 11 years of prohibition deaths from cirrhosis of the liver have decreased 4.7 for each 100,000 population, and from Bright's disease, 13.8 per cent, declaring that these decreases disproved the charge that the alcoholic death rate had mounted during the dry era.

"With undisputed statistics," he declared, "I have shown where prohibitionists have saved 100,000 lives—more than were lost in action in the world war."

Statistics Are Disputed.

But his statistics were not undisputed. Representative G. R. Stobbs [Rep., Mass.], pointed out that, despite the average improvement, the increase in alcoholic deaths steadily has gone up. This Mr. Callahan admitted.

Representative Emanuel Celler [Dem., N. Y.], showed that the figures covered only 44 states and did not include deaths from wood and poisoned alcohol. This also, the witness admitted. Celler then declared that in New York and some other states the rate is higher than before prohibition, and, for the third time, the witness stood corrected, although he blamed the jump in those states to repeal of their state prohibition laws.

"Do you know that a statement from the Metropolitan Life Insurance company shows a 600 per cent increase in alcoholic deaths from 1920 to 1929?" Celler demanded.

Callahan replied that "it is obvious that the Metropolitan company is insuring booze fighters and paying the penalty."

Society Woman Testifies.

The burden of the testimony of Mrs. Strawbridge was that she is attempting to organize society women in several easterr cities to put an end to liquor serving at social affairs.

Both Representative Burtness and Mr. Taber took issue with the charge made by Pierce Blewett of Jamestown, N. D., a wet witness three weeks ago, that "prohibition has ruined farming."

An attempt to bomb the Little club, a recently opened cabaret at 945 North State street, miscarried last night because of a defective fuse.

A slight explosion shortly before midnight brought Police Sergeant Joseph Flynn and his detective bureau squad to the club. In an alley outside the kitchen of the cabaret the squad men found the bomb, consisting of five sticks of dynamite, a percussion cap, and a fuse, which had burned down to within an inch of the cap.

The bomb lay hidden under a newspaper on which black powder had been sprinkled. Police believe the small explosion was caused by ignition of the heap of black powder.

Four couples and the club manager, Harry McKelvey, were in the cabaret. Leon Schweitzer, owner of the club, told the police he knew of no motive for a bomb attack.

Shot by Lake Coast Guard; Cargo of Liquor Seized

Lorain, O., March 7.—(AP)—A man who said he was Fred Hentrie, Detroit, probably was fatally wounded and an unidentified companion was captured by coast guardsmen who fired on an armor plated tug midway between Lorain and Cleveland early today. The tug carried a cargo of 1,000 cases of liquor, the guardsmen said.

Fire Damages South Side Garage and Fifty Trucks

A 4-11 fire in the garage of the McCarthy Bros.' Trucking company, a single story brick structure at 5643 South State street, wrecked the interior of the building and damaged nearly 50 trucks early this morning. Fire Marshal Corrigan estimated the loss at $150,000 and declared he would recommend an investigation by Fire Attorney Scott Hogan. An attendant was killed in a fire in the same building a year ago.

WOUNDED ROBBER IDENTIFIED.

James Riley, 24 years old, one of two robbers who were shot by Policeman Herman Meyers when they kidnaped him in his own automobile several weeks ago, was identified yesterday as Dick McNees, who is wanted in Bowling Green, Ky., on a robbery charge.

Arrival of Stork Delays Departure of Fast Train

The Interstate express, fast New York Central train from New York to Chicago, was delayed eleven minutes at Toledo yesterday while a passenger, Mrs. Nikolai Ciovica, 3812 Drummond street, Indiana Harbor, Ind., gave birth to a boy. A Toledo physician was called and the train did not proceed until mother and son had been taken from the coach to a Toledo hospital in an ambulance.

2 DIE AS AUTO HITS DITCH ON REUNION TOUR

The bodies of James W. Gardiner, 31 years old, 1055 Granville avenue, and his wife, Mrs. Nina Gardiner, 23, were found in their automobile, buried in mud and water, on the side of the Memphis-Bristol highway eight miles south of Stanton, Tenn., yesterday. The car had plunged over the embankment when the steering wheel broke at 10 o'clock Wednesday night, authorities at Stanton believe, because Mrs. Gardiner's watch stopped at that hour.

Make Efforts to Escape.

From the position of the bodies it was believed that both had made futile attempts to free themselves as the car went over the embankment. The bodies were hanging over the sides of the doors. The discovery of the accident was made by William A. Williamson of Mason, Tenn., who saw the tail light of the car burning in the ditch.

Mrs. Gardiner was secretary to John H. Passmore, clerk of the Criminal court. She was making the trip with her husband because they had been reconciled recently after she, it was alleged, stabbed him in the neck on Jan. 17 during a quarrel which arose when he came home intoxicated. They had been married two years. Gardiner was an engineer for the sanitary district.

Three deaths in Cook county yesterday raised the 1930 motor toll to 161. The victims:

Albert Potokar, 26 years old, 8149 Ogden avenue, Lyons. Killed last night when the automobile he was driving collided with another car at 47th street and Lawndale avenue, in Lyons. W. K. Crawford, 30 years old, of Galesburg, the driver of the other car, escaped with bruises. He was held.

Mrs. Bertha Brown, 60 years old, 945 Crescent place. Died in the American hospital of injuries received on Feb. 21 when she was struck by an automobile at Sheridan road and Crescent place. The driver, Leon Fisher, 4901 North St. Louis avenue, was not held.

William Sloan, 32 years old, 59 West 33d street. Died in St. Luke's hospital of injuries received on Feb. 27 when he was hurled against the side of a State street car in which he was riding when it collided with a truck at 15th street.

When the automobile in which he was riding collided with a motor bus in Detroit, Mich., Carol Gusche, 27 years old, of Waukegan, Ill., was fatally injured. His companion, Dorsey S. Ford, with whom he was visiting in Detroit, was seriously injured.

Demand Elevation of I. C. Tracks as Two Are Killed

The deaths of two men who were struck by trains within twelve hours at the Bryn Mawr suburban station of the Illinois Central railroad, 71st street and Jeffery avenue, yesterday brought a protest from business men of the district and a renewal of the demand that the tracks be elevated along 71st street and Exchange avenue. A coroner's jury of 71st street merchants was immediately impaneled by Coroner Bundesen to investigate both deaths.

Gus Levy, 76 years old, 6728 Crandon avenue, was killed by an eastbound suburban train at 8 o'clock yesterday morning when he slipped under the gates and tried to reach the station platform to board the cars. He was hurled clear of the tracks and died three hours later at the Illinois Central hospital.

One Killed Wednesday Night.

George Berger, 30 years old, 4170 Drexel boulevard, was fatally injured on Wednesday night when he tried to beat a train to the crossing and was crushed beneath the trucks of a car. He died while being taken to the Jackson Park hospital.

Last night Attorney Daniel H. Lewis, a resident of the district, asked cooperation from other residents in demanding the passage of an ordinance now pending in the city council which would require the railroad to elevate its tracks from Stony Island avenue to Exchange avenue in 71st street, and along Exchange avenue to 79th street. He made this plea in an address before the Jeffery Highlands Improvement association meeting at 8312 Paxton avenue.

Three Killed Since Dec. 10.

Mr. Lewis said that three men have been killed by trains at the Bryn Mawr station since Dec. 10. "Residents of this section have besieged the city council for years asking track elevation," he said. "The matter has been considered by the aldermen, subcommittees have been appointed, and inspections made, but nothing has been done.

"Of course, trains have the right of way. And in most of these accidents the victims are to blame. They were careless or they were reckless. That sounds like justice—perhaps it is. But we are fighting to save human lives that are doomed if grade crossings on busy streets of the district are not removed. Adults won't learn that reckless haste is dangerous, and children can't."

TAFT HOLDS OWN; TAKES MORE FOOD

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(AP)—William Howard Taft continued today to hold his own against the complications of diseases that for more than a month have kept his life in the balance.

Still gravely ill, Mr. Taft was able to take more nourishment and to greet briefly those who entered the room.

Identify Body of Woman Found in Lake at Evanston

A body taken from the lake at the foot of Dempster street, Evanston, on Wednesday was identified yesterday as that of Mrs. W. R. Moore, 55 years old. She had been a guest for the last month at the North Shore hotel, Evanston, and at times had appeared irrational, according to the hotel manager, Fred Kihm. She slipped out a rear door of the hotel on Tuesday as a policewoman waited in the lobby to question her concerning a worthless check.

APPROVE BOND SCHEDULE FOR GIRL CASHIER

Miss Laverne D. Lindgren, cashier of the defunct People's State bank of Maywood, who was indicted recently with Elmer P. Langguth, the bank president, for juggling of the institution's funds, may now come into the Criminal court at her leisure and be assured of walking right out again on bond. The state's attorney's office yesterday notified her attorney that the property submitted for her bond was acceptable as surety for the $50,000 bail.

Sufficient property has not yet been submitted for Langguth's bond. He is reported in a sanitarium.

Anthony Busscher, president of the Proviso State bank of Maywood, was appointed receiver for the People's bank yesterday and will take charge of its property today. He will start immediately to complete the audit of the bank's accounts to determine definitely the amount of the shortage, which had been estimated at $173,000. The appointment of the receiver was made by the state auditor's department and met with the approval of a depositors' committee.

Judge Directs Hodgkins' Acquittal in Slander Case

Superior Judge Harry C. Stuttle yesterday instructed a jury to return a verdict of not guilty in the $200,000 slander suit brought by Mrs. Edna Hodgkins Corpers of the Sheridan Plaza hotel against her nephew, William Hodgkins, president of the Brownell Improvement company, who lives at 1430 Lake Shore drive. Mrs. Corpers charged that her nephew slandered her on Oct. 22, 1928, in the presence of her husband, Michael Corpers, and Edward Tomenendale, secretary of the company, in Hodgkins' office.

Tomenendale, called as a witness, said he did not hear Hodgkins make the statement attributed to him by Mrs. Corpers. Mrs. Corpers claims to be the adopted daughter of the late Col. Jefferson Hodgkins, pioneer Chicagoan.

PARIS AFTER BIG SUBS

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 6.—The French again gummed up the works of the naval conference today, when the experts' subcommittee met to continue its discussion of the unitary tonnage of submarines, and unless Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and the new French delegation, which arrived tonight and immediately got in touch with Prime Minister MacDonald, prove more amenable, a long struggle looms over this detail.

At the opening session this afternoon America and Great Britain exposed their hands. They declared the maximum for a submarine unit should not exceed 1,800 tons. The Japanese firmly declared they needed 2,000 ton undersea boats for their defensive operations, and, after some discussion, the Americans and British agreed to accept that figure. The Italians also accepted with the proviso that all submarines stay in one category.

French Ask Two Classes.

The meaning of the Italian proviso became apparent immediately with the French laying their proposals on the table, stating submarines should be divided into two classes, those under 2,000 tons and those over. The French demanded the right to have a certain number of boats up to 3,000 tons. They have already three such boats and are said to be contemplating building five more, which they declare they need to defend Mediterranean communications.

The other powers believe a 2,000 ton boat is ample for this purpose, and 3,000 tonners can only be designed for ocean commerce raiding, and hence, they put up a stiff resistance. The French explained these boats should be numbered in their category and that the number be limited, as in the case of cruisers and battleships, but that their total be included in the global tonnage figure allotted the submarine class as a whole.

At the end of a two hour discussion no agreement was in sight and the committee adjourned. Nothing was said about the minimum size allowed, but it is learned that the British and Americans do not care how small submarines are built and regard 600 tonners as the smallest useful boat.

Adjourn Until Today.

The question of gunning submarines remained undiscussed. The question now must be referred back to the first committee tomorrow afternoon with the full French delegation in attendance. It is hoped that by then M. Briand may be found open to argument on the submarine question.

Great Britain is saving more than $20,000,000 this year by reason of the conference, according to naval estimates issued today.

The estimates were $20,052,360 less than last year for a total of $251,451,540. In a memorandum accompanying the estimates A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, says this substantial cut was due chiefly to reductions the government felt justified in making on the shipbuilding program of 1928 and 1929 in view of the changed international situation.

Halt Two Big Cruisers.

In reciting these economies he included cancellations in the 1928 program of two 10,000 ton eight inch gun cruisers, two submarines, one submarine depot ship, and in the 1929 program one 10,000 tonner, one smaller cruiser, four destroyers, three submarines, two sloops, and one net layer, plus a reduction of 3,000 in the navy's personnel.

Work is to be continued on the Singapore base because it is in such a state that no economy would be effected now by suspending operations.

LESS CANADA LIQUOR IS CROSSING BORDER, LOWMAN REPORT SAYS

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(AP)—A decrease of more than 50 per cent in the amount of liquor exported from Canada to the United States in December and January, as compared to the same months a year previous, was indicated in figures made public today by Assistant Secretary Lowman.

Lowman's statement showed a decrease of exports to the United States from 402,811 gallons in December, 1928, to 239,517 in the same month last year, while there was a decrease from 410,852 gallons in January last year to 238,504 in that month this year.

"A considerable percentage of the alcoholic beverages leaving Canada, for the United States, were seized by customs and the coast guard, and a further quantity was diverted back into Canada," Lowman said.

SUICIDE NOTE ASSERTS QUACK RUINED LIFE

An unidentified man of middle age hanged himself in a shack near the Navy pier on Wednesday. A penciled not found by police in a pocket of his shabby coat declared the attentions of an unnamed quack dentist had ruined the writer's life and driven him to suicide.

"I was troubled with toothache," the note began. "I went to a dentist who placed me under the influence of ether and pulled all my upper teeth. Then he made me a set of false teeth, for which he charged me heavily.

"The false teeth did not fit. Gangrene started in my mouth and poisoned my system. I went to another dentist, a reliable man, who told me the quack had extracted my teeth merely for an excuse to overcharge me for false ones.

"While ill I lost my job, my money, my friends, and, worst of all, my health. I had a notion to jump in the lake, but the water looked terribly black and cold. Now I am at the end of my rope. Please don't try to find out who I am and please warn the public to beware of quacks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 6.—News of the tragic death of Mrs. Pearl Larkin Demaret, one of Secretary of State Stimson's secretaries, stunned members of the American naval party today. Mrs. Demaret was killed when she fell 75 feet from a window on the sixth floor in the Mayfair hotel early this morning. She had planned to sail for home today. Her husband and year old son live in Washington. She had not enjoyed good health recently. It is believed she fell when she went to the window to overcome a dizzy spell. Last night members of the naval party presented her with farewell presents and Mrs. Stimson sent a bouquet.

PLEADS FOR U. S. TO STAND FIRM ON WORLD COURT

Pepper Assails Proposed Change by Senate.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—Opposition to the proposed modification of American reservations to the world court protocol took definite form tonight.

Former Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania, in a radio address over a coast to coast network, urged voters to ask their senators to insist upon the original senate reservations, "and to accept no imported substitutes."

Mr. Pepper's address was regarded as charting the course which world court opponents would follow in the prospective fight over senate approval of the modifications in the reservations as proposed by other nations and which are to be submitted to the senate by President Hoover with a favorable recommendation either late in the present session or next winter.

Special importance attaches to Mr. Pepper's presentation of the issue as he was one of the outstanding figures in the senate contest at the time of approval of the world court protocol with reservations.

Takes Washington as Text.

Talking on "George Washington's Views and Their Value in Present Day Problems," in one of a series of patriotic broadcasts under the auspices of the D. A. R., Mr. Pepper used extracts from the Washington farewell address in supporting his views on the world court.

"I earnestly assert," said Mr. Pepper, "that if we are going to adhere to the world court we must do so only upon the condition already dictated by the senate, a condition which conforms to Washington's policy of peace and freedom, for, by it, we assert the gladness of the United States to coöperate in all honorable efforts to substitute peaceful settlements for the arbitriment of war, but proclaim our fixed determination to avoid those entanglements against which the father of his country so wisely warned us.

"We are told that if we adhere to the court we may at any time withdraw our adherence and go home without being called quitters. This kind of an assurance has no value. Even if no such assurance is given, the United States or any other party to a treaty might denounce it and withdraw at will.

"Look Before You Leap."

"If we adhere to the world court let it be wholeheartedly and upon such terms as will make it possible to continue our adherence. The time to look is before you leap and the time to reserve your rights is before you sign on the dotted line.

"Ask yourself 'what would Washington have done when confronted with a demand for his signature?' If you seriously put this question to yourself, the first thing that you will do is to write your senator and urge him to support the senate resolution and to accept no imported substitutes."

Summarizing the effect of the senate reservation which is chiefly involved in controversy, Mr. Pepper said that the senate four years ago said to the other nations: "The United States will be glad to join you in supporting the permanent court of international justice insofar as it is a court; but we want it clearly understood that after we have adhered, the court is to give no advice to the league of nations without our consent in any matter in which the United States has or claims an interest."

"I was in the senate at that time," continued Mr. Pepper. "I thought then, as I think now, that the hold which the league has on the court is a terrible handicap to the court and ought to be relaxed. But I am a lawyer and a man of peace. I believe in the judicial settlement of international disputes and, since it is not now practicable to cut the tie between court and league, I was willing to vote for adherence upon the protective condition which I have specified.

"When the other nations said: 'We won't accept your condition,' I thought to myself, 'Well, we have done our duty. If they don't want us on these terms, they will have to get along without us.' When, after four years, I heard it said, 'The other nations have accepted the senate conditions,' I was mildly astonished; because the old world diplomats are not apt to yield.

"Joker in Every Paragraph."

"However, I studied carefully and with an open mind the complicated and obscure documents offered us as the equivalent of the cleancut senate provision, and when I had finished, I said to myself, 'There is a joker in every paragraph. This so-called equivalent fails to give us the protection upon which we insist. It is a subtle attempt to tie us up to the league of nations through the court. It is once more the wooden horse—and I decline to be deceived.'

"I am aware that in saying this I differ from some of our ablest and most patriotic public men. To express disagreement with many of one's own friends is not an agreeable duty. This, however, is a subject upon which I feel qualified to speak with the authority of long and careful analysis and when the safety of the United States is involved party ties and personal friendships must be ignored."

CLASS AT AMHERST ON PROBATION AFTER YOUTHS ARE BURNED

Amherst, Mass., March 6.—(AP)—The entire sophomore class of Amherst college was today deprived of all cuts and placed on scholastic probation for the remainder of the college year as the result of the freshman-sophomore cap burning clash on Feb. 22, during which five freshmen were burned by the throwing of kerosene, suffering facial and body injuries.

The penalty was decreed by the administrative committee of the faculty.

INSISTS DENEEN ADMITS COURT IS TIED TO LEAGUE

Mrs. McCormick Assails Senator at Ottawa.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ottawa, Ill., March 6.—[Special.]—Ruth Hanna McCormick declared tonight that her arguments against the world court as the "back door" of the league of nations have been confirmed by Senator Charles S. Deneen in his campaign speeches this week defending the world court, for which he cast a vote in the senate in 1926.

Point by point Mrs. McCormick read to an audience in the Illinois theater a series of excerpts from a stenographic copy of Mr. Deneen's opening speech Monday at Marshall. The passages were cited as admissions of her main charges—that the world court is created by the league, its judges are picked by the league, the league pays the judges and may ask for opinions, and that the court is not an instrument of peace but of foreign entanglements.

Mrs. McCormick reiterated her argument that America might better use the Hague tribunal than the league court. Her reply to Mr. Deneen's address ushers the campaign for the Republican senatorship nomination into its controversial stages, with the world court as the outstanding issue.

Arguments Confirmed.

"It is interesting and pleasing and perhaps significant," said Mrs. McCormick, "to discover that each and every one of the arguments which I have made against our adherence to the court is fully confirmed by the statements of my opponent."

"Party regularity is not involved," said Mrs. McCormick, taking up the underlying note of Senator Deneen's defense of the court.

"But if it were," she added, "no party obligation should be as sacred to us as American citizens as the obligation to follow our consciences in the solution of all problems relating as vitally as this court question does to the future welfare of our country."

In opening Mrs. McCormick remarked that Mr. Deneen says the league court is not an issue, but in his opening speech at Marshall "he discussed it to the extent of 8,000 words."

Quotes Deneen Address.

"The address made at Marshall was not the same address, however, which he sent in advance to the press throughout Illinois," Mrs. McCormick said.

"Believing that what he said at Marshall is more properly a subject of discussion than what he anticipated he would say when he released his advance text of the speech to the newspapers, I am going to quote from an authentic stenographic report of the Marshall address.

"First, let us see what he said about the creation of the world court. I am now quoting from his speech at Marshall: 'There was no reference to the world court in that old league of nations pact except in one place. That was Article 14, which has been discussed a good deal, and the substance of that was that those who belonged to the league of nations instruct their council, which would be the senate in the United States, to request a commission, the nations to form a commission of a number of judges who had studied international law and report to the league of nations whether or not they could frame a statute or constitution for a world court that would be acceptable to the nations.'

Judicial Organ of League.

"My opponent then went on to say that the commission succeeded in framing a statute. He mentions the fact that Mr. Elihu Root, the American jurist, former cabinet officer and senator, was a member of that commission. He does not mention the fact, however, that Mr. Root said, after he was invited to join the commission:

"'We cannot accept the invitation of the council and recommend a plan for a court which is not going to form a part of the system of the league of nations.'

"He does not refer to the fact that the official reporter of the committee of jurists also declared:

"'This court is to be the judicial organ of the league of nations and can only be created within the league.'

"So much for the point as to whether the league created the court, and I will leave it to this audience to judge as to whether my distinguished opponent has not confirmed my assertion that the league created the court and that the court is an integral part of the league."

Tomorrow night Mrs. McCormick speaks at Waukegan, and on Saturday night she takes to the air over WJJD between 7:15 and 7:30 o'clock.

CHICAGO TAXPAYERS FACE PENALTIES FOR DELAY IN 1929 BILLS

Only a special session of the legislature can save the county's $40,000 taxpayers from paying the 1 per cent a month delinquent payment penalty on 1929 tax bills after May 1. Such a penalty is required by the state law. The 1929 tax bills should have been out normally in time for collection by May 1, but due to the delay caused by the reassessment the 1928 bills are not yet in the mail.

This was the consensus at a meeting of the board of assessors with county officials and civic leaders yesterday. The possibility that the 1929 tax bills may not be out until Jan. 1, 1931, was discussed. In that case the penalty will be 3 per cent on all bills.

The legislature removed the penalty on 1928 bills, but failed to provide relief in the matter of 1929 bills. No penalty will be placed against 1928 bills until thirty days after the bills are out. The same provision should be made for 1929 bills, the officials said.

SENTENCES GUN TOTER TO YEAR; FREES TEXAN

Edward Kmiatek, gun toter, was given the maximum penalty of one year in the Bridewell yesterday when he was found guilty by Judge John J. Sullivan of the Criminal court. This is the second such punishment for Kmiatek, according to Assistant State's Attorneys Abe Marowitz and Nat Rusvell. He was arrested during the recent police campaign.

Stephen Mudryo of Waco, Tex., who was also caught in the recent police campaign, fared differently, when he convinced Judge Harry B. Miller that he is an honest Texan, whose sister insisted that he carry a revolver while in Chicago. He was placed on six months' probation with the understanding that he return to Texas.

George Basso, business agent for a bootblack union, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday for carrying concealed weapons.

DENEEN DROPS WORLD COURT IN CAMPAIGN TALKS

Harrisburg, Ill., March 6.—[Special.]—U. S. Senator Charles S. Deneen will devote the remainder of the speeches in his campaign for reelection to waterways, tariff, and party issues, rather than the world court, he indicated last night after his Harrisburg speech in which he defended his vote for the world court.

The senator said he believed Illinoisans, especially those in the southern part of the state, are more interested in other things than in the technical and legal details of the difference between the would court and the league of nations.

Deneen visibly was tired and almost ill after his Harrisburg speech. He covered 315 miles Wednesday in his visits to six counties in southeastern and southern Illinois. His trip to Carbondale after the Harrisburg speech made his day's mileage total 365.

SNOW EXPLAINS CAMPAIGN DINNER AT $100 A PLATE

Political Feasts Revived, City Hall Hears.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Reports were heard in the city hall yesterday that the old dinner plate method of financing political campaigns which became popular with the advent of the first Thompson administration back in 1915 will again be in vogue this spring. Public employés and precinct workers were said to be perturbed by the rumored revival of a system under which they were called upon to pay extraordinary prices for seats at political banquet tables.

When the talk got around to Chairman Snow of the Republican county central committee he said that the $100 a plate dinner arranged by his organization for Monday night at the Palmer house is to raise funds for his group's county ticket in the primary campaign.

"It was agreed among us some time ago that we would not use any other methods of raising money," Snow said. "There have been no slush funds among employés or compulsory contributions from contractors and others doing business with public officials who line up with us. We rejected all those methods as improper and decided on an honest, public appeal for funds.

Snow Explains the Dinner.

"We have sent out words that we'd like as many of our friends who are willing to do so to contribute $100 for the campaign and that those who do so are invited to a dinner where I can give them some facts about the campaign that I can get to them adequately in no other way.

"The cost of the dinner will be $3 a plate. Each one present, therefore, will donate $97 toward the expense of the campaign. If we have 1,000 there that will be $97,000, which will be small in comparison with what the opposition is spending and intends to spend. Each ward committeeman and each candidate was asked to see if he could sell ten tickets. The average has fallen considerably below that. But we expect the dinner to be a success."

The dinner is listed as given in honor of Chairman Snow. He said that was because he will be the principal speaker and because to give it in honor of any one candidate would not have been fair to the others.

Signs of Strife Reported.

Signs of a war between Albert R. Brunker and his former associate, Axel Lonnquist, leaders of the old Swanson business men's organization, are reported. Brunker now speaks through the civic safety commission. Lonnquist's group is the business men's Republican organization, backing a county board ticket, of which Lonnquist is the head.

At a meeting of the Chicago Engineers club indorsements of the Lonnquist county board ticket and the Deneen sanitary district ticket were voted. The candidates in the latter group have adopted the label of the "Civic ticket" for the drainage board.

Two Disputes Get Into Court.

Two local disputes have found their way into the courts. The county grand jury was reported to have voted a true bill for Robert L. Riley, 1524 Fargo avenue. Riley, according to the report, is charged with making a false affidavit in connection with his petition for Republican committeeman of the 49th ward. The two chief contestants for Republican committeeman in that ward are Harry A. Riley of the Deneen camp, and Building Commissioner Paschen of the city hall faction. The two Rileys are not related.

Three entrants in a legislative fight, Samuel Bonafede, Joseph E. Farina, and Gioachino Battaglia, obtained a temporary injunction to keep their names off the ballot in the 29th district. Their efforts to withdraw at Springfield in favor of Representative Michael R. Durso were too late.

Making brief speeches at three ward meetings last night, Mrs. Charles S. Deneen, wife of Senator Deneen, spoke for his entire county ticket. She was accompanied by a daughter, Mrs. Carl Birdsall.

FALLS TO DEATH IN SHAFT.

Frank Bubek, 50 years old, 2639 Princeton avenue, a watchman, was killed yesterday when he fell from the second floor to the bottom of the elevator shaft in the building at 523 South Green street, where he was employed.

CHARGE GRUNDY HAS LOBBYISTS IN HIS OFFICE

Senate Committee Quiz Is Launched.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.] — All other activities were brushed aside by the senate lobby committee today to make way for investigation of charges that Senator Joseph R. Grundy [Rep., Pa.] has installed the high tariff lobby organization he headed for many years before his appointment in one of the senate office building rooms assigned for his personal use.

After subjecting Grundy to a senate floor heckling that left the former super-lobbyist fuming with rage, Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] chairman of the lobby committee, warned him, "We will get the facts" and promptly issued summonses for Arthur L. Faubel, secretary of the American Tariff league; John Lerch, New York attorney and counsel for the league, and W. F. Doane, Grundy's chief advisor.

Caraway Fires Questions.

The spectacle on the senate floor, with Caraway in the well before the Vice President's dais firing questions at Grundy in his best witness baiting manner, was precipitated when Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] called the senate's attention to morning newspaper charges that the offices of the American Tariff league had been moved from a downtown building to the senate office building.

"I am quite sure," the Mississippi senator asserted, "that no senator ever dreamed the senate office building would be turned into a base of operations for any organization that is seeking to get legislation here."

A few minutes before the storm on the floor broke, Grundy admitted to newspaper men that Doane, editor of The Manufacturer, the organ of the Manufacturers' club of Philadelphia, Pa., was dividing his time between the Lafayette hotel and the additional room set aside for Grundy's use in the senate office building.

Grundy Denies Charge.

Taking the floor as soon as he could claim it, Grundy asserted flatly, "There is no one there either directly or indirectly connected with the American tariff league." And added, "The fact that there are people there beyond the allotment made by the senate to each senator is due to the fact that we are in the midst of a tariff revision, and Pennsylvania is interested in nearly every paragraph of the bill."

Huston Makes Protest.

Irked by "current misrepresentations" C. H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee and former president of the Tennessee River association, tonight issued a statement protesting that his name "has been systematically bandied around upon authority of members of the lobby committee" and that although he has been available for appearance the committee has preferred to hear "stenographers and other employes of the association."

Huston added that the committee agreed to hear him only after "My repeated demands made through my friends."

WASHINGTON NOTES

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(AP)—The house banking committee today unanimously approved two resolutions calling on Secretaries Stimson and Mellon for information as to the extent to which the federal reserve board is participating in the formation of the bank of international settlements.

Nebraska-born Ruth Bryan Owen, whose election to the house as a representative from Florida, was challegend on a citizenship basis because of her marriage to a British army officer, appeared with a group of women championing the Cable bill for parity of nationality rights between men and women.

Senate recessed at 5 p. m. today until tomorrow out of respect to the memory of Representative James P. Glynn of Connecticut, who died early in the day.

RUSSIANS TOLD BORAH IS NOW U. S. PRESIDENT

Boston, Mass., March 6.—[Special.]—Rabbi Simon Glazer of New York, who has just returned from soviet Russia, disclosed sensational stories of soviet atrocities in that country upon his arrival here today. Rabbi Glazer is president of the Central Council of Rabbis of Greater New York.

"The name of President Hoover," he said, "is unknown to the masses of the Russian peasants, for the newspapers there, government-owned, announced that Senator Borah had been elected President of the United States in 1928. There is a myth among peasants in all parts of Russia that 'Mme. Borah,' wife of the 'President,' is coming to Russia with jewels of untold wealth to build them heaters.

WRECK OF PLANE IN WHICH 3 DIED SEEN BY AIRMAN

Los Angeles, Cal., March 6.—(AP)—Wreckage of a Western Air Express tri-motored transport plane, which disappeared twelve days ago with its crew of three in the snowbound San Bernardino mountains, was found late today in an isolated canyon by Dudley Steele, one of a group of airplane pilots searching for the lost ship. The flyer said he saw two inert bodies in the heavy brush near the wreckage.

Steele, head of the aviation department of the Richfield Oil company, flying with Miss Juanita Burns of Los Angeles as an observer, sighted the wreckage in a canyon about twenty-five miles from Lake Arrowhead on the eastern slope of the mountains.

In the missing plane were Pilot James E. Doles, veteran Western Air Express flyer; Co-Pilot A. W. Bieber, and Steward John Slaton, all of Los Angeles.

A REPORT

OF THE ACTIVITIES of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) during the past year and an important announcement to the public

YESTERDAY MORNING the stockholders of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) held their annual meeting. Several of the matters brought up at that meeting are of possible interest not only to stockholders who could not be present, but to the employees of the Company and to the public as well.

With more than 87,000 owners, with a working force of 40,000 people, and with approximately 35,000 dealers who distribute its products, the Company naturally plays a considerable part in the industrial life and business prosperity of the territory which it serves. We therefore are pleased to report that the past year has been one of the most successful in its history.

One of the outstanding events of the year was the acquisition of controlling interest in the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company. This gives Standard Oil Company (Indiana) an international organization, serving not only many sections of the United States but a number of Central and South American countries as well. It gives the Company a remarkable reserve of crude oil in some of the finest of the world's oil fields. The year has also seen a wide extension of Standard Oil service in its immediate territory. Service has been increased both to the city motorist and to the farmer.

The needs of our farm customers have grown greatly in recent years. Over 20 percent of all farms in the States served by Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are now equipped with tractors as well as motor cars. Thousands of them produce their own electric power by means of the gasoline engine. Our Company pioneered in serving the farm and this tradition is being maintained by increasing our facilities each year throughout the farming area.

The past year, however, has been successful in more than a business way. It has been marked by achievements of interest to everyone who drives a car.

We are fortunate in the possession of one of the greatest oil research laboratories in the world, out of which are coming discoveries of first rank importance in the making of petroleum products.

Last fall, after considerable experimental work, we developed a greatly improved Ethyl Gasoline—the new Red Crown Ethyl. The essential feature of this product was the perfection of a gasoline base of unusually high quality with which we combined the Ethyl compound. Its rapid acceptance by the public was hardly unexpected—but it has been gratifying, none the less.

Now we are prepared to announce a further manufacturing achievement. For many months this Company has been working to perfect a new product. Its work has been completed. Tests of the product, both in the laboratory and under service conditions, have more than met our expectations. We are convinced that it will prove a contribution both to the pleasure and economy of driving a car.

This product will be announced in a special program to be given over the radio on Wednesday, March 12th.

Because of the character of the announcement a program of unusual interest has been arranged—including Sousa's Band, Mme. Louise Homer and the well-known entertainer, Will Rogers. The broadcast begins at 9:30 P. M. Central Time and will be sent over a chain of fourteen leading stations. It is hoped you will all listen in.

LET'S GO.

An English financial house is advising its clients to sell English securities and buy American. In the perspective of 3,000 miles American industrial conditions are seen to be sound and getting better. Business is not quite as good as it was at the peak last year, but in most lines sales are considerably better than the average of recent years and prospects are bright.

Americans are reputed to be the most sanguine of peoples, but the behavior of a good many of them since the stock market crash in October casts doubt on the generalization. The land has been filled with croakers. The pessimism of recent months has been as baseless as was the extreme optimism of the summer and early fall. A year ago the sky was the limit. No forecast of business and profit could be too gaudy. We were entering upon a new era of prosperity, which was to assure an entirely new and unprecedented scale of values. Our immense natural resources and our improved industrial technique together were transforming the up and down economy of yesterday to the permanent and ever growing prosperity of tomorrow.

Every one now knows, as shrewd men knew last summer, that the future was being discounted too heavily. The reaction had begun to set in even before the stock market crash, and that event inevitably gave it an enormous impetus. The croakers are now in the saddle. Pessimism in some quarters is almost as common today as optimism was a year ago, and the pessimism has considerably less justification.

America's vast natural wealth is a fact. America's industrial competence is a fact. America is the richest country in the world, and as far as one one can see today is going to hold its position for generations to come. Those are the facts which resolve any doubts about the long pull ahead. So far as the immediate future is concerned, business reports indicate that, despite the croakers, we are pretty well out of the woods. THE TRIBUNE'S advertising departments, which are in contact with all kinds of business, large and small, are far from discouraged. The circulation department, which has a constant and accurate check upon the ability and disposition of the public to buy, is vastly encouraged by recent circulation progress. There is ample evidence to show that the man who allows pessimism to corrupt his judgment today will soon have cause to regret it, just as the overoptimistic were the victims of their own enthusiasm six months ago.

It is time we were getting back in our stride. Business men are returning from vacations in the south filled with renewed energy. They are r'aring to go, and their influence is bound to be felt before long. Weather conditions are favorable. The buying public is thinking already, a month ahead of time, of spring and summer needs. A huge program of private and government construction is ready. In a few weeks road crews will be widening our radial highways. Congress can, and no doubt will, help by appropriating for such important business stimulators as the Illinois waterway. Successful executives realize that this is the ideal time to make capital investments, for costs are at rock bottom.

The period of recession is about over. Spring is all but here.

OBERTA AS A POLITICIAN.

John Oberta, more intimately Dingbat, has gone the way of his kind and profession. He was found in his automobile, dead from gunshot in the head. The car was in a ditch and Oberta's driver, guard and friend, Sam Malaga, was also in the ditch and dead. Dingbat's enemies had taken him for a ride and had settled accounts, whatever they were. The police think the episode might have some relation to the shooting of Frank McErlane recently in the German Deaconess hospital.

Oberta as a gangster had one little distinction in addition to his fondness for good clothes. He made an open connection with politics. He did not get very far, but he was trying to demonstrate that a successful hood might be able to put himself in office instead of merely tying up with politicians in office. Two years ago he had himself elected Republican ward committeeman in the Thirteenth ward and thus became a member of the managing organization of Cook county Republicanism. He also tried to get into the city council, but was defeated, and last year he was defeated for his office in the committee. A recount showed the frauds to be expected of a gang careerist in politics.

This political experience was a little adventure for Oberta which the other hoods do not undertake. They are satisfied with political alliances under cover. Undemonstrative immunities are sufficient rewards for the services they can give their political friends. Oberta was a little vain, evidently, and wanted some window dressing, but, however they dress them, the undertaker comes along just the same. So, unfortunately, do more hoods and more political connections.

PIUS XI. TO THE AMERICANS.

Pius XI., receiving a pre-Lenten visit of clergy in the Vatican, gave a warning against the abdication of parental authority in the American home and the consequent injury to childhood. Reports of this pontifical address indicate that it was specific as to the United States, of which the pope has been given disturbing information. He said the children were uncontrolled and that the young American generation displayed weakness of obedience and lack of respect, revealed in wildness of life and laxity of morals. He found that this injurious American influence threatened to extend to other countries. The adult attitude, he said, was a cruel irreverence "toward that age which is particularly recommended to the reverence of adults, so much so that it formed one of the chief postulates of education, even of the ancient pagans."

The reporter of the speech said that the pope was surprisingly well informed of minute details of American home life. Well informed Americans would not care to commit themselves to any generalizations covering the whole of American home life and the education of children. It would be more difficult for an alien view to be confidently authentic. It has been foreign observation for many generations that the American child was not subjected to the discipline frequently, if not generally, found abroad. That was true of the present generation of adults when it was the generation of childhood. Americans are not prepared to admit that in essence it is a defect. The maturity of the human being must disclose that and it is not to be seen that the average American adult is a failure or is inferior to the European. Something could be said to the contrary.

The pope's accusation is more specific. It assumes that laxness of parental authority and of juvenile morals is a new as well as a threatening development in American life. This might be supported by selected facts, obtainable in any country, but not by general conditions.

Pius XI. is the head of a church the communicants of which look to him for final authority in their religion and their habit of life. When he speaks to the believers in his church he is within his holy office and his power to condemn and his right to direct are recognized by the people of the church. More than seventy-five per cent of the people of the United States are not members of this church and do not recognize the authority of its head. They do not look in that direction for guidance, counsel or command.

Authority, having its field, has also its limitations, which are seldom exceeded with desirable consequences. The privilege of exceeding them seldom can be restrained, except by good judgment, which in this case the pope did not use. A remonstrance and warning directed to Americans of the Catholic church would have been a religious propriety, which is lacking when the address is to the whole American people, most of whom take their moral and spiritual guidance elsewhere. The same objection would apply if the archbishop of Canterbury advised the Lutherans of Scandinavia or if the moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States urged a reform in the Catholic education of children in Italy.

SUGGESTED TO A DELEGATION IN LONDON.

John Hay yielded an essential American interest in a treaty with Great Britain in 1900. He agreed in negotiations with the British ambassador, Pauncefote, that the isthmian canal when built should be neutralized. It was not to be fortified. The United States might build it, but could not defend it. It could not be controlled in event of war. It was to be an international highway. When Mr. Hay laid that treaty before the senate there was great indignation over the surrender.

The American negotiator in this instance could say that he had been embarrassed by the provisions of an earlier treaty, the Clayton-Bulwer of 1850, in which the principle of neutrality had been declared, and that in clearing up British pretensions and claims to protectorates and other rights in the Central American regions he had to give as well as take. He was involved in the mistakes of another generation, but other American statesmen before him had declared for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty to clear the ground for American interests.

That is what the senate did in handling Mr. Hay's treaty. The senate amendments provided for the abrogation of the treaty, for the fortification of the canal and American control of it and for the elimination of all possibility of any other power asserting an interest in it. An American secretary of state who had agreed to give something away was prevented from making the delivery, but the incident was not helpful to the high reputation of Mr. Hay. The canal is an American canal.

Editorial of the Day

WHEAT GOES DOWN.

[Washington Post.]

Although the farmer does not have to worry, the present situation is not encouraging to the taxpayer. Unless there is a drastic turn in the market some one is bound to be left holding the bag, and that some one is the farm board and the treasury.

It is unreasonable even to suggest that all the farmers of the United States eventually will be enrolled as members of the coöperatives affiliated with the farm board. As the coöperative movement expands the pressure to remain independent will increase. The larger the surplus stored away by the coöperatives against better prices, the more it will have a depressing influence on prices. The board has not been able to "peg" the price of wheat at $1.18, and although the price may move forward there is a large supply of the staple in the hands of independents that will be unloaded long before the price reaches $1.18. The supply in the hands of American independents is as nothing compared with the foreign supply.

"Surplus" is the important consideration with respect to farm relief. The surplus has depressed the price. The surplus must be controlled if farm relief is to be made effective. When the farm board attempts to improve the marketing machine, a desirable undertaking of itself, and when it sets out to "peg" prices, it is contributing to building up further surpluses. At present a situation exists that threatens to lead to major disaster for the board. It may clear away, but it will leave farm relief as much of an enigma as ever.

NATURAL MISTAKE.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. WMAS

WELL, TODAY WE'LL TELL YOU A LITTLE PIECE OF SCANDAL.

We were taking Tommy Atkins, the w. k. Sealyham, for his matutinal walk up the drive into Lincoln park yesterday morning when two very cunning little dogs came up. As soon as we had dissuaded Mr. Atkins from killing them we noticed that they were engaging mites indeed, but curious, to say the least. With that charming freemasonry that exists between dog people, we asked the lovely lady escorting the strange little dogs what breed they were, admitting that while we thought we were well acquainted with dogs, from Great Danes to Schipperkes, we had never before seen anything like them.

"No," said the lady sadly. "you never have, and, what's more, you never will again." This sounded interesting. We begged the lady to go on. "Well," said she, looking around to see that no reporters were lurking about, "the affair was a mésalliance. The story is a sad one." "Yes, yes," said we, "go on." "Well," continued the lady slowly, "the mother of these two innocent little creatures scampering about so gayly there with Mr. Atkins—well, their mother was a French poodle—her name was Fifi, and such a lovely, happy little creature she was." "Yes," said we, "her name was Fifi."

"I would rather say no more, but since you insist," continued the lady, "I will have to tell you that their father was a—well, a traveling man, a wire haired fox terrier named Whiskers. They were young, Fifi and Whiskers, very much in love and defiant of conventions." "Flaming youth," said we. "Yes," said the lady, "need I say more? These two little dogs you are now watching that look like nothing else in heaven above or the earth beneath are the children of Whiskers and Fifi. And now you know why they cannot go into the dog show. Poor little Fifi, the forsaken mother, will not be in the dog show either. All the other French poodles would sneer at her and haughtily refuse to call on her or even speak to her. She will sit lonely and sad at home taking care of the children. But Whiskers will be there. Oh, yes, all over the place, sitting proudly up on his bench, admired by all and taking a half dozen medals and other trophies. Ah, 'tis the woman that pays." Wiping our brimming eyes we called Thomas Atkins and led him away. We sympathized deeply with Fifi, but, after all, we could not let our little dog play with little dogs who were, as one might say, déclassé.

MYSTERY.

How strange it is, from ecstasy
Descending, we can find a smile
For one who does not know that we
Have been in heaven awhile;

How strange that on the spirit's veil
There lies no scattering of light,
No powder of the dust of stars
Caught in that breathless flight;

Strange, that the gardens where we dwell,
The homely paths so often trod,
Spring not alive with asphodel
Where walked the feet of God.

DOROTHY R. KISSLING.

HENRY FORD, in his happy tropical home down at Fort Myers, Fla., where 'tis always June, and the bulbul sings in the rose garden and the whangdoodle croons to its mate and little ones in the top of the old cooloopa tree, bursts forth with some advice in regard to diet. "And first," says Henry, "don't overeat." As the number of unemployed in the U. S. of A. at present writing is variously estimated from three to six million, we gather from this that Henry is not only a wit but a humorist, and we wish he would write funny paragraphs and send them to the Line.

"WHAT," YOU ASK, "IS A BRAVIG IMBS?" LISSEN, WE'LL TELL YOU.

James Truslow Adams' review of Bernard Fay's Franklin in the March Atlantic Monthly ought by all rights to be an excuse for another neat little essay on "Line Contributor Makes Good," or something like that. Mr. Adams says: "A minor fault in the book is its occasional bad English, for which the translator, Mr. Bravig Imbs (curious name for an English translator), and not the author should be held accountable." Five or six years ago when Bravig Imbs lived in Chicago (yes, Mr. Adams, curious as the name may be, Bravig was born right here in Chicago) he wrote poetry signed Devie Ney, and we printed it often in the column. It was darn good poetry, too. There was one poem called "To My Father," that people still ask us to reprint. But then Bravig went to Paris and continued to write poetry, but he signed it Bravig Imbs then, and maybe that had something to do with it, but we didn't print it so often, because, to tell the truth, most of the time we couldn't make head nor tail of it. Sometimes we printed it anyway; and a few people would write us the most lyrical letters about it, and a lot of people would ask us what the hell was the big idea. People are like that. And now it seems that Bravig has translated a French book into English that makes James Truslow Adams wonder about his being English, let alone being an American and a Chicagoan at that. Maybe we shouldn't have started this little essay on "Line Contributor Makes Good" after all.

BACK-SLIDER.

Stuffed capon and partridge in sherry
And waffles and pie and hot bread—
I've eaten some soup and a grapefruit,
And I might as well be dead.

Anchovy and pâté de foie gras—
The moon shines as sweetly above,
But tottering feet seek the icebox—
I'd rather have calories than love.

JUDY SHEA.

LAGNIAPPE.

THE BONE DRYS appearing before the house judiciary committee investigating prohibition are running true to form. Their testimony was dry, the comment on it was dry, the cross-examining by the congressmen was dry, and even reading it all over and commenting on it makes us so doggoned dry that—wonder where Max the bootlegger is?

AFTER ALL, we do live in Chicago, and you know what environment is? We wrote a peach of a last line yesterday to be used right here this morning, and then—well—we couldn't help it; a sudden impulse seized us—and we took that darned last line for a ride, shot it full of holes, and dumped it in a vacant lot. Environment! R. H. L.

ABOUT MEDICINAL PLANTS.

We receive an occasional letter asking for information about medicinal herbs. As a rule these letters ask where sources of information can be obtained. A few letters contain requests for information as to how to grow certain plants, what type of soil is suited for a specified plant, has a certain plant any medicinal value, how is it gathered and preserved, and how marketed.

The United States department of agriculture, bureau of plant industry, publishes information about medicinal plants and these publications can be obtained by purchase for a few cents in some instances or by request in others. In some states the department of agriculture or some bureau therein supplies similar leaflets relating particularly to the medicinal herbs known to grow in the state it serves. If a given department does not publish booklets or leaflets they will give information by letter. In some instances manufacturers who use large quantities of such herbs will supply booklets or answer letters in which information is asked for.

During the world war certain drugs became unavailable or difficult to get in America. This related chiefly to synthetics imported from central Europe before the conflict. Governments made arrangements to promote manufacture and thus met the need. As to herbs and their products, the group of drugs which physicians call galenicals, the government undertook to interest the people in the growing of medicinal herbs. This effort continues in a mild way.

America has its share of medicinal drugs. Some are popular flowers and ornamental garden plants. Many are weeds. Among them are foxglove (from which digitalis is derived), Jamestown weed, night shade and herbane, chenopodium or wormseed, ginseng, watermelon seed, blueberries, hydrastis, delphinium or larkspur, monkshood, cassia, calendula.

The government tries to find others for which our climate and soil are adapted. For instance, they started experimenting with chaulmoogra ten years ago at a time when the oil was hard to get and the future for its use seemed better than it now does.

A person who contemplates growing or gathering medicinal herbs should have his product assayed. It is not enough that one has genuine foxglove. One must know that the specimen contains digitalis in regulation proportions. These qualities are determined by climate and soil.

TO STIMULATE THE LIVER.

C. M. S. writes: Please write an article telling us how to stimulate a sluggish liver. Is there any particular diet that will help? Even when the elimination is good the coated tongue and the nasty taste linger on. Saline cathartics seem to be the only thing that helps, but I would like to get away from that.

REPLY.

The physiologists tell us that a diet containing a good deal of oil and fat stimulates the liver. The evidence is good that such a diet causes the gall bladder to empty itself, but beyond that the proof is not good. Laxatives and purgations act indirectly on the liver, but in their case the remedy is worse than the disease. A better plan is to eat less and exercise more. Horseback riding is about the best exercise for that purpose.

HABIT TRAINING FOR CHILDREN.

Mrs. E. H. B. writes: Twice recently you have referred in your column to a bulletin published by the Massachusetts Society for Mental Hygiene on habit training for children. Please advise me as to the address of this organization and the price of the booklet.

REPLY.

Send 10 cents to this organization at 5 Joy street, Boston, Mass., for the booklet.

ASKS ABOUT GIRL'S CLOTHES.

R. K. writes. Do you consider it healthful for a girl 14½ years to wear short summer underwear in the cold days in the country, and to go sleigh riding or skiing in the snowdrifts with it?

REPLY.

Yes, if the girl is hardy and extra rugged. A person who is not a good heat maker should dress warmer.

HARDENING OF ARTERIES.

J. H. L. writes: Would like very much if you would give us an article on hardening of the arteries, its cause, symptoms and effects.

REPLY.

We have reproduced a series of articles on this subject in a booklet. Send ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the booklet on abnormal blood pressure.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

PRIVACY OF DEPOSIT BOXES.

Chicago, March 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Are the safety deposit boxes in a bank examined at any time? 2. Have the officials any authority to examine them? 3. What procedure is pursued in the event keys are lost or rental is not paid? 4. What action could I take after finding my box had been tampered with? 5. The rent was paid for and I am the only one that has keys for admission. P. M.

1. No, except that upon the death of the boxholder there is an inheritance tax examination. 2. Not in the ordinary case. 3. Ask the company in question for a copy of their rules. 4. If you can prove damage you might be in a position to recover from the company. 5. Ordinarily the safety deposit company has a key to only one of the two locks.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NOT GODMOTHER'S HEIR.

Chicago, March 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My godmother died in an insane asylum, leaving no will. Have I any claim on her money? She was quite wealthy. M. S.

No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

STREET LIGHTS.

Chicago, March 6.—[Friend of the People.]—In the 3800 North Central Park avenue neighborhood several street lamps were broken some time ago and remained unrepaired, and for a number of nights the block has been in complete darkness. G. F.

I am very sorry to receive reports of this nature, as it is my wish and intention to keep the entire municipal electric street lighting system in operating condition at all times as is physically possible. However, our forces of lamp cleaners, lamp changers, electric light repairmen, linemen, etc., have been decreased 50 per cent in the 1930 appropriation ordinance with the result that circuit trouble is piling up all over the city, and with the insufficient man power appropriated for this year it is obviously impossible for the department to clear the trouble as quickly as heretofore. May I add that the department is doing the best it can under very trying circumstances, and trust you will appreciate the handicap we are working under should the trouble recur at some future time. Nevertheless, a sincere effort is being made to keep the entire system in operating condition and I hope you will have no further cause for complaint along these lines.

MICHAEL J. KENNEDY,
Commissioner of Gas and Electricity.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 7, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Hancock has been assigned to command of the middle military division during the temporary absence of Gen. Sheridan.

WASHINGTON. — The Richmond Sentinel says: "The rain and mud have put a stop to military operations in the vicinity of Richmond and Petersburg. Deserters from Grant's army are coming in daily and are sent on their way home rejoicing. Deserters and absentees from the confederate armies are returning to their commands in large numbers and are availing themselves of Gen Lee's amnesty proclamation."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The senate met at noon with Vice President Johnson in the chair. Among nominations sent in by President Lincoln was that of Hugh McCulloch to be secretary of the treasury.

PHILADELPHIA. — The transport Massachusetts has arrived here and reports that our naval forces have captured Fort White, a splendid work mounting 17 heavy guns, just below Georgetown, S. C. The federal marines and sailors were charged in the Georgetown streets by rebel cavalry, which was repulsed with the loss of several killed.

CHICAGO.—Daniel Hannan and Miss Sarah A. Holmes were married on March 2 by the Rev. Laird Collier.

CHICAGO.—Cyrus P. Bradley, former chief of police, died at his home, Adams and Throop streets, after an illness of six days, at the age of 45. He had been intimately identified with Chicago since 1837. The funeral will be held from Bryan hall tomorrow, with the Rev. Robert Collyer preaching the sermon.

CHICAGO.—Robert Butcher, proprietor of the Buxton house, Clark and Van Buren streets, was fined $25 for keeping a gaming house.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 7, 1900.

CAPE COLONY.—Nearly the whole of the Dutch population of the Prieska and Kenhardt district are in rebellion. Many of the Dutch from neighboring districts are reported to have joined them, notably Piet Moolman, who will lead the rebels to Brandbles. The general opinion of loyalists is that a strong force of British will be required to quell the revolt, as a reverse would spread the rebellion.

LONDON.—Gen. Lord Roberts, so far as London is advised, is still at Osfontein, with a Boer force of unknown but increasing strength facing him. Experts predict a big engagement almost any day. A Daily Telegraph special from Osfontein says that the Boers are entrenching and mounting guns to defend every position. Gen. Joubert is reported in supreme command.

CHICAGO.—Chicago manufacturers of building materials agreed to lock up their plants and suspend business operations indefinitely or until the settlement of the widespread labor troubles. Already the Western Stone company has closed all its works. The result of the agreement will be to throw 10,000 men out of work and tie up $20,000,000 capital invested in the various material plants.

LOS ANGELES. — Fayette L. Simons, one of the charter members of the Chicago Board of Trade, died here at the age of 71. He was quite intimately acquainted with Stephen A. Douglas and Abraham Lincoln.

CHICAGO. — Miss Emily Piper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Piper, 617 Wells street, and Robert H. Richter were married at the home of the bride's parents.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 7, 1920.

CHICAGO.—Two thousand express handlers and clerks employed by the American Railway Express company struck for a $35 a month increase of pay, and somewhat curtailed Chicago's food supply. Teamsters and chauffeurs numbering 2,200 will vote today on whether to join the strike. If they go out the food supply will be seriously imperiled.

CHICAGO.—Eugene Geary, gangster and gunman, accused of the murder of Leonard Tripple, a Yellow Cab chauffeur, was found not guilty by a jury in Judge Hugo Pam's court. State's Attorney Hoyne declared the verdict was a "rank miscarriage of justice."

MINEOLA, N. Y.—The state of New York will receive $8,891 as an inheritance tax from the estate of the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt, according to the report of the appraiser. The total value of the estate was $781,082.

LONDON.—The bolsheviki have begun a new attack on Finland, Helsingfors reports. After a heavy bombardment they attacked the Finnish positions at Sutjervi.

CHICAGO.—Miss Grace Montgomery, daughter of George W. Montgomery, general manager of the Fair, and Samuel H. Trude Jr., son of Judge Samuel H. Trude of the Court of Domestic Relations, were married at the Cooper-Carlton hotel, where both families reside.

NEW YORK.—Alice Joyce, moving picture actress, was married to James B. Regan, son of the manager of the Hotel Knickerbocker.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FROM AN ENGLISH JOURNALIST.

Chicago, March 2.—An English journalist, needless to say, finds much to interest him in Mr. Kinsley's article on the London press and a few things to astonish him.

J. L. Garvin would be enraged, I imagine, if any one were to describe the Observer in his hearing as an organ of Liberal opinion, since for 21 years he has been expending his untiring energy in devising programs for the Conservative party [he has edited only Conservative papers], while latterly he has been begging the Liberals to come over to the Tories as the only way of defeating Labor. Mr. Kinsley, I judge, is not responsible for the box headed "The English Newspapers." He could hardly see the Standard and Evening News as tabloids. The second is the same size as THE TRIBUNE, while Beaverbrook's Standard is as much like an American tabloid as Liberty is like the Christian Century!

You would naturally expect an English newspaper man to find some of Mr. Kinsley's statements fantastic. Such, for example, are those about news being subordinated to books, etc., and the generalizations from the squire's suicide. The latter would depend not upon the libel laws but upon special circumstances. If the papers need a mystery, that old boy would do excellently. Nothing better. But if they don't, never mind! I covered the Crippen trial for a London paper. It was made a major sensation because of the season amid which it fell. I remember the despair of the news editor when it ended!

Mr. Kinsley is full of points, nearly all discussable. Congratulations on his article.

I wonder, by the bye, why it never seems to occur to an American journalist to inquire into the economic reason for ads on the front page. In many instances papers have tried the American plan and reverted to the English plan. Northcliffe, who knew his job if man ever did, was wholly against the American. And why should he not have been? The Daily Mail sells its front page for nearly a year in advance. On the first of every year it is enabled to estimate its revenue for the ensuing 12 months for this one page; it is a sum large enough to insure a thumping profit. Northcliffe and the others have agreed: "Why give away to news the page that is the most profitable of all?" It is assumed that every reader is prepared for the great labor of opening the paper in the middle. And since the main news items are displayed for him on the billboards, why not let him do it?

I am always surprised, also, at the American journalist's failure to note the difference in the treatment of the churches. Our papers ignore them, in ads and news alike. An ordinary American paper thinks nothing of giving 4 pages a week—an incredible circumstance in England.

And, further, the American dailies, almost everywhere nowadays, give far more space to books than ours do. The Daily Chronicle, in Massingham's day, was the first London paper to have a daily literary half page. For a long spell of years, more recently, it ignored books altogether. You do not find that in America. S. K. RATCLIFFE.

THE FORT DEARBORN ASSOCIATION.

Chicago, March 4.—Numerous attempts have been made by me to secure information concerning the Fort Dearborn association. I have made inquiries relative to this organization to THE TRIBUNE library, the Chicago Historical society, and the Association of Commerce without obtaining the required data.

It is my belief that such an organization is in existence and is a group of Chicago pioneers who foster commemoration of early city activities and traditions. I would be most pleased if you would publish this request so that I may communicate with the president of this organization. JACK F. WIMBLE.

DR. GERTY'S STATISTICS.

Chicago, March 4.—On page 1 of THE TRIBUNE a few days ago appeared a formidable array of figures which were used by Dr. Francis J. Gerty, superintendent of the Cook County Psychopathic hospital in the hearings on prohibition at Washington. Dr. Gerty, a county appointee, was to "represent President Cermak of the county board in the attack on the 18th amendment." That, to me, explains why this "devastating statistical analysis" is more political than scientific.

Take the item of Bridewell prisoners, for instance. Dr. Gerty's "table of comparison" shows 10,124 prisoners in 1911 and 17,856 in 1929, an increase of 76 per cent since prohibition. I have before me a recent tabulation by Supt. Curran of the Bridewell showing the number of inmates on Jan. 1 of each year since 1914. There were 1,883 prisoners in 1918 and 2,025 in 1930, an increase of only 7¼ per cent in 12 years. During this time the population of Chicago increased 30 per cent. Thus, instead of a 76 per cent increase in the crime rate during this period there was an actual decrease of 22¾ per cent, based on the Bridewell figures.

Besides overlooking the important factor of population increase in his own analysis, Mr. Cermak weakens his case by choosing, as usual, 1918 for comparison, when our young lads were in the army and navy and prison population was low. Prohibition dates from 1920, not 1918.

For the same reason Mr. Cermak's figures for state penal institutions and hospitals for the insane are manifestly unscientific and misleading. Figures and charts from the state statistician show that crime and insanity took a sharp curve upward prior to 1917—3 years before national prohibition—and that the crime curve took a sudden 20 per cent drop between 1917 and 1919, during the war. Immediately with demobilization the crime curve again made a sharp turn upward (a year before prohibition), which the wet propagandists gleefully blame on the dry law, though liquor-caused crime today is much lower than during the saloon days.

No analysis of present day crime problems is complete or dependable that fails to take into account such factors as war, the automobile, paved (and unpoliced) highways, the growing spirit of lawlessness, which antedates both war and prohibition; police and prosecuting efficiency below scientific criminal efficiency, the alliance of crime and politics, and the breakdown of discipline in the home. H. C. NEWTON, M. D.

HEAVIER CROSSING GATES.

Chicago, March 4.—The recent tragedy at Kenosha, Wis., railroad crossing, where so many persons were killed and injured, brings to my mind similar conditions that existed in Chicago before the railroads had elevated their tracks. We still have some level crossings that are a constant menace.

My plan is instead of the old wooden gates that are raised and lowered by the crossing watchman, a new system of gates or abutment of heavy iron construction that when closed lies down flat even with the pavement and when open will act as a bar to the approaching auto, very similar to our jack-knife bridges in operation. They could be operated either automatically or by the crossing watchman. If any one tried to beat the signals he would drive his car against this heavy abutment and any damage done would be his own.

MICHAEL J. MILLER.

LOGIC.

Moline, Ill., March 1.—I see in today's column a letter telling about a 134 year old Turk who never took a drink and who is to be brought to this country and exhibited by the Anti-Saloon league as a concrete example of the benefits of prohibition.

To offset this insidious propaganda I am prepared to furnish proof of the death of a young person at the tender age of 5 who, like the Turk, was a total abstainer all his life. H. F. MOREY.

USES OF ADVERSITY

ARTIST'S WIFE SLAIN IN HOME BY JEALOUS WOMAN

Police Hunt Indian Model for Her Husband.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Clotilde Marchand, wife of Henri Marchand, famous artist of the Buffalo Museum of Natural Sciences, was slain, apparently by a woman, in her home on Riley street this afternoon. Mrs. Marchand was 50 years old and herself an artist of some note. Jealousy, police say, was the motive for the crime.

Mrs. Marchand had been struck on the head with a sharp instrument and indications were that the killer had seized her by the throat and attempted to strangle her.

Deep Wounds on Head.

Further examination of the body of Mrs. Marchand at the morgue disclosed a wad of cotton, soaked with chloroform, in her throat. The medical examiner said it was this rather than the head wounds that had caused her death. Marks on the body and swollen knuckles indicated she had fought her assailant desperately. There were three deep wounds on her head. Bruises on Mrs. Marchand's neck, medical authorities believe, were made by the slender fingers of a woman.

The Marchand police dog was in the house at the time of the murder, indicating, police say, that the slayer had been in the house before and had made friends with the animal. Nothing was missing from the house to indicate robbery.

Sent to Indian Village.

Detectives were sent to an Indian village where Mr. Marchand worked from living models on a museum group. The detectives were instructed to bring to Buffalo an Indian woman who had posed frequently for March and who, it is said, annoyed the artist with what he termed unwelcome attentions.

Mrs. Marchand's body was found on the first landing of a flight of stairs leading to the second floor of her home by her son, Henri, 12 years old, upon his return from school.

SEEKS TO INDICT STUDENT AFTER ATTACK ON PRIEST

South Bend, Ind., March 6.—[Special.]—A charge of assault with intent to kill against Harold Simpson, 21 years old, of Oak Park, a student at Notre Dame university, who is accused of attacking the Rev. Allan Heiser with a riding whip, was continued until May 9 when he was arraigned in police court here today. After the defense had asked the continuance, State's Attorney Harry Taylor announced that he would lay the case before the grand jury.

University officials and members of Father Heiser's family had notified Taylor that they would not prosecute Simpson, but the state's attorney refused to drop the charge, and issued a subpoena for the priest to testify in police court. Simpson is charged with beating the priest after the latter had caused his arrest last Friday night during a dispute over the youth's right to attend the university's annual junior prom.

GANDHI LABELS BRITISH RULE IN INDIA "A CURSE"

Text of Ultimatum Is Made Public.

AHMADABAD, India, March 6.—(AP)—The ultimatum of Mahatma Gandhi to the British crown asking for Indian national independence and threatening in lieu of that a campaign of intensive civil disobedience was made public today.

Gandhi, venerable Indian nationalist, after a vehement attack on British rule in India, which he says "has impoverished the dumb millions," says, "On bended knees I ask you to ponder this phenomenon."

Calls Viceroy "Friend."

The ultimatum is addressed to Viceroy Lord Irwin, and begins:

"My Dear Friend: Before embarking upon civil disobedience and taking risks which I have dreaded all these years I would fain approach you and find a way out. My personal faith is absolutely clear. I hold British rule to be a curse, but I do not intend to harm a single Englishman or any legitimate interest he may have in India."

The ultimatum then enumerates the circumstances in which his hope that a round table conference in London would furnish a solution of the problem was frustrated. Gandhi declared that as the plan for an interview at New Delhi miscarried there is no option but to carry out the solemn resolutions of the national congress.

"The resolution for independence," the ultimatum declares, "should not cause alarm if the phrase 'dominion status' in your announcement was used in the accepted sense, for have not British statesmen admitted that dominion status is virtually independence? Since that announcement, however, many things have happened which show unmistakably the trend of British policy.

Accuses British Statesmen.

"It is as clear as daylight that responsible British statesmen do not contemplate any alteration of British policy that might adversely affect British commerce with India or that would require impartial scrutiny of Great Britain's transactions in India. If nothing is done to end the process of exploitation India must be bled with increasing speed.

"The party of violence is gaining ground and is making itself felt. Having an unquestioning, immovable faith in the efficacy of nonviolence, it would be sinful on my part to wait longer. This nonviolence will be expressed through civil disobedience, which for the moment will be confined to the inmates of Sayagrah Ashram (Gandhi's college), but designed ultimately to cover all those who join the movement.

Plan Attack on Salt Tax.

"If you cannot deal with these evils and if my letter does not appeal to your heart I shall, March 11, proceed with such measures as I can take for disregarding of the provisions of the salt tax, which is most iniquitous from the poor man's viewpoint, and which never should have disfigured the statute book.

"It is open to you to frustrate my design by arresting me, but I hope there will be tens of thousands ready in a disciplined manner to take up the work after me."

"POISON" LETTERS REPORTED IN MAINE; SENDER BEING SOUGHT

Portland, Me., March 6.—[Special.]—"Poison" letters have been sent to seven residents of Madison, a small town near here.

The letters contained poison in powder form, bearing prominent Madison physicians' names, together with prescriptions, also deadly. The instructions were to take the powder with a glass of water before retiring.

An almost perfect fingerprint on the flap of the envelope of one letter may lead to identification, according to Sheriff Elton H. Markham, who has said that indications point toward a person known to him.

Sheriff Markham stated that he believes that the motive is one of revenge, although residents of the town believe some one did it to rid the town of the burden of charity residents.

Easy to Understand

TEXTBOOKS are often dry and musty. This Educational Course will be found refreshingly different from the usual educational volume. Every book has been written with the reader constantly in mind. Every page is clear and readily understandable by the average person. No attempt is spared to provide books which everyone can use to learn without the aid of an instructor.

Every book in this 60-volume set is self-teaching—that is the plan that underlies them all, to make no instructor necessary. Of course, the books are of no value unless you read them with the determination to learn. There is no royal road to knowledge just by letting your eyes run idly over the printed page! But if you have real ambition, then these are books to help you get ahead—these are books which may be of more genuine benefit to you than all four years of formal High School training.

The simplicity of these books is truly amazing. You will be gratified to find them entirely lucid in every way. No subject is kept difficult—all are presented to you so that you can get the most out of them. Just reading these books is educative to an extent that you cannot realize unless you try this experiment! Furthermore, every volume is interesting. The type is of a size to make reading easy. The authors have been interested in their subjects, and this makes it certain that those subjects are presented in a delightful fascinating manner.

What makes some textbooks difficult for the ordinary reader is that essential facts have been left out—such facts to be supplied by the teacher. In this Educational Course every fact is inserted in the text. With attention and determination a thorough grasp can be had of the subjects represented in this course (see the complete list at the right). It is not necessary to ask questions—every question has been foreseen and already answered by the writers who have made this set a marvel of clearness and completeness.

Variety of Subjects

Consider for a moment the wide scope of these sixty books—think just how comprehensive they are! There are 825,000 words in these sixty volumes. Theey include a wonderful variety of subjects, from history and economics and literature to mathematics, foreign languages and the arts. Even commercial subjects, such as geography and typewriting, are included. You get a substantial foundation in the arts, and an insight into the great world of science. Then there are the handy reference volumes, the alphabetical dictionaries, which give you concise information just when you need it and exactly as you want it.

Four foreign languages—the languages which most English-speaking people desire to learn—are given in this set. These foreign languages are self-teaching in these handy volumes. They may be readily grasped with the aid of these books.

Everything you need is here—this series is compact and complete in itself. There are two volumes of questions and answers (quizzes) with which you may test your knowledge from time to time. There is that excellent general treatise on "How to Study"—this work alone is really worth the entire price of the set in the valuable hints it gives and in the manner in which it enables the average person to study in such a way that he will get the most possible good out of his efforts.

You will find it invaluable to have at hand many of these books which you may not use at first. Though some of the subjects may seem to you apart from your present interests, they will sooner or later come in handy. Everyone, today, should have a representative library of reference to which he can turn in search of facts when he requires them. In our modern civilization, with the miracles of modern printing, knowledge is within everyone's reach. There is no longer any excuse for any individual to remain in ignorance. Lack of knowledge is not tolerated. Today you must be progressively alert—keep abreast of the times—and maintain a standard of education that is on a par with the knowledge of your fellows.

Grab This Chance to Get a 60-Volume High School Course for Only $2.98, Full Payment

NOW you can fill in those embarrassing gaps in your knowledge. Here, in 60 handy volumes which fit your pocket or handbag, you can get the essentials of the usual High School Education for only $2.98. This is positively all you pay—if you use the special order blank below before March 31, 1930.

What do the words, "A High School Education," mean? They mean a thorough grounding in those essentials of modern knowledge which enable a person to be the most efficient in the every-day activities of his work and of his contact with others. When it is required that a person have a High School Education, it is meant that such a person must be equipped with a substantial background of English, History, General Literature, some Languages, Commercial Subjects (Business and Economics), Mathematics, Science and the arts. It is expected that such a person will have his intelligence alert and trained to enable him to learn new things readily, to know where to look for facts not already in his possession: in short, to be a man or a woman aware of those fundamentals which form the basis of every education and of all culture.

Probably you have often felt the lack of knowledge you really ought to have at your command. Perhaps you did not get the most out of your school days, or possibly you were obliged to leave school before you had completed your education. Or your High School training has slipped into the past, and you are "rusty" on many subjects. Whatever the reason for the lack, you feel that the void is there—and you want to fill in the gaps! This 60-volume HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATIONAL COURSE is just the thing for you—it is comprehensive, easily understandable, thoroughly reliable and authentic, and absolutely up to date.

Whether you wish to study High School Subjects for the first time, or whether you merely wish to review your High School Education, you will find these 60 books exactly what you need. Read the list of titles carefully, as listed at the right—and remember, all you pay for all 60 of these splendid books is two dollars and ninety-eight cents!

Press Wins Contempt Case; 'Gag' Law Issue Put to Vote

Cleveland, O., March 6.—(AP)—Freedom of the press won another victory here today when the Appellate court overruler a contempt of court conviction of Louis B. Seltzer, editor, and Carlton K. Matson, editorial writer, of the Cleveland Press, daily newspaper.

The Appellate court ordered Seltzer and Matson not to pay $500 fines nor to serve 30 day jail sentences which were imposed on them a year ago by Common Pleas Judge Frederick Walther. In addition, the Appellate judges scored Judge Walther for his actions in the case and delivered an opinion that the rights of free newspapers are essential to a free people.

Took Offense at Editorial.

Judge Walther tried and convicted Matson and Seltzer on the contempt charge when he took offense at an editorial in the Press which criticized him for granting an injunction restraining Sheriff E. J. Hanratty from stopping a betting system at a race track.

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, defending Seltzer and Matson, declared that the editorial was not in contempt inasmuch as it did not interfere with the court nor concern a case then pending.

An Age of Publicity.

The Appellate court decision said:

"We live in an age of pitiless publicity where the freedom of the press and freedom of speech are paramount issues, and newspapers should have the right to print what they please, always guiding themselves by the laws of libel. A free people must have a free press and a newspaper should have the right to speak freely its views.

"Because a man gets on the bench, it does not necessarily mean that he has changed his temperament or his liability to get excited, and if he can set himself above the rest of mankind and sit in judgment on grievances in which he is the injured party we are establishing a dangerous precedent."

The docket entry of the Appellate court on the case read: "Reversed, for the reason that the court (Judge Walther) abused his discretion in sitting in trial of the case."

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—The American Newspaper Publishers' association is submitting a referendum to its entire membership to determine the association's future course in protecting the American press from the Minnesota "gag" law, and similar legislation.

The referendum was ordered by Edward H. Butler of Buffalo, president of the association, and leters seeking the vote of American publishers have been sent out by George M. Rogers, secretary.

Col. McCormick Leading Fight.

Mr. Rogers' letter follows:

"The freedom of the press, so seriously challenged by the Minnesota law of 1925 which provides that judges of the district court may suppress as a nuisance any publication declared to be a 'malicious, scandalous, and defamatory newspaper, magazine, or other periodical' has found an ardent champion in Col. Robert R. McCormick, chairman of the A. N. P. A. committee on the freedom of the press.

"Col. McCormick retained counsel to maintain the freedom of the press by lending aid to the Saturday Press which was published in Minneapolis from September to November, 1927, and which was suppressed by injunction issued by a judge sitting without a jury, upon application of the state's attorney.

"The complaint was demurred to on the ground of unconstitutionality of the Minnesota statute, but the injunction was issued and was sustained on appeal to the Supreme court of Minnesota."

Appeal Being Perfected.

"Col. McCormick is perfecting an appeal to the United States Supreme court, alleging unconstitutionality of the Minnesota statute, and is prepared to continue this fight through to a United States Supreme court decision, to the end that newspapers may be protected from suppression by injunction, provided the membership is in accord with such action.

"A referendum vote has been ordered by President Butler and you are requested to record your vote."

A space is then provided in which the association members are asked to subscribe either to the affirmative: "I vote in favor of continuing appeal," or the negative, "I vote against continuing appeal."

Kin of Police Inspector Sentenced in Rum Case

Grover Heidelmeyer, grandson of the late police inspector, Max Heidelmeyer, was sentenced to two months in the county jail and fined $100 when he entered a plea of nolo contendere to charges of dry law violation before Federal Judge Woodward yesterday. John Walters, employé of Heidelmeyer in a cigar store at Broadway and Wilson avenue, was also sentenced to two months on the same charge.

Body of Attorney, Business Official, Found in Lake

The body of Zoltan W. Weissburg, 47 years old, 6816 Paxton avenue, an attorney and official of the Novelty Shore company, 32 South Wells street, was recovered from the lake at the foot of Randolph street yesterday. He is believed to have committed suicide because of ill health.

Justice of Peace Gets 90 Days for Rum Sale

Bela J. Novak, justice of the peace in Lemont, Ill., and owner of the Suburban club in that town, was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail and fined $200 by Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday on charges of violating the prohibition law. The same sentence was imposed on Novak's son, Thomas. Dry agents testified that the two men had sold liquor in their roadhouse.

LEE GIRL DEATH A SUICIDE CASE, CORONER HOLDS

Madison, Ind., March 6.—Although it was revealed tonight that Alice Lola Lee, age 20, of Mitchell, Ind., and Nathan P. Mayfield had quarreled not long before her body was found here in front of the home of Mayfield, a verdict of suicide will be recommended by County Coroner O. D. Emerson, he said here today. Miss Lee was shot through the head.

Mayfield, father of four children, after considerable questioning and finding of frequent mention of his name in papers among Miss Lee's luggage, asserted he found the girl dying in front of his house when he went outside to meet her, as she had requested in a telephone conversation from a nearby grocery. Earlier in the day he had brought her by auto the length of the state from Mishawaka to Madison, he said. Mayfield and his wife differ as to when he received the telephone call.

Mayfield explained today that he and the girl quarreled because she was disappointed that he had planned "a party" for that evening without including her. He had been intimate with her for two years, he has told authorities here.

NELSON MORRIS LOSES SKIRMISH IN DIVORCE FIGHT

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, March 6.—Nelson Morris, Chicago millionaire, lost a skirmish today in his battle to keep his dancer wife, Jeanne Aubert, from divorcing him.

Technically he won his suit for a revision of the separation allowance which the Versailles court granted her, pending the divorce, when the higher court today reduced the figure from $1,000 to $200 a month. But at the same time the tribunal held that the Versailles court is competent to hear Mrs. Morris' suit, although Mr. Morris' counsel and the state solicitor both have claimed that the Franco-American consular convention denied French courts jurisdiction in a case like this, where the couple were married in America and the husband maintains a domicile there.

At the same time the tribunal turned down Mr. Morris' petition to permit him to occupy a room or two in his palatial home at Le Vesinet, which he bought for Mlle. Aubert and put in her name. The tribunal held that she alone must decide who are to be her guests.

WABASH FLOOD RECEDES.

Mount Carmel, Ill., March 6.—(AP)—The crest of the latest flood on the Wabash river has been reached. The river started falling today at 19.6 feet and ferry operations are expected to be resumed in two or three days.

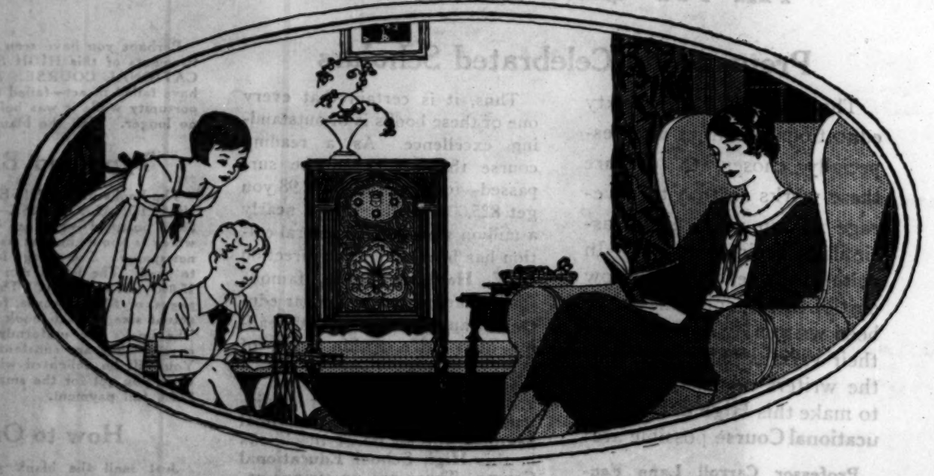
ATWATER KENT RADIO



4872 HOURS
and still going strong

A MAN in Long Beach, California, bought an Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Radio last August and has had it in continuous operation—24 hours a day—ever since.

He wanted to make a personal test of the famed dependability of an Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Set.

At last report his radio had functioned steadily for 4872 hours and was still going strong, without even the change of a tube.

"It has continued to give first-class service and the most natural tone of any radio I ever heard," he writes. "It has proved the superiority and surpassing quality of Atwater Kent Radio."

Probably you will not want to run your radio 24 hours a day. But what a comfort to know that an Atwater Kent is so sturdily built you can count on it for long, long service.

Look inside an Atwater Kent and see the workmanship, just as you would lift the hood and look at the engine, in buying an automobile. See how battleship ruggedness is combined with the precision and finish of a fine watch.

"An Atwater Kent works and keeps on working." For eight years people have been saying that. And for eight years Atwater Kent sets have been proving that they are right.

ON THE AIR—Atwater Kent Radio Hour—Sunday Evenings, 9:15 (Eastern Time), WEAF network of N. B. C. Atwater Kent Mid-Week Program—Thursday Evenings, 10:00 (Eastern Time), WJZ network of N. B. C.

MODEL 1035—Radio of superb performance with a lowboy cabinet of distinction, adaptable to any room in any home. Model 1060—$121, less tubes. $109 LESS TUBES

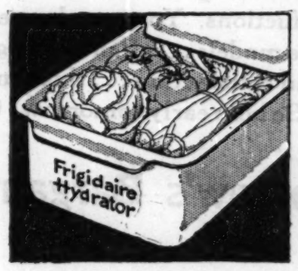
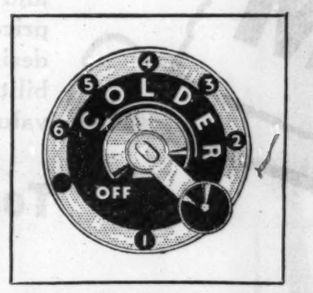
Call at our display room and see the new models now on display.

THE ONLY ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR THAT OFFERS ALL THESE IMPORTANT FEATURES



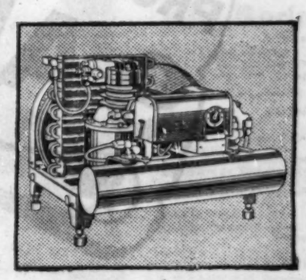
The Hydrator

The Hydrator—offered only on Frigidaire—is a compartment placed at a point in the cabinet where proper cold combines with confined moisture to make vegetables crisp and fresh. And the Hydrator is suspended beneath a shelf instead of being placed upon it, thus saving valuable shelf space.



"The Cold Control"

Do not confuse the "Cold Control" with Frigidaire's automatic temperature regulator. The temperature regulator maintains an ideal temperature in the food compartment—without attention. The "Cold Control" enables you to control the temperature in the freezing compartment, speed the freezing of ice cubes, and make a great variety of delicious desserts.



Quiet, concealed mechanism

PORCELAIN-ON-STEEL

Every Frigidaire household cabinet is now rust-proof Porcelain-on-steel inside and out—a finish that is more than a finish. It is part of the cabinet—combining the beauty of Porcelain with the strength of steel. And it is a finish that will keep its beauty—through the many years of service your Frigidaire will give you.

Exclusive Self-Sealing Trays

The Frigidaire freezing trays are different from those found in any other electric refrigerator. They are self-sealing—permitting intense cold to be used for fast freezing of unusual salads and desserts.

LOW PRICES

Frigidaire prices have been reduced again and again until today Frigidaire values are unequalled in the field of refrigeration. You will be amazed to learn how little it costs to own a Frigidaire, how easy the payments are on our liberal monthly plan, how small is the cost of operation—just a few cents a day—less than the cost of ice.

GRIMM HITS HOME RUN IN CUBS' FIRST GAME

MANAGER BUSH GETS EXTRA AID FOR N. Y. GAMES

Absentee Epidemic Worries Sox.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., March 6.—The protracted character of the holdout business in the White Sox family will make it necessary to employ domestic aid to help to round out the cast for the Chicago-New York games Saturday and Sunday in San Antonio. Removal of the first team to Houston for the first two games of the regular exhibition schedule with the Giants will leave the camp so denuded of roster athletes that the local games couldn't be played without the help of home boys.

Manager Bush this afternoon engaged a third baseman, a shortstop, and a catcher for the second team's week-end. Donie says they're pretty good, although he doesn't know their names. He addressed each of them at today's workout as "Hey, you!" which is sufficient in so far as their association with the Sox is concerned.

Sex on Hand Are O. K.

This emergency matter is explained so you won't be disturbed if you see mysterious names in the San Antonio box scores for the Sox and Giants Saturday and Sunday.

Shorthandedness will not be felt especially in the series with the Giants at Houston, however. Jeffries is in better shape than Absentee Kamm would have been had he arrived a week ago, and Moore should be able to do almost as well at this early date as would Absentee Jolley. Clancy is a better spring player than Absentee Shires and it is doubtful if Absentee Mettler could have made the team if he'd started training in January.

Mr. McGraw has a few absentees of his own, notably Freddie Lindstrom and Bill Terry, which makes the holdout handicap about a standoff.

Nothing has been heard from Jolley, the only holdout whose absence is disappointing the Sox officials. The best available information is that he's en route to San Antonio overland. This bulletin is becoming a bit musty, inasmuch as it first was given to the world about two weeks ago and it isn't a two week trip from Alameda, Cal., Jolley's home base to San Antonio.

Blankenship Gets Call.

In the absence of Tommy Thomas, who went to Baltimore to be at the bedside of his father, Manager Bush will take Ted Blankenship to Houston for three innings of pitching. Ted weighed in today at 190, which is lighter than he's been for four years and some 29 pounds under his peak tonnage.

The second team will be in charge of Red Faber who fast is reaching the status of player-coach. For the first time in several seasons Red is feeling free to tip off youngsters on some of the foxy tricks he knows. Bush welcomes the assistance from a man qualified as Red is, the rookies are happy over the pointers and Red is willing to help all he can. Which seems to make the idea unanimous.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 6.—Charley Grimm, manager of the Cub Rebels, is in the market for a few hitters. He led his boys into actual strife against the so-called Cub regulars today in the first of the intracamp engagements, but the Rebels proved of little consequence with their bats, so succumbed in nine snappy innings by 3 to 1. It was only because Grimm became desperate and hoisted the sphere over the barrier that his nine avoided the added humiliation of a shutout.

There were three reasons for the noncombative inclinations of the Grimm contingent. One was Hal Carlson. Another was Bud Teachout. The third was Bob Osborn. Off this trio of tormentors the Rebels, even though they boasted the services of Cuyler, Stephenson, and Hartnett, were able to assemble only six hits, most of them scattered. Two of this half dozen wallops bumped off the bat of Hartnett. Dan Taylor, the clouting outfielder who has only to supplant Stevie, Wilson, or Cuyler to win a regular berth, accounted for two more.

Score Once Off of Root.

The regulars managed to produce a creditable amount of hitting even though treated to pitching dispensed by such past masters as perspiring Pat Malone and Charley Root. In three rounds Malone gave up three hits without a run resulting. Root handled the next three rounds and throttled the regulars with two hits, but they were paired in the fourth for a run. The last three rounds saw Lou Werneke facing the regulars, who made the going so tough for him that runs were scored in the eighth and ninth.

The prize messages of the day were delivered by Wilson, who hit a couple so solidly that they went back to the palm forest in left field, a mere matter of more than 400 feet away. Hack slapped one of these off Root in the fourth and went as far as third before deciding he was too tired to continue. He registered a moment later on a single past first base by Slow Motion Tolson. Wilson scored again in the ninth after loping as far as second on a long smash off Werneke. Hack made the remainder of the journey on a pair of infield outs. The regulars' other tally was accumulated in the eighth on a pass to Osborn and a two-bagger by English.

Hornsby Has No Luck.

Despite the handicap of complaining feet, Hornsby managed to survive the full nine inning route. The reason for this was that for seven innings they showed their respect for the veteran by not slamming a ball in his direction until the last two rounds. His discomfiture was evident on attack, however. He was up swinging four times without showing any of his real skill. Three efforts were common fly balls off the tossing of Malone and Root. The Rajah's other attempt was a feeble tap to Werneke.

One other participant who was watched with more or less interest was Gabby Hartnett, the renowned invalid of 1929. Gabby carried the pad and mask for the Rebels during the first five rounds and was waiting for a chance to shoot one to second in old time form, but the Regulars refused to run the bases on him. However, he shipped the ball back to the pitchers with the enthusiasm that marked his work up to last season, so there is no reason to believe his comeback is not going to prove a success. If Boss McCarthy wasn't sure about it he wouldn't have had Gabby in there today.

Bruen to Succeed Carey as Garden President, Report

New York, March 6.—(AP)—Reports current in New York that William F. Carey would step out of his post of president of the Madison Square Garden corporation failed of either confirmation or denial today.

According to gossip on the fistic rialto, Carey is to retire in favor of Frank Bruen, now general manager of the corporation. Carey, who became the dominant figure in the garden's affairs after the death of Tex Rickard, is slated to become chairman of the board of directors, according to these reports.

FRANK BRUEN.

No official statement was forthcoming from the garden here, and Bruen, in Miami, declined to comment, except to say that he planned to return to New York next week. Carey now is en route to South America.

Bruen's salary as president, according to those who claim to know, would be $35,000 a year, $5,000 annually more than Rickard received.

Bruins Whip Paterson, 27-12; Trunks Beat Cleveland, 25-15

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago's Bruins defeated Paterson 27 to 12, and now are within one game of Rochester, leader of the professional basketball league.

Chicago's Taylor Trunks, national girls' champions, won their fourth consecutive game 25 to 15 in the six game series for the title with the Cleveland Allerton Aces and hold a 23 point advantage.

Chicago's high school champions of 1929, St. Mel of the Catholic league and Crane Tech of the City league, staged a thrilling semi-official battle for city honors, albeit a delayed contest, and Crane Tech won, 15 to 11.

Such is the summary of last night's triple basketball bill at the Stadium.

St. Mel Lead Fades.

The high school game caught the enthusiasm of the crowd. Alumni and undergraduates, with cheer leaders showing 'em how, produced more noise than the Stadium has seen this season at a basketball game. Crane's rally in the last six minutes brought victory after St. Mel had gone into a four point lead.

The girls' title game was a repitition of Wednesday's battle. The Trunks had an 11 to 5 advantage at the half and their accurate long distance shooting was too much for the Ohioans. Marie Curtin sank three difficult casts while Martin's four baskets gave her high point honors.

Bruins Lead at Half.

Then the pro game. As in the first contest of the series, it was nip and tuck until the second half. The Bruins led, 10 to 5, at the intermission, Nat Holman adding the final two points with the longest field goal of the season. With four seconds to play Nat cut loose from three-fourths the length of the floor and time had expired several seconds when the ball came swishing down from the heights to bank through the hoop.

Paterson scored twice to start the final session, but when within a point of a tie the easterners discovered the Bruins had been only fooling.

Russell's two baskets followed by Holman's dribble in past Benny Borgeman and Hickey's short shot on a pass from the other Nat doubled Paterson's total at 18 to 9. From here on it was a long distance shooting contest, with Voss and Holman connecting from far out and Russell and Bramhall picking up a pair of easier field goals.

Miss Many Free Throws.

Although Benny Borgeman, Paterson star, outscored Hickey four points to two, the Bruins' star forward still holds the top position in the league's high scoring race by two points.

If you're looking for the unusual, the pro players counted only 7 free throws in 19 attempts, which must be something of a record. The Bruins made five in eleven tosses and Paterson two in eight. Hickey and Borgeman tried five between them without success.

Hawks Clinch Place in Title Hockey Series

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Chicago's Blackhawks qualified for the Stanley cup playoffs, the world's series of hockey, without pulling on a skated shoe last night. Defeat of Detroit by the New York Americans left Detroit four and one-half games behind the Hawks, with only four games to play, insuring the Hawks third place even should they lose their five remaining games.

Winning a place in the playoffs was the highest ambition of the Hawks' owners at the start of the year, and they got in by introducing more fast youngsters than any other team in the league. Eight of the sixteen Hawks are playing their first year in the major leagues, though two of them had been brought up before and sent back to the minors, and four others are playing only their second year in big time.

All six teams which will participate in the playoffs now are decided. In the American division the Boston Bruins, New York Rangers and Hawks qualify, and in the Canadian division the two Montreal teams, Maroons and Les Canadiens, and the Ottawa Senators qualify.

The position in which the teams will finish is still in doubt, however, only Boston being assured of finishing first in the American division. The Hawks and Rangers are tied for second, the Chicagoans having five games to play and the New Yorkers four, giving the Hawks a slight advantage.

In the Canadian division the Montreal Maroons are practically but not mathematically certain of first place, holding a lead of two and one-half games over their city rivals, Les Canadiens, while the Flying Frenchmen have only four games to catch them. Les Canadiens, however, are only half a game ahead of the Ottawa Senators, who also have four games to play. Toronto could tie Ottawa for third place if they win their five remaining games while Ottawa loses its four, but that's hardly within the realms of sane guessing.

AMERICANS BEAT DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., March 6.—(AP)—New York's Americans won a 1 to 0 hockey game from the Detroit Cougars here tonight, the goal coming 45 minutes after the start of play on a freak shot by Norman Himes.

For a little more than two and a half periods the teams battled without a score, most of the work being delegated to the goalies, Roy Worters and Bill Beveridge. Only four penalties were called, none in the second period.

Hockey Results

New York Americans, 1; Detroit, 0.
Montreal Maroons, 4; Les Canadiens, 0.

RICKARD WIDOW WITHOUT FUNDS TO MEET TAXES

Miami, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Maxine Elliott Rickard, widow of Tex Rickard, has not received a sufficient amount from his estate to pay taxes and insurance on the family residence in Miami Beach, according to papers filed in Probate court here today.

The First Trust and Savings bank, administrator, filed its petition to charge the estate with $274.20 city taxes and $120.33 insurance for 1929. Attached to the petition was an agreement signed by Mrs. Rickard that these amounts are to be deducted from her share of the proceeds, "provided the estate is found to be solvent at the end of the administration."

HARRISON TECH BEATS PROVISO IN DISTRICT MEET

756 Prep Teams Play for State Title.

A Perfect Game

THE perfect low score basketball game—a 1 to 0 count—featured last night's battles in Illinois high school district tournament play.

Georgetown, scoring a free throw early in the first period, went back to its stalling offense, but Homer, its first round opponent at Westville, refused to come up after the ball. The second and third periods found Homer still waiting for Georgetown to start something. Not until all but three minutes of the final period were gone did Homer attempt to break up the stall—only to fail to score.

The Georgetown athletes sat idly on the floor almost throughout the contest.

High school basketball teams throughout Illinois yesterday began to celebrate the twenty-third birthday of the sport in the state by opening district tournaments in fifty-six centers. Seven hundred and fifty-six teams, forgetting defeats during the season, entered the battle for the district titles with equal chances. The district tournaments will continue today and by tomorrow night a champion will have been crowned in each.

District winners will clash in eight sectional tournaments opening next week for the right to journey to the University of Illinois, where the final game for the state championship will be held on the night of March 22.

Harrison Tech, west section champion of the City league, which won the district championship at La Grange last year, began the defense of its title with a 41 to 21 victory over Proviso of the Suburban league.

Morton, Suburban league champion; Roosevelt, north section titleholder; Riverside, winner of the West Suburban crown; La Grange, Bensenville, and Hinsdale were the other victors in the first round at La Grange. Morton defeated Schurz of the City league, 31 to 15, with Kawal, Rubado, Piha, and Fencl starring. The draw brought Roosevelt and Tilden together and the former won easily, 33 to 16.

Riverside entered the second round by swamping Glenbard, 23 to 5. Leschke headed the scorers with five field goals. The losers were held to one point in the first half, a free throw by Dieber. J. Schoppe's 15 points led Bensenville to its 31 to 19 win over York. Beebe and Schweitzer divided honors in La Grange's 23 to 15 defeat of Downers Grove, counting 24 points between them. Hinsdale and Franklin Park put on the best game of the day before the former won, 20 to 17.

Carlson Wrenches Knee but Finds No Damage Done

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 6.—[Special.]—Harold Carlson gave everybody a scare in the third inning today when he fell to the ground after swinging at a pitched ball. His right spikes caught in the dirt and gave his knee a severe wrench. It was the same knee hurt a few days ago. He pitched the half against the Rebels to make sure he was O. K. He was.

HAROLD CARLSON.

Another camp game is on the books for tomorrow. McCarthy thinks by this battle as well as the one staged today he will kindle the competitive spirit which he wants for the exhibitions with the Los Angeles team Saturday and Sunday.

The annual prize dance for the Cubs was staged in the $2,000,000 casino last night. Trainer Lotshaw and Hank Grampp tied in the waltz, but Andy collected the prize of $10. Lefty Moss showed his University of Chicago ballroom manners in the one step and won. The University of Michigan fox trot as exhibited by Bill McAfee also finished first.

Both hits made by Danny Taylor, who led the International league in hitting and base stealing last season, were resounding smacks. One was a triple into the far corner of left field. The other was a whistling grounder past Bell at third base.

Ol' Jack Britton Beats Al Schell in Ten Rounds

Hartford, Conn., March 6.—(AP)—Jack Britton, former welterweight champion of the world, who is essaying a comeback, handily defeated Al Schell of Boston in a feature ten round bout here tonight. Schell was unable to reach the veteran with his best punch, a left, that Britton dodged with ease. Britton weighed 152¼ pounds; Schell, 145.

TRIALS TONIGHT OPEN BIG TEN INDOOR GAMES

200 Conference Athletes Vie at Minnesota.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Opening events of the Big Ten track and field championships will be held tonight in the University of Minnesota fieldhouse. Qualifying heats in the quarter and half mile runs will reduce the field to at least eight in each final. The meet has attracted more than 200 athletes.

Coaches and officials in charge of the event will meet this afternoon to arrange drawings for heats in the dashes and runs. If they decide to start most of their entrants, it also may be necessary to hold trials in the dashes, hurdles, pole vault, and high jump.

No Outstanding Team.

The entry list is studded with stars, but forecasting a team champion is almost impossible. This is one of the few years there are no outstanding squads. Iowa, defending champion, Chicago, Wisconsin, and Indiana appear to have the best balanced squads.

Chicago has likely point winners in Letts in the middle distance runs, Weaver in the shotput, East in the dash, and Root and Hayden in the hurdles. Wisconsin will score with Behr in the shotput and Goldsworthy in the middle distance events. Northwestern will have Warne in the pole vault and Ford in the dash, while Iowa will be represented by two outstanding performers in Canby in the pole vault and Gordon in the broad jump.

Simpson Leads Ohio.

Illinois will have Sentman and Rodgers in the hurdles, Capt. McDermont in the pole vault and Makeever in the distance runs. George Simpson, holder of the world's record for 100 yards at :09 2-5, will be among the aces of the Ohio State team.

Four Women Golf Stars Meet Today

St. Augustine, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Four first ranking feminine golf stars will meet here tomorrow in the semifinals of the Florida east coast championship.

One bracket finds Miss Glenna Collett, national women's champion, against Miss Maureen Orcutt, eastern and metropolitan titleholder. In the other brackets Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, defending champion, meets little Miss Helen Hicks of New York, who has blazed her way into the top gallery of women golfers.

Miss Collett Wins Easily.

Miss Collett found an outgoing 40 good enough today to bring her to the turn four up over Miss Lillian Holland, New York, and to end the match on the 13th hole, 7 and 5.

Miss Orcutt took advantage of the lack of tournament experience of Mrs. Helen Baughn, Savannah, Ga., and piled up an overwhelming score going to the turn five up. The match was concluded on the 13th, 7 and 5. Miss Orcutt was out in 39.

Miss Van Wie 4 Up.

Miss Van Wie's match with Miss Marion Bennett, Shuttle Meadow, Conn., ended with a four and three score. Miss Van Wie was out in 41.

Miss Hicks found the going difficult against Mrs. Stewart Hanley, veteran Detroit tournament player, and after a gruelling match found the score all even on the 14th hole. On the 15th Miss Hicks put down a long putt to win with a birdie and she won the short 16th with a five. Mrs. Hanley was trapped at the green on the 17th to lose 3 and 1.

CITY Y.M.C.A. BOXING TOURNEY STARTS TONIGHT

Boxers from all sections of Chicago will slip on their gloves in the Central Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, 19 South La Salle street, and set out to win city championship titles tonight and tomorrow night.

There is a tough battle likely for the title in every division from the 112 pound class fighters to the heavies. Among the little fellows, Ed Lipinski of the South Chicago "Y" is out to defend the title he won last year. Ralph Flattum, third last year, again is an entry. There are twelve others who believe they can trim Lipinski.

Peters Wins and Loses in Cue Match; Retains Lead

Badger Five to Play Finale in Old Armory

Madison, Wis., March 6.—Wisconsin's little red armory, scene of hundreds of basketball battles in the last three decades, will see its last western conference game Saturday night, when Indiana comes here to play the Badgers for second place.

The completion of the new $350,000 Wisconsin fieldhouse next fall will provide another place for Dr. Meanwell's pupils to entertain their opponents. In addition, some 9,000 fans will be accommodated, instead of the meager 2,200 which is the armory's capacity.

Three Badger players will sing their swan songs along with the turreted old building which resembles a medieval castle.

Purdue Seeks 10th in Row at Maroons' Cost

Chicago's season of tribulation in basketball ends tomorrow night when Coach Norgren's quintet meets Purdue, holders of nine straight Big Ten victories, at Lafayette.

The Maroons, crippled from the start, have battled all season and their recent victories over Wisconsin and Illinois is proof of their improvement. On the home floor Chicago outplayed Purdue in a previous game in the second half and the margin of the great Boilermaker machine at the gun was 37 to 25.

DEMPSEY HALTS TOUR; WORKS ON LA BARBA BOUT

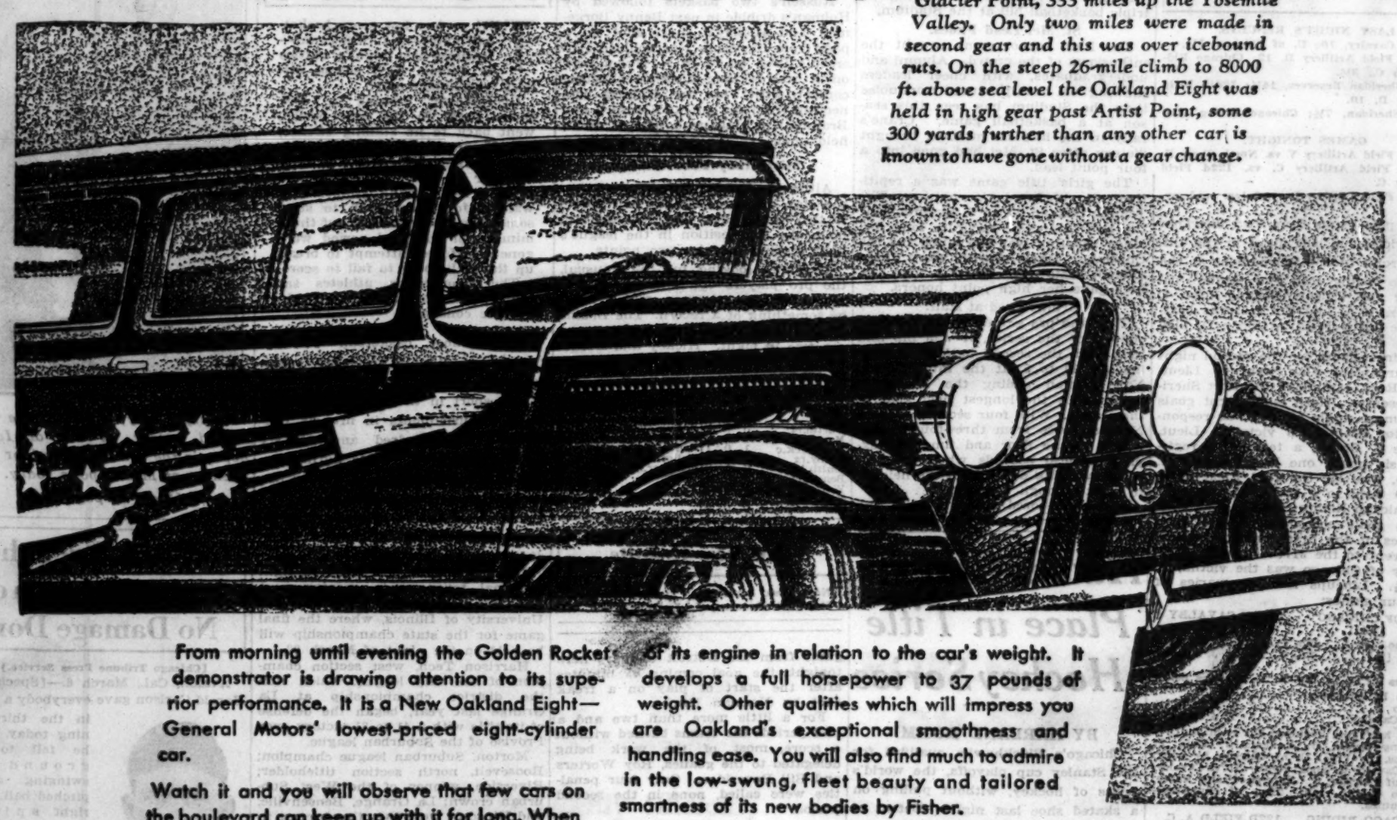
Jack Dempsey, whose boxing promotional ventures at the Coliseum have cost him $50,000, believes he at last has a winner.

He is so pleased with the signing of Earl Mastro and Fidel La Barba for March 21 that he has called off vaudeville engagements to give his personal attention to the match.

When you see the car with the GOLDEN ROCKET ask for a demonstration

A New Record on Yosemite's Grades

On December 27th, A. H. Patterson with three passengers in a New Oakland Eight sedan made the run from Stockton, Cal., to Glacier Point, 333 miles up the Yosemite Valley. Only two miles were made in second gear and this was over icebound ruts. On the steep 26-mile climb to 8000 ft. above sea level the Oakland Eight was held in high gear past Artist Point, some 300 yards further than any other car is known to have gone without a gear change.



From morning until evening the Golden Rocket demonstrator is drawing attention to its superior performance. It is a New Oakland Eight—General Motors' lowest-priced eight-cylinder car.

Watch it and you will observe that few cars on the boulevard can keep up with it for long. When the lights flash green, notice that few cars are able to get away with its lightning rapidity. To learn what makes this superior performance possible, hail the driver and ask to drive the car. Or come to our showroom and arrange for a special demonstration.

You will learn that the superior performance of the New Oakland Eight is due to the great power of its engine in relation to the car's weight. It develops a full horsepower to 37 pounds of weight. Other qualities which will impress you are Oakland's exceptional smoothness and handling ease. You will also find much to admire in the low-swung, fleet beauty and tailored smartness of its new bodies by Fisher.

Whether or not you plan to buy a car now—this is the time to ask for a demonstration and learn what exceptional performance and value you can get in this eight of moderate price!

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

GIANTS DEFEAT U. OF TEXAS, 4-1; REESE INJURED

Umpire Spikes New York Infielder.

Austin, Tex., March 6.—(AP)—The New York Giants ushered in the 1930 baseball exhibition season today with a 4 to 1 victory over the University of Texas nine.

Andy Reese, starting at third base for the Giants, was forced to retire in the first inning, when he was spiked in the left hand by Umpire Boggess as Reese was sliding into the bag. Score:

New York Giants....220	000	000	4 9 1

GRAY'S ABSENCE VEXES PILOT.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—When movietone outfits visited the Braves' training camp here today, Manager Killefer refrained from predicting where his team would finish, but Coaches Blackburne and Austin were not so conservative. Both stated the team was "there." Killefer is worried over the continued absence of Pitcher Sammy Gray. The St. Louis skipper has not yet decided upon his lineup for the practice game with a Palm Beach resort team Sunday.

CARDS' INFIELDER HURT.

Bradentown, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Earl (Sparky) Adams, infielder bought from the Pittsburgh Pirates, was the first Cardinal casualty of the training season. Adams injured a tendon in his left hand today, and went through the day's program with the member bandaged. The injury was not believed to be serious. Coach Buzz Wares, a clever base runner when he was a big leaguer, today took charge of Charley Gelbert, Ernest Orsatti, and Taylor Douthit, instructing them in the fine points of a good start.

REDS' SLUGGERS SHOW OFF.

Orlando, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Harry Hellmann, Bob Meusel, and Tony Cuccinello today demonstrated to John Heydler, president of the National league, the art of fence busting by lifting four balls over the barrier at the Cincinnati Reds' training camp. Cuccinello, up from the Columbus club of the American association, contributed two over the fence clouts.

ROBINS' HURLERS STAR.

Clearwater, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—High powered pitching by Johnny Morrison and Cy Moore featured the Brooklyn Robins' practice game today, the regulars beating the irregulars, 7 to 4. Moore and Morrison were rivals over the last three innings. Neither was scored upon. Moore gave up only one hit and Morrison two.

RUTH'S WAR CLUB BOOMS.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Babe Ruth's bat struck the deciding blow as the New York Yankees' youngsters trimmed Lou Gehrig's regulars, 3 to 1, in practice today. The Babe cracked a long triple and a single for half of the Yannigans' hits. The regulars got only five safeties off George Pipgras and Americus Polli. Catcher Bubbles Hargrave caught one of Rhodes' slants on the wrist and had to retire. Benny Bengough went in for him and the second ball he caught tore off a nail on his left hand.

Hawkeye Asks Open Bidding for Athletes

Iowa City, Ia., March 6.—[Special.]—Substitution of an open competitive system of paying and bidding for college athletes for the present method of "sneaking backstage politics" is urged by Dennis Myers, star guard on last season's University of Iowa football team, in a speech prepared for delivery in the university's annual oratorical contest.

The public which flocks to intercollegiate football games in such vast numbers is not interested in whether the performers are paid or not, Myers asserted.

Says Interest Still Lives.

"If some farm boy out in South Dakota can run a hundred yards in 9 6-10 seconds the public wonders why he isn't in college," Myers said. "They demand the best of athletic ability in the country, and are not averse to lending aid to ability in order to get the best and have the thrills of seeing the athletic performances. In spite of all the charges of professionalism laid at the doors of some of our greatest athletes, interest in their performances on the gridiron and on the basketball court have not died."

Myers asserted that he has played with and against men who were paid performers, and "didn't notice that they were any different from any other athlete in regard to character, sportsmanship and performance.

Suggests Open Pay.

"I also noticed that the public held just as high a regard for these men as for any other. The public doesn't care how a man keeps in school or how he gets his money, just so he is the man they expect him to be in regard to character and ability."

The Iowa grid star declared that the fairest way to the athletes and to the public is to "pay the athletes openly and to bid for them fairly."

Sting Rays and Sharks Add to Florida Anglers' Woes

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pine Island, Fla., March 6.—There's nothing like a husky young shark on the end of a light line if you want a peppy opener for your fishing trip. Around this island where arms of the open gulf reach into the mainland, giving the scaled tribes lots of water and feeding grounds, small sharks come in with the tides to join the sea trout, jacks, ladyfish and other species.

It so happened this morning that a small shark had the doubtful honor of being the first catch when C. P. Durance, game commissioner of Punta Gorda, led a party of us into this section to try conclusions with the fish. As soon as the tide began to turn Durance peeled off his shoes and stockings, rolled up his trousers and waded out on a small bar in a broad bay so that he could cast a lot of water with his wooden minnow.

Wading Stunt Looks Good.

Inasmuch as the sea trout were beginning to roam over the bar this move looked like a good one. Charley Steele, another Waltonian of Punta Gorda, followed with his rod, reel, line and lure. The water was delightfully cool and the sand bottom was soft, making the wading stunt look pretty good to us.

However, the arrival of Mr. Shark changed the atmosphere. And that wasn't all.

With the bluebacks traveled those knife sticking gangsters of the sand bars—the sting rays. We were prancing around on the sand bar enjoying the casting and wading when Steele snagged the twenty pound shark that gave him a dandy scrap on his light tackle.

Carry Sting in Tail.

Moving over to watch the fun from a closer point, we spotted the sting rays, those, flat long tailed boys that carry a deadly weapon in the end of the tail. Step on one of those and you have your troubles.

From that time on it was a case of watch your step or look before you put your foot down and stay clear of the sting rays.

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—The twelve teams remaining in the six day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden tonight provided thrills and cyclonic pedaling for 13,000, the largest crowd of the week. Belloni and De Baets fell from their position among the leaders as the midnight hour approached, but were satisfied with the undisputed possession of second place. Sheehan and Zuchetti rode hard to keep abreast of Georgetti and Guimbretiere in third place.

DUTCH TEAM WINS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 6.—Berlin's thirty-third six day bike race ended at 11 o'clock tonight with the victory going to two Dutchmen, Van Kempen and Buschenhagen. A Berlin team, Reiger and Kroschel, ran the winners a close second. Otto Petri, the American rider, who has had bad luck ever since his partner fell, came out last in the race.

Prizes amounting to $24,000 were distributed after the hard fought battle, which started with fifteen teams and ended with seven. The riders covered approximately 2,124 miles during the race.

COLORADO AND MICHIGAN ENTER CATHOLIC MEET

Colorado and Michigan yesterday were added to the states to be represented in the national Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament at Loyola university, which opens at the Rogers Park gymnasium March 19.

Cathedral High school of Denver and St. Theresa of Detroit were the two additions to the list of entrants, both being chosen because of their records. The Denver school has won 20 and lost 3 games this season, taking not only the Catholic league championship, but also the city and district titles in competition with all schools.

Whenever you see a hat with perspiration spots and stains on the body or silk band, "be it known" that the hat is made with the usual sweat band and it is not an Emerson.

All Emerson Hats, selling at $6.00 and up, are the only hats that have the exclusive, patented Emerson Inter-Lined, Double-Sewn Sweat Band that keeps your Emerson—both body and silk band—absolutely free from stains and perspiration spots.

JOE MARRONE III. WINS HANDICAP AT HIALEAH PARK

Pennant Lass Captures Palm Island Purse.

Miami, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Returning to the races after four months of rest, Mrs. T. R. Queen's Joe Marrone III. today won the Deerfield claiming handicap at Hialeah Park. In winning the feature the eight year old chestnut gelding turned in a performance equal to last year, when he won three of his six starts. Slim Robertson of the Harry Payne Whitney stable was in the saddle and rode a perfect race.

A. W. Wenzel's Low Gear, however, was the victim of a poorly judged ride by Sonney Workman, but managed to finish second, with the Harned brothers' Boris third. Despite the fact that Low Gear's last victory dated back to January the five year old son of Sir Martin was made the favorite. Joe Marrone III. stepped the mile in 1:38 2-5 and paid 18 to 5.

The Wenzel silks were flying out in front when Pennant Lass came home first in the Palm Island purse, a dash of five and one-half furlongs. Running second to the 1 to 2 favorite was August Sutro's Greenock, while in third position was the Brandon stable's Stand By. Fourth and last was Rodrack.

CABANA TO FIGHT DUBLINSKY ON STADIUM CARD

Altering the March 14 card to meet popular demand, Matchmaker Nate Lewis of the Chicago Stadium yesterday signed Emery Cabana, Philadelphia lightweight, to meet Harry Dublinsky, and added Frank Hayes and Jimmy Lundy.

Cabana replaced Joe Glick as Dublinsky's opponent. This bout will go over eight rounds, as will the Harry Fierro and Vidal Gregorio encounter, enabling Lewis to book Lundy, the coast welterweight, and Hayes for a six round opener. There will be four ten round bouts on the program.

St. James Beats Riverside, 34-18, in Church A. A. Loop

Holding their opponents to four points in the first half, and only two field goals in the second period, Grace United Brethren easily triumphed over Riverside, 22 to 8. Other scores were:

Berwyn M. E., 24; Brookline, 17.
Berwyn Community, 30; Thoburn M. E., 10.

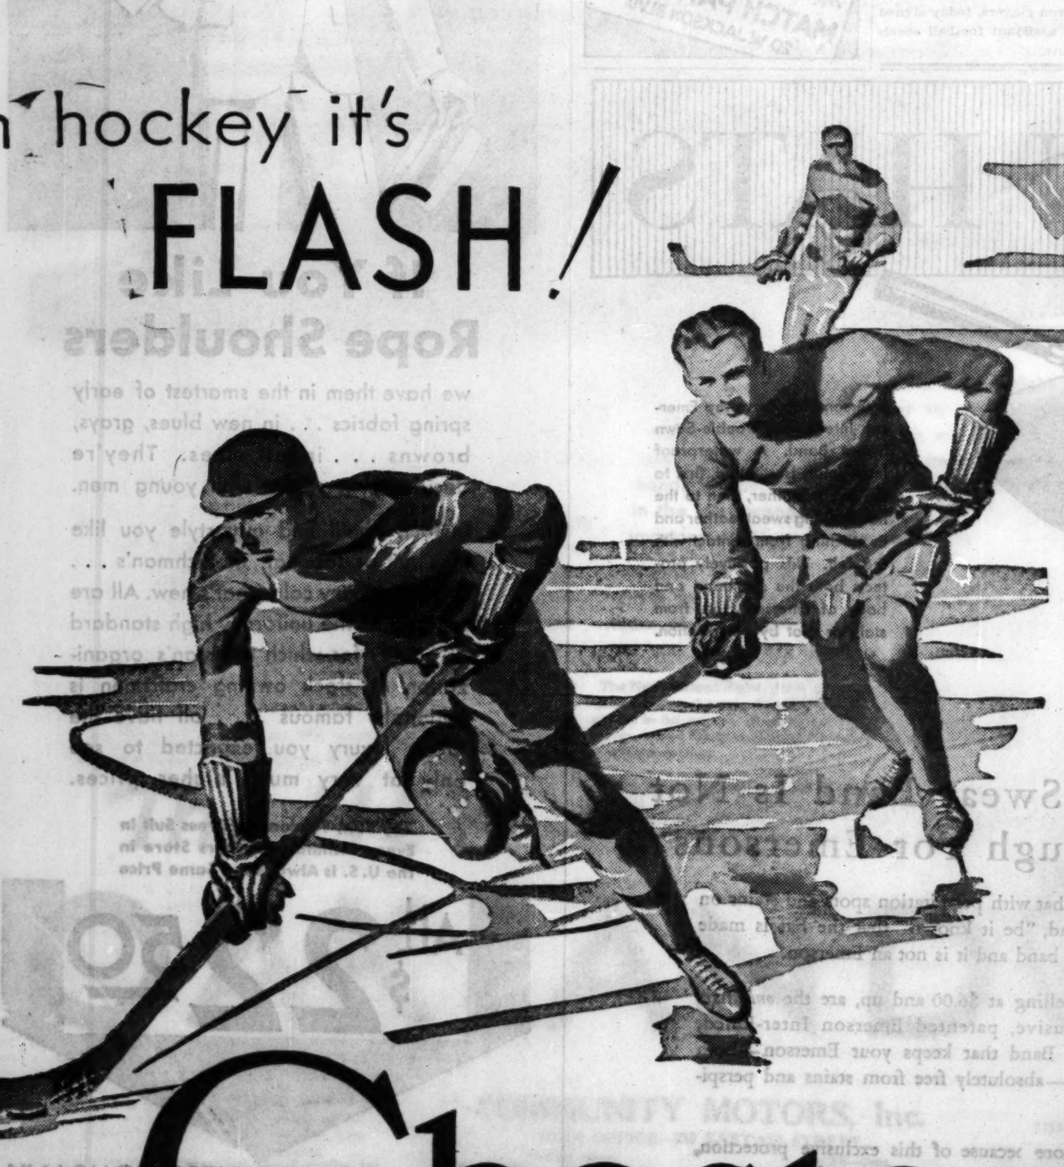
... in hockey it's FLASH!



... in a cigarette it's TASTE!

WE have never forgotten for a moment that Chesterfield's popularity depends on Chesterfield's taste.

Take mildness, for instance; Chesterfields are mild, and yet they satisfy—and if you "know your cigarettes," you know that's not an ordinary combination. Add a delightful spicy fragrance, and that mellow tobacco richness that marks good tobaccos and good blending—and you have the simple Chesterfield formula for unfailing popularity:

"TASTE above everything"

Von Tirpitz Fought for Monarchy's Return.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 6.—Germany today saw in the death of Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz, 81, creator of the imperial navy, the passing of the idol of the "Steel Helmets," the world war veterans' organization. This body expects to pay him a striking tribute at the funeral in the family plot in Munich.

Admiral von Tirpitz, like Field Marshal von Mackensen, came of simple origin. He was not even a nobleman when he started his career in the navy at the age of 16.

Directed U-Boat War.

As an instigator of the merciless submarine warfare Germany engaged in, he was convinced that if the German government had had the courage to allow him to fight his unlimited submarine warfare, without holding back continually, Germany would have won the war. When former Kaiser Wilhelm refused to accede to his plea for such an underwater war, he resigned in 1916 and never forgave the former kaiser until last year.

The drama of the German revolution left Admiral von Tirpitz nearly a broken man. Despite his age he started a new career. He became a politician. He joined the Nationalist party and was elected to the reichstag.

Admiral von Tirpitz was one of the men who went on a pilgrimage to Hanover after President Ebert implored Paul von Hindenburg, now president of the republic, to become a candidate for the German presidency. He was bitterly disappointed when he found that President von Hindenburg, whom he had helped to elect, refused to scheme for the return of a monarchy.

"Outlaw Starvation Blockade."

The last message from Von Tirpitz to the German people and to the naval delegation assembled at London was:

"There is no possibility of coming to an agreement on limitation of armaments until the starvation blockade, the most inhuman of all means of warfare, is completely outlawed. Outlaw starvation blockades and the necessity for keeping up huge navies would automatically be wiped out."

HAITIAN YOUTHS RIOT; PROTEST U.S. OCCUPATION

(Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.)

PORT AU PRINCE, March 6.—Tension in the present political situation in Haiti has resulted in minor disorders, of which the most serious was at Jacmel yesterday afternoon, where gendarmes commanded by American marines clashed with 100 youths whom they dispersed with clubs. Two gendarme sergeants were felled with rocks, but were not seriously hurt.

The rioters, described as "near vagabonds and young men about town," were engaged in a demonstration against United States occupation and against the plan of the Borno government to choose a president to succeed Louis Borno from the council of state, which is composed of his appointees.

These outbursts are annoying the leaders of the opposition to the occupation, who are particularly eager to make a good impression on President Hoover's commission.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Annie Wins

Organist Gives Zest to Elmer's Vigil at Radio

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Larry Larsen's tuneful manipulation of the organ keyboard gave zest to W-G-N's 8 to 8:30 o'clock program last night. Miss Gene Olswanger, soprano soloist, also made some pleasing contributions.

Mr. Jefferson on the 8:30 to 9 o'clock program of W-G-N struck a great stride. At times he was kept busy holding on to his imagination in its wild flights, and it was something of a triumph for the listener to keep pace with him.

For the first time for a long time Walter Pontius, tenor, sang in a night concert, from 9:30 to 10 p. m., the W-G-N symphony orchestra playing his accompaniments and also furnishing additional numbers of its own. It was a telling, lyric-dramatic voice that the listeners heard in the Lament from "Pagliaci," "I'll Sing Thee Songs of Arcady," "Spirit Flower" [Campbell-Typton], and "None but the Lonely Heart."

A condensed version of Gounod's "Faust" with the Metropolitan opera stars Editha Fleisher, soprano; Armand Tokatyan, tenor, and Leon Rothier, basso, singing the principal roles, broadcast from New York through KYW from 9 to 10 o'clock, was the most ambitious program on the air.

NAB TEN; CLAIM CAPTURE OF TAXI "STRIP BANDIT"

Four women, one of whom the police believe is the taxicab "strip bandit," and six men, all members of a gang suspected of more than 100 robberies, were being held last night by the Hudson avenue police. Fifteen robbery victims had identified some of the members of the gang as robbers, and one of the girls was named by several taxicab chauffeurs as the girl who had robbed them at the point of a gun and stolen their trousers.

The ten held are Tony Battaglia, 17 years old, 568 Forquer street; Frank Moore, 20 years old, 3054 North Kedzie avenue; Henry Kopecz, 17 years old, 1105 North Marshfield avenue; George Aueral, 21 years old, 1337 Edgemont avenue; Isadore Zeto, 21 years old, same address; Tony Diomettes, 21 years old, 1341 South 51st avenue, Cicero; Helen Monet, 20 years old, 2425 West 34th street; Rose Johnson, 20 years old, Florence Czeluston, 21 years old, and Mrs. Mary Caleski, 38 years old, all of 1248 North Lincoln street.

GEST TO ADMIT HE'S BANKRUPT, SAYS ATTORNEY

New York, Mar. 6.—(AP)—In answer to court proceedings pending against Morris Gest on behalf of three of his creditors, who say that he is $500,000 in debt, Mr. Gest will admit a condition of brankruptcy, his attorney said today.

The producer himself declined to discuss court angles of his difficulties, referring all queries to his lawyer, E. Forest Trancer, but he said he was deeply depressed by the situation.

"I've had a lot of trouble," Mr. Gest said. "I've been sick two years and was in a railroad accident last year. After that I had trouble with my eye and almost lost my sight.

"Then the crash came, and I had to close the 'Passion Play' in New York last June, and 'The Miracle' got stranded in Dallas in January.

Gest's debts are said to include $100,000 borrowed from Otto H. Kahn and $50,000 advanced by Nicholas Schenck, in each case for theatrical enterprises.

Eielson's Flying Funeral Passes Nome on Way to U.S.

NOME, Alaska, March 6.—(AP)—While services were held in honor of Carl Ben Eielson, noted aviator-explorer, and Earl Borland, his mechanic, who were killed in an arctic crash, three planes from Teller, one carrying the bodies, circled over this town today and then flew on to Ruby. Drifts of snow on the landing field prevented the planes from coming down at Nome. They will resume their flight to Fairbanks, 250 miles east, tomorrow, if the weather conditions permit. The bodies are on the way to the United States for burial.

Babies . . . and Bottled Sunshine!

They need it to help them build strong bones and sound teeth

OR will they be soft and subject to early decay . . . menacing his health and detracting from his appearance in later years?

You can help your baby build good teeth for life by seeing now that he gets a plentiful supply of one essential tooth-and-bone-building factor, Vitamin D!

There are two common sources of this protective element. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil.

Sunshine would protect your baby but it is almost impossible to get enough sunshine on the bare skin to be of benefit. Clothing, clouds, fog and smoke prevent it. Even ordinary window glass filters out the protecting ultra-violet rays.

Authorities urge Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—as the surest protection. And many of them insist on Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil.

They prefer Squibb's because they know they can depend on its high vitamin content. It is not only very rich in Vitamin D, which helps to build good bones and teeth, but also in Vitamin A which promotes growth and increases resistance to many infections.

Your physician knows the importance of good cod-liver oil for your baby. Use the vitamin-tested, vitamin-protected oil—Squibb's. All good drug stores have Squibb's Plain and Squibb's Mint-flavored Cod-Liver Oil.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES ADVANCE, VOLUME LAGS

Bendix and Borg-Warner Both Forge Ahead.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Volume of trading declined, but stocks moved with more zest in the trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Motor stocks and a few industrial specialties had the edge on the rest of the list throughout the session, although the news of the day showed little favoritism.

United Gas and other issues representing natural gas interests were steady, but seemed content to rest on the gains already made. Announcement that American Utilities and General corporation has acquired a large block of stock of the Northern Texas Utilities company explained in part reports that have been going the rounds for days.

Holds Option, Report.

United Gas is a close affiliate of American Utilities, holding concern identified with the Mood-Seagrave interests. United Gas is understood to possess an option on most of the common shares of the Texas firm, and as a result the two affiliated companies are now believed to own or control nearly all of the 240,000 shares of Northern Texas Utilities.

Most of the interest in the motor group was fixed on Bendix, which rose 2¼ points, and Borg Warner, which improved a point. Both stocks were heavily traded in. Formal approval was given by stockholders of Hydraulic Brake Associates, Ltd., for acquisition by Bendix through an exchange of shares on a basis of five Bendix for six Hydraulic.

Allied Motor Industries was quiet and eased a fraction. In his report to stockholders President William R. Wilson indicated that the company intends to extend its interest beyond the automotive and aviation fields in which it is now centered. Aside from stating that the holding company will enter the industrial field no specific information on the plans of the firm was given.

Winton Engine at Top.

Stimulated by the report of the president on 1929 earnings and bookings for the current year, Winton Engine advanced to a new top at 57½. Other specialties, including Bastian-Blessing, Electric Household, and Iron Firemen, showed fair improvement.

Marshall Field displayed weakness, slipping below the subscription price for the first time since its listing. The issue dropped to 48⅝ and closed slightly above that figure. Studebaker Mail Order, on light sales, dropped to 8, a loss of two points.

Grigsby firmed up somewhat on sales of about 11,000 shares, while the rest of the radio group got scant attention. Ceco, on a few odd lot sales, fell to 1½.

LOWER MONEY RATES OF WORLD TO BOOST TRADE

Brokers' Loans Rise 94 Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Worldwide easing in money rates and plentiful credit were the chief developments yesterday. And behind those factors was further evidence of efforts by American and European banking authorities to stimulate commerce.

The Bank of England lowered its discount rate from 4½ to 4 per cent. The New York Federal Reserve bank made no change in its 4 per cent rediscount rate, but there were reports that the directors had debated a reduction and that action may be taken next week. The national banks of Sweden and Denmark reduced their discount rates.

The call money rate on New York Stock exchange loans dropped from 4 to 3¼ per cent, the latter figure being the lowest since Jan. 25, 1929. Dealers in bankers' acceptances reduced their rates to a level of 3⅜ to 3½ per cent. The United States treasury announced an offering of $450,000,000 of nine months' certificates of indebtedness to bear 3¼ per cent interest.

Due to New Financing.

The weekly report on brokers' loans showed an increase of $94,000,000, but much of this was attributed to the large volume of new financing that has taken place in the last week. But the weekly statement of the federal reserve system showed a further strengthening in condition as the result of a slack demand for credit.

The rate reduction by the Bank of England was the fifth since last October. The current 4 per cent rate is the lowest since Dec. 3, 1925. Yesterday's reduction followed the steady decline of open market rates, which had fallen as low as 3½ per cent and thus made the Bank of England's 4½ per cent rate ineffectual. At the same time, the recent influx of gold and prospects of its continuance from Australia afforded a gold reserve position where the bank could comfortably make a reduction in its rate.

It is estimated that a reduction of 1 per cent in the bank rate effects a reduction of $50,000,000 a year in interest charges of British producers and therefore that the reduction of 2½ per cent since last October means an annual saving of $125,000,000.

There had been strong expectations in Wall and La Salle streets that the New York reserve bank would follow the English bank in reducing rates. The New York institution has consistently maintained its rate a half point below the English rate in order not to encourage a flow of British gold to this country. However, open market rates are about on a parity in both countries and the international gold movement has been largely stabilized.

Effect Is Debatable.

There is a question whether lower rediscount rates in the American federal reserve system would do much to encourage trade at the present time, while it might again foster speculation on an undesirable scale. Perhaps the large increase in brokers' loans in the last week was an influence in postponing any reduction in the New York reserve bank rate.

The $94,000,000 increase was one of the largest that has occurred since last September, when stock market speculation and prices reached their peak. Brokers' loans now total, $3,582,000,000, which, however, is $2,946,000,000 less than a year ago. Pouring of bank funds into the call money market was entirely responsible for this week's expansion. The New York banks increased their own loans by $53,000,000, but are lending $11,000,000 less than a year ago. Interior banks added $52,000,000, but still are furnishing $675,000,000 less than a year ago. Corporations and other lenders withdrew $11,000,000, bringing their total $1,278,000,000 below a year ago.

Slack demand for credit for commercial purposes is shown in the reserve system statement. Member banks reduced their borrowings by $34,165,000, bringing the total down to $308,816,000. The reserve banks reduced their holdings of bankers' acceptances by $38,104,000, but bought $3,390,000 of government securities. Deposits dropped $58,872,000, but note circulation increased $4,332,000. Gold reserves increased $5,892,000, but total reserves receded $2,626,000. The ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 79.8 per cent, compared with 78.8 per cent last week.

Borrowings Decline.

At New York member bank borrowings declined $18,725,000 to $39,679,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $11,747,000. Deposits fell $62,489,000. Reserves declined $48,760,000, but the reserve ratio rose to 78.9 per cent, compared with 78.2 per cent a week ago. At Chicago member bank borrowings increased $1,259,000 to $49,755,000. Bankers' acceptances declined $4,290,000. Deposits rose $2,483,000. Reserves increased $13,530,000, and the reserve ratio rose to 82.6 per cent, compared with 82.1 per cent a week ago.

The government's offering of $450,000,000 certificates will be dated March 15 and mature Dec. 15. The proceeds together with income tax payments will meet government needs until next June. The treasury has about $551,000,000 of payments to make this month.

STOCKHOLDERS' VOTE UPHOLDS WM. FOX, BUT VICTORY IS CLOUDED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 6.—Several hundred excited stockholders who cheered and hissed in a fashion most theatrical, furnished the background today for what was scheduled as the final act in a drama depicting the fight between William Fox and the Halsey-Stuart interests for control of the Fox Film and Fox Theater corporations. When the final curtain descended Mr. Fox was the victor—under a cloud.

Stockholders of both companies approved the modified Bancamerica-Blair $65,000,000 refinancing plan, but Mr. Fox's opponents dispute the legality of the vote.

Out of 820,660 shares of class A stock, 564,577 were voted in favor of the refinancing plan underwritten by the Bancamerica-Blair, Dillon, Read & Co., and Lehman Bros syndicate, which gets 9 per cent for lending its financial aid to untangling the Fox knot. A total of 93,745 B shares out of 100,000 also favored the plan, although Richard E. Dwight, counsel for the two trustees in opposition, Harry L. Stuart and John E. Otterson, asserted Mr. Fox had no right to vote 51,101 shares of the B stock.

Mr. Fox's overwhelming victory is merely technical and essentially a hollow one, in the opinion of Halsey, Stuart & Co., which submitted a last minute refinancing plan rejected yesterday by the Fox board of directors, five to two.

In connection with Justice Levy's order denying the temporary injunction obtained by Mr. Fox to prevent the other two trustees, Stuart and Otterson, from voting his B stock, Mr. Untermyer said today that Mr. Fox had appealed the decision and that it should be possible to obtain a decision within two weeks.

U. S. TO CONTROL WHEAT SUPPLY IF NECESSARY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—The federal farm board is prepared to back the grain stabilization corporation to the limit in its efforts to bolster up wheat prices. Formal announcement to this effect was made today by the board in the following statement:

"The grain stabilization corporation will continue buying wheat at the market and remove whatever additional quantity that may be necessary to relieve the pressure and prevent any considerable decline in wheat prices. The farm board is prepared to advance to this farmers' organization whatever funds are necessary for that purpose.

"The stabilization corporation is being accused of speculating in the grain market. There is no foundation in fact for such statement. The stabilization corporation is prepared and expects to take delivery of all grain purchased on futures contracts and merchandise it as the market conditions will permit."

Means Unlimited Funds.

The statement, which was made public by Chairman Alexander Legge, was interpreted as meaning that unlimited funds will be available for the stabilization corporation. Of the $150,000,000 appropriation thus far made by congress from the $500,000,000 revolving loan fund authorized under the farm relief act only about $75,000,000 has been used. The board thus has for immediate use the remaining $75,000,000 and also can get additional funds from congress at any time necessary. It has been indicated that the board probably will ask for an additional 150 million dollars before congress adjourns for use during the next fiscal year.

It is believed by members of the farm board that the mere declaration that ample funds will be provided will go far to steady the grain market. Further declines in prices, it is thought, may be checked without requiring more than moderate purchases. With this stabilizing influence members are confident that prices will rise at least to the loan value fixed upon wheat before a great while as a result of an anticipated foreign demand.

The board, while buying wheat at the market price, will continue to make loans to cooperatives at the higher loan value.

Stored Indefinitely.

Wheat which is being purchased by the stabilization corporation will be stored indefinitely to await disposition at such time as the market can absorb it if possible without resulting in a loss to the government. Actual delivery of wheat purchased in the futures market will be required, it is made evident in today's statement of the farm board.

The visible supply of wheat is estimated at 162 million bu. If necessary, the grain stabilization corporation apparently is prepared to take control of up to perhaps 150 million bu. The corporation already has bought in excess of 25 million bu. Mr. Legge denied suggestions that the operations would have the aspect of an attempt to corner the market.

The statement followed close on the heels of Washington advices saying that it was practically impossible for American wheat to be shipped to China for the relief of the famine stricken areas, as proposed by the McMaster bill. Large quantities of grain are now in storage at Peiping but cannot be moved owing to lack of transportation.

EFFECT IN CHICAGO

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Mr. Legge's statement regarding the policy of the stabilization corporation was construed as moderately bullish by the grain trade in Chicago. It is known that the board has been exchanging futures for cash wheat for some time, and according to trade information, the government now owns

PLAN MERGER TO GIVE N. Y. WORLD'S LARGEST BANK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 6.—Discussions looking toward a merger of the Chase National bank and the Equitable Trust company into an institution which would outrank any other bank in the world by any measure of comparison, are going forward, it was learned today. The combination, if it is made, will create a bank with resources of more than $2,700,000,000, deposits in excess of $2,000,000,000, and capital funds, exclusive of securities affiliations, amounting to over $35,000,000.

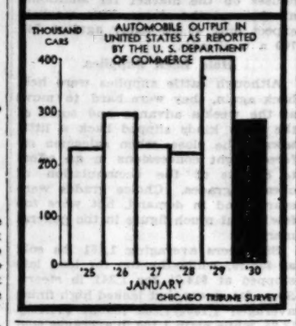
Both the Chase National bank and the Equitable Trust company figured prominently in the merger movement among New York City banks which was an outstanding development of last year's financial history. The Chase bank absorbed the Garfield National bank and the National Park bank in 1929. The Equitable Trust company combined with the Seaboard National bank.

Baldwin Locomotive to Increase Indebtedness

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 6.—Shareholders of Baldwin Locomotive Works today approved a proposal to increase the company's indebtedness to a mixmum of $15,000,000, in addition to the funded debt. All directors were reelected, including Edward F. Fisher, who was elected one week ago to fill a vacancy.

January Automobile Production Compared Favorably with Other Januaries Except 1929



CHRYSLER TO COMPETE WITH FORD, OTHERS IN LOW PRICE FIELD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 6.—Beginning next Monday Chrysler corporation will inaugurate a new sales policy under which the company will compete in the lowest price automobile market against Ford and other manufacturers of small cars.

The Plymouth full-size, four cylinder, four door, five passenger sedan will be reduced in price from $695 to $625, f. o. b. Detroit. All other Plymouth models will be similarly reduced by $65 to $70 under present prices.

The purpose of the reduction in Plymouth prices is two-fold, President W. P. Chrysler announced.

1. To meet the public demand for quality automobiles in the low price field.

2. To enable all dealers selling Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler products to offer to their customers a complete line of cars, including those within the lowest price range.

The offering of the first Chrysler car in January, 1924, is said to have contributed materially in changing the trend of design and engineering in the industry. Later, to meet the demand for low priced six and eight cylinder lines, the company developed a low priced eight cylinder car as well as a low priced six cylinder machine. The corporation, it was said, has never lost sight of the importance of the large volume four cylinder market. It has maintained and developed its manufacturing facilities and has constantly improved and developed the car itself. Since the introduction of the Plymouth car in 1926 its growth has been steady and continuous, the sales reaching their highest levels in the highly competitive year 1929.

Automatic Washer Reports Rise in Sales; Drop in Net

Net income of the Automatic Washer company showed a substantial decline last year despite a record volume of sales. Sales amounted to $2,884,417, a gain of 19 per cent over 1928. Net income totaled $160,600 equal to 58 cents a share as contrasted with $245,514 or $1.17 in the previous year.

Standard of Ind. Reports Best Year in Its History

Standard Oil Company of Indiana had the most prosperous year in its history in 1928. The report of President Edward G. Seubert made yesterday to stockholders at the annual meeting showed that despite a decrease of more than $18,000,000 in revenue from one source the total net income of the company was higher than in the previous year.

Net income for 1929 was $78,499,754, compared with $77,337,166 in 1928. President Seubert cited the fact that an extra dividend of $21,821,870 was received from the Midwest Refining company in 1928, while only $3,118,065 was received in 1929.

Earnings were equivalent to $5.37 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year and $4.65 a share on the 16,850,587 shares outstanding at the end of the year. This compares with 1928 earnings of $5.33 a share on the 9,284,669 shares then outstanding.

Approve Stock Boost.

Stockholders approved the proposed increase in capital stock from 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 shares.

A. W. Peake was elected a director to succeed Thomas S. Cooke, who retired to devote his attention to the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company, of which he is vice president and director. Mr. Peake was also elected vice president at the meeting of directors. He will be in charge of production activities and will direct the coördination of producing operations of the various subsidiaries. Mr. Peake recently retired as president of the Dixie Oil company.

As of Dec. 31 the surplus of the company stood at $71,181,153, a decrease of $85,295,795 from the previous year. The sum of $31,016,899 was added from 1929 earnings, but the stock dividend reduced it by $116,232,119. The balance sheet shows current assets of $19,828,980 and current liabilities of $48,444,028.

Seubert's Statement.

Earnings of the company from operations increased, President Seubert pointed out. He says: "Eliminating the extra cash dividends from subsidiary companies, it will be noted that there is a substantial increase in net earnings from operations, which is due to increased realization on sales of petroleum products, decreased manufacturing cost and marketing cost per barrel, and a greater volume of sales in 1929. There was also a substantial increase in administrative income, due to investment of surplus cash funds in government securities, etc."

Earnings of the Midwest Refining company, 99.93 per cent of the stock of which is held by Standard of Indiana, amounted to $9,388,179 after federal taxes, as compared with $5,743,670 in 1928. The earnings do not take into consideration the earnings of subsidiaries, except cash dividends received. Profit increased chiefly because of a more constant crude oil price, the report said.

OAK PARK BANK IS REORGANIZED; TO OPEN TUESDAY

The Central Oak Park State bank, Madison street and Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, which was closed on Nov. 15 at the request of the board of directors, will resume business next Tuesday, according to an announcement by bank officials yesterday. The statement said that a reorganization of the bank had been completed and that State Auditor Oscar Nelson had authorized the reopening.

The bank was closed when the directors discovered that they had insufficient funds on hand to carry on the bank's business, as a result of frozen assets. They applied to the state auditor, who authorized the closing, and the organization was started. According to the statement issued yesterday, the shortage has been repaired and none of the bank's creditors or depositors will suffer any loss. Willis C. Wilcox is president of the bank and H. G. Goelitz chairman of the board of directors.

Ford Produces 148,160 Cars, Trucks in February

New York, March 6.—(AP)—The Ford Motor company produced 148,160 cars and trucks last month, compared with 100,927 units completed in January. The March schedule calls for 7,750 units daily.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce estimates that the February automobile production in the United States and Canada totaled around 358,300 cars and trucks, as against 283,477 in January and 497,705 in February, 1929.

PRAIRIE-SINCLAIR AGREE TO MERGE, IT IS REPORTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 6.—Agreement on the merger of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation and the Prairie Oil and Gas company into a $600,000,000 corporation has been reached, it is reported today, with an announcement scheduled for this week.

Plans for the inclusion of Rio Grande Oil company into the combine have been dropped after several weeks of negotiation. This combine would have meant an $800,000,000 corporation.

Prairie Oil and Gas, a former Standard Oil unit, is practically controlled by the Bancamerica-Blair corporation interests and is a leading mid-continent dealer in crude oil. Sinclair is slated for chairman of the combined companies.

New York, March 6. — Pool operations clicked louder in today's stock market than they have in a long time. They were visible in many directions and furnished the impetus for many a more or less sensational price spurt at one juncture or another of the proceedings.

Easier credit conditions on a world-wide scale combined with a lower call loan rate helped buying sentiment to no small extent and the rising prices in commodities markets were factors of appreciable consequence.

Nearly half a hundred miscellaneous issues were hoisted to new highs and a string of 2 to 4 point gains were planted where minus signs bloomed so conspicuously yesterday. True, the market had its usual half dozen or so new lows for the year, but the net losses were few enough to justify hopes that the tide has once more been turned and that the advance may be said to be under way again.

Notes Better Feeling.

There was a feeling in the street—based in a large measure on a well spread conviction that by means of a vigorous easy money policy the federal reserve authorities are out to do their share toward hastening a business revival—that it is going to last a while.

The forward movement developed under considerable difficulty owing to a feeling—later justified by result—that the local reserve might not follow the Bank of England in reducing its

the bulk of the hard winter at gulf ports.

As some members of the trade see it, the board's statement, in effect, says that if necessary the government will take all the surplus wheat in the country if necessary to prevent a material decline in values, regardless of supply and demand conditions. The declaration of the carlot delivery rule here for the month of March may result in the farm board securing some wheat in cars owing to the shortage of storage room in public elevators, and it will be up to the board to find a place to put it.

It is not going to be an easy matter for the United States and Canada to sell its surplus wheat abroad, according to Sanford Evans of Winnipeg, a member of the Manitoba provincial legislature, in explaining why he voted against the bill guaranteeing the advances made by the banks to the Canadian pool.

According to Mr. Evans, Europe is beginning to look elsewhere for food staples. It is prepared at any time to cut down its wheat needs by 10 per cent, he said, and can, if necessary, reduce the demand for foreign wheat by 200,000,000 bu, sufficient to break any market.

Prices Close Higher.

Concentrated buying of wheat futures attributed to the government, combined with short covering and commission house buying in anticipation of a bullish statement from the farm board, due to be given out after the close of the market, were instrumental in advancing prices 2⅞@3⅝c after an early break, and while the best figures were not maintained the close was ⅛@⅞c higher. March finished at $1.07⅝; May, $1.11⅝@1.11¾, and July, $1.09⅞@1.10.

The market was subject to sharp bulges and breaks throughout the day, with the pit element quick to change their position when any buying developed that looked as if it was for government account. News developments counted for little, although there was some buying at times by cash houses which was construed in some quarters as indicating export business in hard winters. However, Winnipeg reported a slow demand with sales of only 400,000 bu, and futures there were ½@⅝c higher for the day. Liverpool finished ⅛@⅝d lower with limited interest in cash grain, while Buenos Aires was unchanged at the last.

Corn was dull and easier with trade mainly of a local character, and the finish was ¼@1¼c lower, with March showing the most decline, finishing at 81½c, while May was 85¼c.

Oats weakened early with wheat only to rally with that grain later and finished unchanged to ⅛c higher, with March 42⅜c, and May 43⅜c.

ANOTHER LOW IN COTTON RALLY FOLLOWS BREAK

Liquidation in cotton futures, particularly on stop loss orders, carried prices yesterday down around 40 points, with a sharp reaction later on short covering and buying because prices are down lower than at any time this season. This gave the market a rally, with an irregular close, some distant deliveries being up to nearly the highest of the day. There were net losses in Chicago of 3 to 20 points on the active futures, with other markets 7 to 22 points lower. Net losses at Liverpool were around 20 points and spot sales 4,000 bales.

Spot cotton in New York was off 10 points to 14.50, sales of middlings being 800 bales. New Orleans lost 15 points to 14.25c, sales 3,034 bales. Houston was 14.60 and Galveston 14.80c. Prices follow:

HOG FUTURES WEAKER

Prices on the futures hog market ruled weaker yesterday, light weights showing losses of 5@10c, while most sales of heavy hogs were in line with Wednesday's close. Buying of hogs was mostly for April delivery, although some bids and offers were almost on a trading basis in May and September. Bids and offers for March delivery were far apart.

the decline. An advance estimate of only 16,000 hogs for today against 22,842 last Friday brought larger houses on the market for additional numbers at the close. Five markets expect only 43,000 today against 74,700 a week ago.

Hold Back Supplies.

Although cattle supplies were held back again, they were hard to move at the week's advance and some of the plain kinds slipped back a little toward the close, when salesmen offered slight concessions in an effort to dispose of the accumulation of cheaper grades. Choice grades were scarce and in demand, but were too few to cut much figure in the general market.

Six steers averaging 1,151 lbs sold at $15.25, while the top for load lots stopped at $14.75 for 1,341 lb steers. Some fat steers that lacked high finish averaged 1,150@1,250 lbs at $11.75@12.25, while plain 1,100 lb averages sold at $10.50@11.50. Only the poorest grades of beef merit sold below $10.00. Cows and heifers were mostly steady. Calves unchanged. Stockers and feeders scarce and strong.

Best Lambs Firm.

Better grades of fat lambs were in demand at steady prices yesterday, while others ruled weak to 25c lower, only the plainest kinds showing the full loss. Several loads to packers, shippers, and to city butchers sold at $11.25, while bulk of good grades brought $10.50@11.00 and 95 lb averages $10.10.

Lambs without fleece were mostly 15c lower, a large band of 91 lb averages at $9.25 comparing with $9.40 Wednesday. Some bred ewes sold at $6.00 and feeding lambs around $10.00. One band of 67 lb shearing lambs, suitable for a short turn in the feed lots, brought $10.20.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,500 cattle, 16,000 hogs, and 14,000 sheep, against 2,159 cattle, 22,842 hogs, and 12,112 sheep the previous Friday, and 2,249 cattle, 25,782 hogs, and 11,208 sheep a year ago.

REFLECT INCREASE.

Published profits of fifty-six machinery and tool manufacturers reflect an average increase for 1929 over 1928 of 33 per cent.

ACQUIRES SITE ON GOLD COAST FROM LAWYERS

Wm. Ehrat Buys Vacant at 412-22 Wellington.

BY AL CHASE.

William Ehrut, a real estate investor, yesterday purchased a potential site for a skyscraper apartment building at 413-22 Wellington avenue, 150 feet west of Sheridan road, from Max M. Rappaport and Henry H. Koven, attorneys, for an undisclosed consideration. There is an encumbrance of $81,000 on the property which is vacant.

The ground fronts 100 feet on Wellington and has a depth of 166 feet. It is located in the Gold Coast district extending along Lincoln Park north from Diversey parkway. Arthur M. Wirtz of Wirtz, Hubert & Little, Inc., brokers in the deal, states that Mr. Ehrat bought the property as an investment.

Hints at Tall Building.

Mr. Wirtz intimated, however, that should it be possible to finance it, a tall apartment building might be erected. In this connection, the 413 Wellington Building corporation has been formed. The incorporators are: Mr. Wirtz, H. E. Haynie and F. W. Dimmick, an architect.

John George Wendell has sold the twenty-six flats at 1403 North Kedvale, lot 72x125 feet, to Lars C. Madsen for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $75,000. F. C. Pilgrim negotiated the deal.

Barbecue for the Grove.

Myron F. Willens has leased the northwest corner of Cottage Grove avenue and East Sixty-fourth street, for ten years from Frank Loeffler, who is in turn a lessee from Mary A. Benfield. The lot is 47x64. Mr. Willens is now constructing a barbecue building from plans by Architect Sidney C. Finck, to be known as the Chickadilly.

Title to the ten story apartment building at the southeast corner of Galt avenue and Sheridan road has been transferred by James Bidderman to the 4425 Sheridan Road Building corporation. The structure, recently completed, contains 148 apartments which are being rented unfurnished. Each flat has a radio.

MILTON H. WILSON HOME DEEDED TO NORTHWESTERN U.

The estate of Milton H. Wilson, has conveyed title to the former Wilson residence at 1100 Forest avenue, Evanston, to Northwestern university. Mr. Wilson, one of the founders of Wilson Brothers, manufacturers and wholesalers of men's haberdashery, who died a year ago, left $8,500,000 to Northwestern university. The former Wilson property fronts on Forest avenue and extends along Greenleaf avenue to Judson. The residence contains about fifteen room. Northwestern university has placed the property on the market.

MRS. CARPENTER TO DESIGN NEW BOUL MICH SHOP

Lewis, Inc., women's apparel, has leased a shop in the building at 700 North Michigan avenue from Mrs. Dorothy Patterson Judah, wife of Col. Noble N. Judah, for ten years at an undisclosed rental. Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, who designed the Casino and Arts clubs, has been engaged to design the store interior. Billy Lewis, formerly with Jacques and Saks', Fifth Avenue, is president of the company. Hugh R. Montgomery negotiated the lease.

Gillette announces a NEW BLADE... a NEW RAZOR

No more "razor pull"... No more wiping... with this new blade of processed steel

TWENTY-EIGHT years ago Gillette changed the shaving habits of the world by creating a safety razor with double-edged replaceable blade—an improvement so far-reaching that it has maintained leadership for more than a quarter of a century without essential change.

Today Gillette offers another great contribution to man's shaving comfort—a New Gillette Blade and a New Gillette Razor (patents pending).

The New Gillette Blade can be used in your present Gillette Razor. But the New Gillette Razor has so many points of superiority that any man or woman who has tried it once will gladly discard the faithful instrument of the past.

Used together, the New Gillette Blade and the New Gillette Razor abolish forever the two unpleasant factors in shaving—"razor pull," and the tedious drying of razor parts. Imagine a shave so smooth and cool that you hardly feel the razor on your skin. Think of not having to take the razor apart for cleaning—merely rinse it off and shake it dry. These are only two of the advantages of the new razor and the new blade. Read the other advantages summed up under "Quick Facts."

Back of these great improvements lies a fascinating story of research.

Twenty-seven thousand men have been interviewed. Tens of thousands of used razors were examined. In these studies a discovery of far-reaching importance was made:

Cause of "razor pull" found

In almost every case when a man complains that his razor "pulls," an expert examination shows that the razor has been nicked.

Why should a little nick—even a microscopic nick—spoil your shave? Here is the reason:

QUICK FACTS

1. New blade can be used in your old Gillette
2. New processed steel; new blade resists rust
3. Cut-out corners of blade prevent "razor pull"
4. To clean, turn guard at right angles... then re-tighten... rinse... shake dry
5. New shape guard channel gives full shaving clearance
6. New shape guard teeth meet skin smoothly, naturally
7. No projecting posts to dull blade edges
8. Reinforced razor corners prevent damage if dropped
9. Square blade ends safer to handle
10. Shaves easier around mouth, nose, ears
11. New blades same price as old
12. New razor, 24K. gold-plated, with one new blade, in case, $1.00

The parts of a Gillette Razor are machined to a fine precision. The slightest dent at one of the corners causes an unequal tension on the blade, throwing it out of perfect alignment. The blade may even crack under the unequal tension. Perhaps you have had this happen for no apparent reason. Perhaps you have blamed the blade.

Gillette finds the answer

We could not keep men from dropping their razors. But we could offset the harmful effect. To do so required a change in both the razor and the blade. In the razor we reinforced all four corners of the cap with sturdy lugs made to withstand nearly any kind of abuse.

The blade was treated even more ingeniously. All four corners were cut out; when the cap and guard of the razor clamp together, the blade is not held at the corners. Even if you drop the New Gillette, you probably will not dent it. Even if you dent it, you do not, cannot spoil your shave.

When you see the new blade, you'll notice immediately a different, finer finish.... the result of a new process of treating the hard special steel.

How many tedious minutes you have had to waste in unscrewing your razor, washing it off, and carefully wiping it dry! How many towels have been cut! Now the nuisance of unscrewing your razor, washing it off, carefully wiping it dry—and risking a cut towel—all this is abolished forever; the new blade resists rust. A single twist of the fingers turns the guard at right angles. Then re-tighten. Hold the razor under hot running water. Shake thoroughly. Lay on the shelf. That's all.

Shaves closer in corners

The ends of the blade are square—the old blades were rounded. A square end is much easier and safer to handle with wet fingers... no fishing down the drain pipe for a slippery blade. But even more important, the ends of the blade are much more nearly flush with the ends of the razor cap and guard... much easier now to reach those tough little corners around the mouth, the ears, the nose.

Notice the longer, bent-back teeth

You'll see, too, that the teeth of the New Gillette are a bit longer—rounded a little farther back.

A little improvement? Yes. But notice how smoothly the new razor slides over your skin. A shave so perfect that not a sign of a whisker remains. Yet so comfortable that you have hardly felt the razor.

Blade edge is clear but protected

Still another improvement. The guard of the New Gillette has the famous channel beneath the blade edge. This channel allows the blade to meet the beard full and clear, yet with perfect safety. Until now this feature has been available only in Gillette Razors selling at $5.00 to $75.00.

And the price is only $1.00

The New Gillette Razor, with all its improvements, is now offered to you, 24K. gold-plated and packed in a neat case, with one new blade, for only $1.00. And the new blades of steel processed to resist rust, come to you at the old price... $1.00 for ten.

To men who want the greatest bargain in shaving comfort that $1.00 has ever bought, we say, see your dealer today!

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by cattle men from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house searching for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Jim rides on into the town, after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, who, he claimed, had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes into the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother, Steve. Jim promises her to where Steve is sitting in a poker game with Shear, Buck Roe, and others. As they reach the table the lights go out and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair dead with Jim's knife in him. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She had become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled her. In putting out her hand for support she had touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are questioned by the sheriff, Manders, and Jim is arrested, but is later released. Jim is determined to find the murderer to clear himself. Ellen arranges a meeting to warn him against Dave Moss and Jim learns that Moss is trying to force her to marry his son, Pete. He suggests that she marry him. They are quietly married and Jim goes on with his investigation.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.

EVIDENCE.

Manders turned to Dr. Aubrey. "Did you overlook some bullet holes, Doc? Was that how Shear was killed? Kinda funny none of us noticed it before."

"I'm sayin' he could have done it. Maybe he meant to do just that, but when the lights went out he changed his mind. Saw a chance to do the job without any one knowing who did it. When it was done he lit outa the window on the jump."

"Fine work, Pendleton," the sheriff said, his voice heavy with sarcasm. "And while you're guessing how'll this do for a shot in the dark? We'll make your young friend Rutledge the hero of this one. Some one has threatened his life. He sees how he can kill his enemy in the dark and nobody be any the wiser. He moves up close and drives his knife into the fellow. When the candles come he finds he has made a mistake. Natural enough in the darkness and in all the jostling around. He'd killed Shear instead of the man sitting next to him—Buck Roe."

Jim looked into the opaque expressionless eyes of the officer. It was clear that Manders was trying to sidetrack their investigation, but that was to have been expected. No doubt he knew by now who Blackbeard was, and the Browns were close political allies of his. What struck Jim was that he must revise his estimate of the sheriff. He had known the man to be both shrewd and audacious, but he had not given him credit for subtlety. The hypothesis he suggested was not only plausible but possible. Shear might have been killed by some one striking at Roe. Jim had not thought of that before. By one stroke Manders had brought him back into the list of most probable suspects. What had been lacking in the case of Jim was a real motive. The sheriff had supplied an urgent one.

Why? What was the motive of Manders? Did he advance this new theory seriously? Or was it a veiled threat, a warning to Jim to keep his hands off?

"I never thought of that, Manders," spoke up Roundtree. "At that you may be right. There was consid'rable millin' around and Shear may have been killed in the dark by mistake for some one else. Not by Jim, of course, but by some of Roe's enemies. I judge he had plenty."

"Almost as many as Shear," the sheriff said promptly. "I don't say your young friend did it. I say he had both motive and opportunity, and the knife was his."

"Possible, but not probable, that the killer was trying to get Roe," Jim said with quiet force. "Whoever did this pretended he was jostled against Shear. He let his free hand drop to the long ringlets and made sure of his man. He had to locate his victim's body accurately to drive home the knife."

"That's right," Garrick agreed. "He would know for sure that it was Shear."

Manders looked steadily at him. "Still doing my work for me?"

"Still trying to clear my name," Jim differed, "an' meaning not to quit until I do it."

"You're one of those fools that rush in and won't take advice. All right. Go ahead. I'm listening."

Pendleton took the floor again.

"No sense in gettin' sore, Manders. We're here, like you are, to find out who murdered Joe Shear. I should think you'd welcome any information."

"I told you I was listening," the sheriff snapped out.

"That's all I ask, for you to listen with an open mind," the cattleman retorted. "We're here to show you who did this—and how—and why."

"When you've quit talking all I'll have to do will be to hang the fellow you've picked on," Manders said tartly. "What's the need of so much powwow? Why not come right out and tell me the Browns killed Shear? That's what you're driving at."

"Yes, sir, that's what we aim to prove. We found this outfit of clothes at Mart Brown's house half an hour ago."

"Who found it?" demanded the sheriff.

"Garrick and Roundtree and I. Fact is, I suspicioned Mart Brown all the time. It all fitted in too neat. He arranges for a costume ball at the Green Parrot so as to give him a chance to disguise himself. He goes to the Longhorn. He's in the card room when the lights go out. He's not there when the bartender brings the candles. It had to be one of the Browns. No other way to it. That's why he went out the window. If Mart killed Joe Shear he had to get away, for when he was found in the room disguised every one would know who did it. If he did not kill Joe, there wouldn't be any reason for him to leave so sudden. So we burglarized his house an' found these dofunnies."

"Probably planted there to throw suspicion on him," the sheriff said casually. "That's an old dodge. Come to that, how do you know this Blackbeard was in the card room at all, let alone when the killing was done?"

"Got witnesses to prove Blackbeard was wearing it?" asked Manders.

"Two. Jim here and Miss Ellen."

"The chief suspect and his wife," the officer said derisively. "That ought to go a long way."

"We'll find others," Roundtree chipped in stoutly.

"Maybe so. Then all you've proved is that Blackbeard was among those present. Like I said, these clothes were probably planted by the real killer to convict Mart. You don't know they are his or that he wore them."

"I know the boots are his," Pendleton denied. "There's not another pair like 'em in town. Forty men will swear to having seen them on him."

"Will these forty men swear this Blackbeard had them on that night at the Longhorn?" The sheriff swung on Rutledge and flung a pointed finger at him. "Come clean, young fellow. Could you swear that yourself?"

"No," admitted Jim. "But it's not necessary. That's covered by other evidence."

Dr. Aubrey took his plaster casts from the carpetbag and put them in other on the table. He cleared his throat, set his feet, and shifted his shoulders in the seersucker coat.

"When we discovered that somebody had left the card room by the window, Mr. Manders, we thought it as well to make a permanent record of any footprints there might be outside. You will recollect that it had been raining during the early part of the day and in places the ground was muddy. We decided——"

The sheriff waved his explanation aside impatiently. "I know all about it, doctor. I'm not sitting here like a bump on a log. Word reached me of what you'd been doing. Some more amateur detective stuff. Why didn't you come to me instead of pulling off that mysterious softfooting around?"

"We've come to you now, sir, just as soon as we have something tangible to offer. I have brought with me the casts of the footprints we found outside the window. You will observe that this boot exactly fits the depression made by one of the parties outside."

"Ah! You found footprints left by more than one person. That what you mean?"

U. of C. Scientist Takes Pictures of Split Atoms

Shows Throbbing Electrical Energy in Matter.

Separation of the atom into electrically charged particles far too small for the most powerful microscope to detect and moving with many times the speed of light was demonstrated yesterday.

Prof. Arthur J. Dempster discussed his experiments before the Physics Clubs of the University of Chicago at the Ryerson laboratory. In January the professor won a $1,000 prize from the American Association for the Advancement of Science for his work in the study of the construction of atoms.

The atom, long considered the smallest division of matter and for many years regarded more as a convenient hypothesis than a fact of late years has been found to be composed of smaller divisions of matter, some carrying negative and others positive charges of electricity. The movement of these particles has been shown by Prof. Dempster to be many times faster than light.

Some chemists have called these tiny particles ions.

Making use of a highly charged magnetic field, Prof. Dempster shot positively charged ions, which are called protons, against a calcite crystal. He found that from them he could receive wavelike impressions on a photographic plate. These experiments were made with hydrogen protons.

By using an uncut diamond Prof. Dempster experimented with atoms that are heavier than those of hydrogen. The atomic weight of hydrogen is taken as the basis of comparison for the weights of other chemicals in general chemistry.

Prof. Dempster found in the heavier atoms protons also vibrating faster than light. He obtained similar wavelike impressions on a photographic plate. He displayed his plates to the Physics club yesterday.

As a conclusion drawn from the tests Prof. Dempster says:

"It may very well be that the wave form is not a characteristic or function of matter, but rather a function of the electrical charge which the matter carries."

Judge to Address Students.

Judge Max Luster of the Municipal court will address the students of Loyola university law school there today.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Do you like to see spring weather start in February?

The Answers.

Miss Adeline Korbel, 2431 South Highland avenue, Berwyn, comptometer operator—Only if it continues. But women are not prepared for it as far as clothes are concerned. I like it cold in winter, as I am fond of outdoor sports, especially skating; warm in summer, so I can swim, play tennis, and take part in summer sports.

Stanley L. Bonczek, 2103 North Hoyne avenue, salesman—No. If it is warm in February and cold in March, then warm in April and cold in May—late cold spells are not uncommon—it makes it bad for budding fruit trees and early plantings on the farm. The ideal for man, beast and vegetable life is a gradual shift from zero cold of February to the warmth of spring.

Miss Winifred McGrath, 1436 East 66th place, stenographer—I like warm weather the year around. Last February was the warmest February I ever enjoyed. I was able to play tennis outdoors in February, the first time that ever happened to me. Tennis is my weakness among several other outdoor sports I am interested in. That's why I like warm weather.

H. G. Warvel, 2634 Burling street, supervisor—I do not. When it is abnormally warm in midwinter the trees become active and start budding. With the first cold snap or the return of seasonal March weather these prematurely formed buds and other new sproutings are frozen and killed. If the start is too early the country suffers for it.

Miss Marion West, 2833 Cambridge avenue, jewelry saleswoman—I would like spring to start in at the first part of winter and last till the last part of summer. Spring is the starting of the year, and I like the starting of everything. I like things best before they get old.

Swift & Co. Chorus Well Balanced and Gives Good Program

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It has been the fortune of the Swift & Co. male chorus to grow from an unostentatious beginning to a state of rather notable competence. Appearing at Orchestra hall last night under the conductorship of D. A. Clippinger, they presented a list of songs that displayed the major virtues of both ability and good training.

Going in less for loud singing than honest singing, the chorus was well balanced, accurate, and sincerely concerned with the projection of texts as well as the expression of music. They made an excellent impression at the start with an excerpt from Handel's "Samson" and continued it with Palestrina's "Tenebrae factae sunt," two numbers seldom heard outside of professional ranks and none too often there.

"Fireflies," set to a Russian folk song, was done so lightly and deftly that its repetition was demanded, and there was a similar demand for "Fuzzy Wuzzy," the Kipling poem in Oley Speaks' setting with George Krueger as soloist, though this, from its length was something as though a pianist should seek to encore himself by repeating Schumann's "Etudes Symphoniques." However, there was plenty of other solid, even excellent singing in the rest of the program, not forgetting the organization's prize song of the year, Franz C. Bornschein's setting of Catharine Parmenter's "Outward Bound," in which Gilbert Ford had a much too brief incidental solo.

One of the most important features of the concert was its guest artist, Claire Dux. In two groups of songs she was the source of some of the most exquisite singing of the season, the kind of singing that is governed by a lovely voice, scrupulous, faithful musicianship, and a personality that radiates utter charm.

It is perhaps a matter of choice as to the best of the dozen or more songs that she sang—she has never been known to offer a bad one—but the selections of this department are Erich Wolff's "Schlummerlied," Frederick Stock's "Im Volkston," and Worth's "Spring." She was an enormous success with the audience in all, and whether she faced the house or turned her back to give special attention to the chorus on the stage, the grace, the daintiness, the human sincerity of every phrase became ideally lovely singing.

Historic Chicago Sites.

Historic sites in Chicago will be described by Dr. William H. Johnson in his weekly illustrated lecture at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Chicago Historical society.

PRELATE HERE

THE RT. REV. F. L. DEANE.

The Rt. Rev. Frederic L. Deane, lord bishop of Aberdeen and Orkney, returned to Chicago yesterday after a tour of the Pacific coast. His return to Chicago was called for by a group of citizens headed by David R. Forgan and the Rev. Stephen E. Keeler, rector of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, to aid in the promotion of a fund to build a Lincoln memorial transept in the new cathedral in Aberdeen.

Bishop Deane came to America several months ago on the invitation of the bishops of the Episcopal church to advance a project to build a cathedral in Aberdeen as a memorial to Bishop Samuel Seabury, first bishop of the Episcopal church in America. Bishop Seabury was consecrated by Bishop Deane's predecessors at Aberdeen. Bishop Deane stated the Seabury cathedral in Aberdeen will be the first church ever erected on British soil by American money. He pointed out that many of the churches in America were built in colonial days by British funds, and that the generosity now apparent will do much to cement the friendly relationships of the two nations. The cathedral will be "all American," according to the Aberdeen bishop.

Jobs for Elderly Are on Decrease, U. of C. Professor Says

Both the birth rate and the death rate are declining. On that account the aged portion of the populace is steadily increasing. The advent of the machine age gradually has reduced the number of jobs available to elderly people.

These are the conclusions of Prof. Paul Douglas, economist of the University of Chicago. He will discuss his theories today at a conference of thirty experts, meeting at the university under auspices of the Samuel Deutsch foundation and the school of social service administration. Part of the discussion will dwell on the benefits of government pensions for the aged as opposed to the almshouse system.

"Since 1890 the number of Chicagoans over 65 years old has increased from 21,000 to 85,000," said Prof. Douglas. "The percentage of aged has risen from 2 per cent in 1890 to 3.2 per cent in 1920 in Chicago. For the state as a whole the percentage ranges from 3.6 in 1890 to 4.6 in 1920."

Lane Theological School to Merge with Chicago Group

Merger of the Lane Theological seminary of Cleveland, O., with the Presbyterian Theological seminary of Chicago was approved yesterday by trustees of the former institution, according to a dispatch from Cleveland.

Merger of the two institutions, which has been under consideration for three years, must be approved by the Hamilton county court of common pleas before becoming effective, it was said.

Under the merger plan the Cleveland institution will be transferred to Chicago and the united schools will be known as the Lane Seminary Foundation of Chicago.

Lane seminary is 101 years old while the Presbyterian Theological seminary, formerly called the McCormick Theological school, recently celebrated its one hundredth birthday. Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, is president of the Chicago institution.

THE STAGE

"CITY HAUL," a comedy satirizing municipal politics, will open an engagement at the Cort theater next Wednesday night. It will come here directly from New York with the original cast, which is headed by Herbert Rawlinson in the rôle of a mayor who specializes in jaunty tailoring. Elizabeth Miele, the author, says that this character was not meant to resemble the Honorable Jimmy Walker of New York City, but perhaps Mr. Rawlinson thinks it does.

The scene of the story is "a city in Illinois"—which, Miss Miele declares, is not intended to be Chicago. The action takes place in the mayor's office, and twenty-one characters represent aldermen, police officers, reformers, bootleggers, reporters, and the other types who are supposed to hang around a mayor's office, trying to run the town.

"The Little Show," a revue of the "intimate" type which has a year's run in New York to its credit, will begin an engagement at the Selwyn theater Easter Sunday, April 20. Its full array of Manhattan entertainers will participate, including Clifton Webb, Fred Allen, and Libby Holman. Jane Cowl will end her stay at the Selwyn in "Jenny" a week from tomorrow. Nothing is in sight there until "The Little Show" somes along.

Having declined "Elizabeth and Essex," the Princess theater extends its nonreceptive policy to Richard Bennett in "In Command." So there is nothing on its schedule after "Dear Old England" closes.

"Elizabeth and Essex" is now being called "The Royal Virgin." Detroit is sampling it at present. The piece will probably drift into New York to try its luck on or about St. Patrick's day.

H. Granville Barker has rewritten "The National Theater," a work which he and the late William Archer published about twenty-five years ago. He has incorporated into the text plans for an institution worthy to bear that title in this country or in England, based upon the work of repertory theaters here and abroad.

Mr. Barker, once a leader of the intellectual drama in England, retired from active play production about fifteen years ago, and has devoted himself to writing. He and his wife have been active in translating and adapting modern Spanish dramas for use on the English and American stage. Ethel Barrymore's vehicle, "The Kingdom of God," is one of these pieces. "The Cradle Song," which Eva Le Gallienne staged, is another. And "Papa Juan" [formerly "A Hundred Years Old"] which Otis Skinner brings to the Erlanger March 17, is a third.

The Theater Treasurer's Club of Chicago will hold its eleventh annual ball in the Hotel Sherman tomorrow night. Stage celebrities will attend in numbers, of course. The list of acceptances includes Lynne Overman, Phil Baker, Mitzi, Francine Larrimore, Jane Cowl, Erin O'Brien-Moore, Margaret Perry, Elizabeth Risdon, and Guy Robertson. The party will begin at 11 o'clock. Tickets may be bought at any box office.

Marc Connelly's play of Negro Bible lore, "The Green Pastures," has aroused so much curiosity in New York that it will be brought out immediately in book form. The firm of Farrar & Rinehart announce it for publication on March 15.

The New York premiere of "The Matriarch," which the Dramatic league of Chicago sponsored, has been set for Tuesday, March 18, at the Longacre theater. C. C.

BEG YOUR PARDON

On Sunday, Feb. 23, THE TRIBUNE stated that Erwin Wasey & Co., Ltd., was the first advertising agency here to win the Harvard advertising award. The Harvard award was given to the J. Walter Thompson company for 1924.

Instead of voting against the soy bean tariff, as was stated in THE TRIBUNE last Monday, United States Senator Deneen supported the demands of the farmers in reference to this product. Joseph C. Mason, secretary to the senator, called attention to the error.

Willie Often Knows Best, Parisian Says

The letting-Willie-express-himself idea which some modern psychologists advocate in managing more successfully the children of this generation, received the support yesterday of a Parisian psychoanalyst on his first visit to Chicago. Little Willie, in the opinion of Dr. Otto Rank, gets along better, perhaps, without too much early intervention on the part of his parents.

Dr. Rank, in this country only since last Tuesday, formerly was of the University of Vienna, a student of Dr. Sigmund Freud for 20 years, and for the last ten years has edited various psychoanalytic journals. The Freudians may recall that their Herr Doctor was a pupil of the late Dr. Charcot in Paris. Dr. Rank was a speaker yesterday at the fifth annual conference of the Chicago Association for Child Study and Parent Education.

More than 3,000 parents, educators, and social workers attended the first of the three day sessions at the Palmer house, called to discuss the emotional life of the child.

"Early education ought, first of all," Dr. Rank declared, "to develop a child's given impulse disposition, not subject it to correction. Indeed, even when it appears to be in need of correction, we must ask ourselves whether too early intervention is not to be avoided, just as much as too late intervention.

"So the educational ideology of modern psychologists proves to be as conventional as that of the old school of pedagogues—namely, it wants to correct and restrict the child. The only justification of bending the will now is a psychological one.

"The former handling of emotional life in education was relatively simple," Dr. Rank continued. "One met the child's emotions with one's own feelings, that is, emotionally, without bothering about the origin and significance of the feeling itself. The primitive method has succeeded fairly well these thousands of years, because feeling reacts most of all on feeling and is influenced by it."

A child becomes a member of society when he falls in love. That time, according to Dr. Edward S. Ames, professor of philosophy of the University of Chicago, is about the time he becomes a freshman in high school.

"Up to that time the child is an individualist with marked anti-social tendencies," Dr. Ames said. "The child under twelve prefers to run races, play tag and jump in his play, rather than take part in more cooperative games such as baseball and football.

"Up to the time he falls in love, the child will coöperate with his fellows only upon an emotional basis. His realization of love also brings a realization of the importance of others in the social system."

Dr. Anton J. Carlson, chairman of the department of physiology of the University of Chicago. He called anxiety probably the most harmful of the emotions because it continues over a long period of time. Worry over school work, he said, may seriously impair the digestive process.

The fundamental characteristic of neurotic personality is an imagination that fails to express itself effectively on external social reality, according to tests made of nearly 700 freshmen at the University of Chicago by L. L. Thurstone, professor of psychology. There is little relation, the test indicated, between intelligence and neurotic personality. On the average as shown by grades, the neurtoic students appear to be better students than their well adjusted mates.

The problems of the care of dependent, defective and delinquent children will be discussed today and tomorrow at a meeting of the midwest section of the Child Welfare League of America in the Auditorium hotel. Three hundred social workers from ten states are expected. Augustana Bronner of the Judge Baker foundation, Boston, will talk on the emotional problems of the child this ing. C. C. Carstens, executive tor of the Child Welfare League of America, will tell of the modern methods of child care at the luncheon meeting, and at the dinner meeting Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, will discuss the state and the child.

Parties at Club or Hotel Need a Personal Touch

Hostess Can Supply the Small Details.

BY SALLY LUNN.

In the olden days, when families lived in houses, the practice of "entertaining out" was practically unknown. It came into vogue along with living in apartments, because housewives, being used to unlimited space in kitchen and pantry as well as the other living quarters, found it difficult to adapt their old ways of entertaining to their new mode of living. Clubs and restaurants increased as "dining out" became necessary or desirable. Now, having accustomed ourselves to a more cramped mode of living, we feel we can entertain at home, no matter how small our residence is, but we still are grateful for the more public places for certain occasions, particularly emergencies.

Many women resort to entertaining at the country club or at a hotel or restaurant merely because they are too indolent to make the effort to entertain at home. This is deplorable; but, after all, it is their affair, and they are doubtless not interested in our table decoration studies, anyway.

Personal Touch Is Easy.

There are, of course, numerous times when giving a party at a public or semi-public place is entirely desirable. In such a case a prospective hostess may, with a small amount of exertion and thought, add a more personal touch to the affair than if she just leaves everything to the management.

Usually the hostess or host phones the club, restaurant, or hotel that is to be the locale for the party and confers with the steward or maitr d'hôtel. She or he orders the meal and arranges for a floral centerpiece. In choosing your favorite place to entertain you probably subconsciously take into account the appointments of the table and the service as well as the cuisine. In selecting flowers remember the type of linen and china used and try to make a choice that will harmonize well with the setting.

At some fashionable clubs the pantry includes a variety of table ornaments that you may use, and these, naturally, give the table a smarter and more individual appearance. It is well to arrive at the place a few minutes ahead of time, not only that you may be on hand to receive your guests when they arrive but also to take a final look at the table and assure yourself that all is well.

Small Details Important.

Distributing the cigarets, placing favors or place cards, and, perhaps, arranging the flowers yourself are details to which you can best attend yourself. A stiff bunch of flowers stuffed into a vase by an unthinking employé of the place is hardly better than no flowers, and the effect of packages of cigarets torn open carelessly is one that you would not tolerate at home and should avoid in public.

The idea is to reproduce as nearly as possible a well managed home party with some of the features that can be even better provided than at home. If you do not care for the vases supplied by the hostelry take your own and add candlesticks if desired.

Don't shirk the responsibilities of hostess entirely because you are shifting to other shoulders the burden of the job of entertaining.

CITY WILL TEST SUN'S RAYS ON TOWER IN LOOP

A new station for the testing of sunshine to determine the quantity and quality of its ultra violet rays will be established today by the health department on the tower of the Foreman Bank building, according to an agreement reached yesterday between Health Commissioner Kegel and representatives of the bank. The sunshine readings obtained at the tower will be compared with readings at the street level to show what effect smoke has in cheating Chicagoans of the healthful rays.

"The sun rays are beginning to have a definite health value after a period of nearly five months when the rays were too weak to be of much benefit to Chicagoans," said Dr. Fred O. Tonney, chief of the health department laboratories, who has experimented with the ultra violet rays for years. "It is important now to eliminate smoke so that the people can realize on the health benefit from the rays."

$30,000 Fire Wrecks New Home of Chicago Broker

A new residence being erected at Beach road and Greenleaf avenue, Glencoe, by August Gatzert, investment broker with offices at 231 South La Salle street, was wrecked by a mysterious fire which broke out in the unfinished building early yesterday. The loss was estimated at $30,000.

Here is a little office system to be applied in the home. In the spring, I clean the galoshes, winter mittens, gloves and leggings of each member of the family, and then wrap them in newspaper. I label each package with a sticker bearing owner's name and contents of bundle. I also wrap and label other articles that are not to be in use for a while, thus keeping them clean and new.

I keep a few pretty and weighty jagged stones handy. I find them useful when I wish to toss money or a note out of the window to some one waiting below. Paper money may be wrapped around the stone and held with a rubber band, and a note will drop more accurately with this added ballast. F. W. B., Chicago, Ill.

Small, brass-headed tacks along the front edge of your sewing machine or table, carefully measured off to show a quarter, a half, and a yard space, will be found to be a great convenience. M. S., Canton, Ill.

WIFE TESTIFIES SHE BEAT UP STENOGRAPHER

Clarksdale, Miss., March 6.—(AP)—Mrs. K. A. Carney, prominent club woman and religious worker here, on trial for assault with intent to kill for an attack on Miss Mae Ross, her husband's stenographer, admitted on the witness stand today that she beat Miss Ross, but denied she threatened to kill her.

"I hit her several times with my hand, but did not hurt her seriously, when she refused to cease relations with my husband," Mrs. Carney testified.

Miss Ross charged in her testimony yesterday that Mrs. Carney beat her two hours after driving her several miles from town, threatened her life, and ordered her to leave the city.

Mrs. Carney testified that a friend told her Carney and Miss Ross were "keeping company." She said she asked the stenographer what she meant by "running around with my husband," and that Miss Ross replied: "It is none of your business. He is easy and I am going to get all I can out of him."

Asks Council Inquiry on Funds for Traffic Lights

Charges were made to the city council yesterday by Ald. O. E. Northrup [19th] that a number of traffic signal lights have been installed without a proper appropriation for the cost. He asked the council to authorize its traffic committee to investigate the policy of the city in the installation of the signal lights in order to determine if the cost is taken from appropriations intended for the installation of street lights.

6 Chicago Census Offices Opened; 4,000 on Staff

Six of Chicago's seven census offices were opened yesterday, and some 4,000 persons selected as enumerators began informing themselves on the routine they must follow when they count the population of the city the first two weeks in April. Six of the seven supervisors opened their headquarters in various parts of the city, but the location of the seventh had not been decided upon.

Production of Citrus Fruits Mounts Higher

Last Four Years Show a Steady Expansion.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The wave of popularity on whose crest citrus fruits, especially grapefruit and oranges, have been carried to hitherto unknown heights of consumption is being followed by another wave of mounting production in nearly every section of the United States where groves will thrive and bear fruit.

During the last four years, according to federal horticulturists in Washington, expansion has been the order of the day, principally in Florida, Texas, and California. Many acres of trees now in bearing have not reached the age of maximum yield, with the result that a large increase in production may be expected in years when favorable growing weather prevails.

"Of the total shipments of oranges in the United States," the bureau of agricultural economics states, "about 66 per cent move from November to April inclusive. Practically all of the crop, except the California Valencias, move during this period. Assuming an average of 70 trees per acre, total orange acreage in Florida is estimated at 195,000 acres, of which about 15 per cent is nonbearing."

Greater Production Ahead.

Under more favorable conditions than have prevailed in recent years a material increase in Florida's output of oranges and grapefruit may be expected. Texas, however, with an acreage of 18,900, has only about one-fourth of its trees in bearing yet and will become increasingly prominent as a source of the nation's citrus fruit supply.

As contrasted with the situation in Florida and Texas, California's Washington navel orange production has about reached its peak. Only 3 per cent of the 100,500 acres devoted to this crop is nonbearing, while a further increase in production of California Valencias is to be expected. A total of 112,200 acres, of which 19 per cent is not bearing yet, are devoted to Valencias.

During the 1928-'29 season more than 1,500,000 boxes of oranges were shipped to foreign markets, exclusive of Canada. Most of these were Valencias, shipped between May and October, indicating the increasing popularity of this variety. In view of the growing competition in European markets from orange groves of South Africa and Brazil, growers of winter oranges are expecting a more limited outlet in European countries. Spain and Palestine are also becoming factors in the world's supply of this fruit.

Foreign Markets Grow.

"There are good prospects for continued expansion in the foreign markets for grapefruit," is the latest encouraging word from agricultural economists. "In 1929 Great Britain took more grapefruit than ever before, but the per capita consumption there is still much lower than in the United States or Canada. Porto Rico is supplying an increasing share of the British grapefruit imports."

Florida has an estimated 80,000 acres devoted to grapefruit trees, nearly all of bearing age. Texas has about 70 per cent of the Florida acreage, one-fifth of which is productive at present. California's bearing acreage is now 9,000, with a reported 11,800 acres to be in bearing by 1932.

Canning of grapefruit is becoming a constantly greater outlet for the producers in this rather new branch of the citrus industry. During the last season 957,000 cases were packed, as compared with 455,100 in 1927. In addition canners put up 202,000 cases of grapefruit juice.

35 FROM CHINA HERE EN ROUTE TO U. S. COLLEGES

Thirty-five young Chinese, fresh from their native country to attend American universities, were met by leading Chinese upon their arrival at the Union station yesterday on the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific. Five other members of the original party, which disembarked at Seattle, Wash., had left their comrades in Milwaukee, as they plan to attend the University of Wisconsin. All the students expect to make railroading their profession when they return to China. For two years they will take college courses, some at the University of Chicago, some at the University of Illinois, and others at Harvard and other eastern schools. They will get some practical experience by working for railroads before returning to China.

DELAY WILLYS' CONFIRMATION AS AMBASSADOR

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(AP)—Immediate confirmation of John N. Willys of Ohio as ambassador to Poland was blocked in the senate today by Senator La Follette [Rep., Wis.] when Senator Fess [Rep., O.] asked consideration of the nomination out of order.

The Wisconsin senator said later he objected to consideration of the nomination because it was brought up out of order. The foreign relations committee approved Willys and no opposition to his confirmation is in sight.

Modest Onion Plays Hundred Varied Roles

Flavors Sauces, Stews, or May Be Eaten Alone.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

After writing of onions the other day I received a letter of which the following is a part: "Ladee, ladee: It is with a great deal of interest that I peruse your culinary chatter (no disrespect) every day, and Feb. 14 contained something that was vitally interesting to me, and doubtless to others. I love onions and having been in a very serious anemic condition for several years, have always been too fat. Notice you say one can work out a diet for the too fat ones on an onion base; I am calling for help . . . I believe I could manage one of this kind . . . shall watch the paper very closely for your help, if you care to give it. I believe it would be of inestimable help to many."

The exact words of my affirmation were: "We might easily work out a diet for the obese on an onion base." I could, but it would require forty or fifty pages of print to present it. Words are terribly filling things.

I would like to ask H. B. if she saw the news item of March 1, or one week back, about the woman 101 years old who attributed her health and age to eating a medium sized onion a day, "for she has found welcome health-giving qualities in onions." But not everybody could or would eat them raw, as she does, yet rightly managed in a bowl of salad they make the whole epicurean.

Keeps Hunger Away.

Of the scores and scores of items on the onion collected by me there is in an English article, a story about a "North Country" clergyman who "never tires of speaking of its virtues as an allayer of hunger, and for 'lengthening the wind.' He is much addicted to pedestrianism, but never ventures forth without a succulent Spanish onion in his pocket, and has walked continuously for twelve hours with that as his only companion and food."

Sixteen years ago or more I wrote an article entitled, "A Bland Diet with Onions" and I rather like the way it begins:

"Physiological economy is something even harder to practice than financial economy, and far less well understood. Important as it is that we spend our money wisely so that we may live comfortably, it is a hundred times more vital that we practice physiological economy." And what I go on to preach concerns the taking into our bodily temples too much food, yet even so securing salvation through such as the onion.

With the following one recipe we can prepare a foundation for a score and perhaps fifty different dishes: Put one tablespoon of butter in the frying pan, add sliced onions according to the number or quantity required—the pan is buttered or greased for various quantities thus. Cover the pan and the onions will sook soft in from five to ten minutes. You may use them as a blanket over beefsteak or even a lamb chop—this is done today—or even over a loose textured round of hot bread, as they do on the Mediterranean.

You may sieve them and add them to a thin soup preparation—white sauce, milk thickened with one teaspoon of tapioca per cup, a chicken stock slightly thickened with one or two starchy things such as a teaspoon of flour per cup and a half cup of grated raw potato cooked before the onion is added.

People Rave Over It.

Onions fried thus may be silky and sweet to serve as a vegetable, or meat garnish, or they may be made the basis of lyonnaise potatoes, a creole sauce, etc. If you are not a careful cook, or if it is hard to learn to cook as gently as onion and butter combined should be cooked, you may add to the onions and butter a tablespoon or two of water before you cover them closely, but it will require a little longer or up to ten minutes to cook them thus and after the water is out you may stand over them till they brown a bit. Or you may turn them into a pan in which beefsteak or lamb chops have been pan broiled and mix them with the juices. This is the mixture people rave over. This fried onion is the starting point for braises and stews.

Diet Can Be Worked Out.

With this list of uses alone, and those suggested with the fried onion recipe, a willing worker could certainly develop quite an onion diet or a diet well sprinkled with onions—the blend, the digestive evener. And let us add a bit more from the French:

"With the dates and figs the onions of Egypt are the resource of the caravans and during the ages the poor French serf had only the onion to cheer or exhilarate his black bread."

And we have said nothing of Soubise—of the celebrated French duke, and of the sauce and soup named for him. The great artist Whistler's man could make an onion soup to please the immortals of his day, and all through literature onion soup is mentioned here and there as Olympian.

It is a great subject. And should you ever have an opportunity to eat grained onions in a certain famous restaurant in Milan, Italy, you will know that no vegetable can be more elegant when nobly cooked than can an onion. An extensive book on the onion has in its dedication: "To all who constantly work for a better understanding of man by man this book is dedicated."

OGDEN AVE. BOND PLAN UNDER FIRE OF MOTOR CLUB

Raises Issue of Chicago's Finance Troubles.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Chicago Motor club yesterday announced its opposition to the $5,400,000 bond issue on the April ballot for the construction of bridges and a trestle to carry Ogden avenue over Goose island, on the near northwest side.

"We have for years advocated improvement of this shortcut between the north and the south sides," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the club, "but conditions have changed.

"An outstanding objection to the bond issue at this time is that the city is in a weak financial condition and that property owners are already burdened with taxes.

"The present route of Ogden avenue over Goose island can serve for the time being. The roadway could be leveled for the half mile for a few hundred dollars.

Says Widening Is Needed.

"When public finances are in a better condition, then we can consider the development of Ogden avenue. It will need more than this job over Goose island to make it a desirable through route. It will have to be widened between Randolph street and Roosevelt road and between 22d street and Cicero avenue, and several grade separations will have to be constructed."

On Nov. 4, 1919, the public voted $5,400,000 bonds, which, with about $3,000,000 from special assessments, were to complete the driveway between Union and Lincoln parks. All the money was spent, with Michael J. Faherty as president of the board of local improvements, but only half of the job was completed.

The city's work on Ogden avenue was one of the projects involved in THE TRIBUNE'S suit against Faherty, Mayor Thompson, and others, in which the Circuit court returned a verdict for the return of more than $2,200,000 to the taxpayers of Chicago. The case is now pending on appeal in the Illinois Supreme court.

Bond Issue Defeated.

In April of 1928 a bond issue for $8,815,000 for the Goose island structure was defeated at the polls. Last year Faherty lowered his estimate on the cost and tried to get $5,400,000 from the corporate fund without a referendum, but he was blocked by the city council.

West side business groups have advocated the project, prompted in part by the hopes of attracting shoppers from the north side. Some realty operators also have supported the bonds.

A third of Goose island is occupied by yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad. There are a sand and gravel yard, some coal yards, and a few warehouses on the island and considerable undeveloped property.

Added Traffic Difficulties.

The opening of Ogden avenue as a traffic artery from the southwest to the north side has been advocated for 30 years. Even its improved sectors, however, have become obsolete in view of modern traffic conditions. Being a diagonal street, it intersects both the north and south and the east and west streets, and therefore has twice as much cross traffic as most thoroughfares, twice as many traffic lights, and twice as great a need for grade separations.

ARMSTRONG, DRY AGENT, RETURNS TO DUTY HERE

Brice F. Armstrong, the little cowboy of Prohibition Administrator Yellowley's staff, and his shadow, Paul Shoup, were back on local duty yesterday after three months "on assignment" in New Jersey. They were released from their eastern duties on March 1.

The two agents, veteran brewery investigators, left Chicago in December during a storm of rumors, accusations, and counter charges. State's Attorney George D. Carbary of Kane county complained that Armstrong had threatened to have him and Antone Mauritsen, Kane county dry investigator, indicted. Armstrong charged that Mauritsen had asked that Kane county beer traffic go unmolested during the Christmas holidays. Dry chiefs said the two agents were transferred on Washington orders.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

Sauces with Poached Eggs.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

There are a great many ways of serving poached eggs with sauces. A mild cheese sauce perfectly blended with a poached egg increases the food value of the dish, as well as the appearance and the palatableness of the whole. For the most elegant service Parmesan cheese is used in various ways, but we can use an American cheese grated—some that has dried a little too much to be used plain.

To make a cheese sauce melt one tablespoon of butter, mix till smooth one table tablespoon of flour, cool and add a cup of cold milk. Bring to a boil slowly with constant stirring and cook thoroughly before adding salt and one large tablespoon of grated cheese. Set aside to keep hot and continue cooking slowly and evenly while the eggs are poached. Put each egg on an individual white enamel plate, cover it with sauce and set it on the broiler or in a hot oven for three or four minutes until the two are like one. Put the tin plate on a service plate and send to the table.

As Eastern approaches the poached egg is served more grandly. Quite the grandest way of serving it is in the little silver casserolettes with a sauce and a garnish, such as two or three asparagus tips, or some other elegancy.

To serve three poached eggs with Parmesan cheese have ready the three eggs, the ingredients for a small amount of white sauce—not a thick one—two tablespoons of Parmesan cheese and one egg yolk. Make a scant cup of white sauce, add to it about four grains of cayenne pepper. After it has thickened and has cooked for a few minutes stir in the Parmesan cheese and the egg yolk while the sauce is over the gentlest possible of fires.

Poach the eggs, put them into a glass plate with a tablespoon of sauce under each, and the rest of it over them, then sprinkle them with Parmesan cheese. Bake for about 15 minutes, or they may be finished on the top of a solid top stove in a shorter time—about 10 minutes. If they are cooked in individual glass dishes with the bell glass over, they can be most effectively finished on top of the stove.

TWO GO ON TRIAL THIRD TIME IN BOMBING CASE

Joseph Cerra, 25, 2443 Arthington street, and Carlo Oliviero, 28, 1137 South Hermitage avenue, were placed on trial yesterday before Judge Otto Kerner in the Criminal court for conspiracy to bomb. This is the third time that the state's attorney's office has attempted to bring the men to trial for alleged bombing crimes.

The first time the men were put to trial the state was forced to dismiss because the confessions of the men were ruled inadmissible after charges of police brutality were made. A new form of indictment was obtained and a second trial started before Judge Harry Lewis. This trial was interrupted as it was nearing completion because of prejudicial publicity due to a so called bombing threat received by First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup.

Assistant State's Attorney C. Weyland Brooks, who had successfully tried two bombing cases recently, is in charge of the present prosecution. He charges that the defendants manufactured bombs and in some instances helped to explode them.

SCHOOL DELAYS BRING THREAT TO CLOSE AIRPORT

Fear Tragedy Because of Congested Field.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Ald. Dorsey Crowe announced yesterday that he will submit a resolution to the city council recommending the closing of the Municipial airport unless the board of education acts promptly on the proposed long-term lease of sufficient acreage to provide for expansion. Ald. Crowe is chairman of the council committee on aviation.

"It has been repeatedly pointed out that the present airport is unsafe," Ald. Crowe stated. "The runways are too short and there are not enough of them to handle the increasing volume of commercial traffic. There is constant danger of a major air crash because of the congestion. In the interests of safety the city's airport may have to be closed unless the school board wakes up to the urgency of the situation."

Woud Affect Industry, Vlew.

Closing of the airport would affect the nerve center of the commercial air lines in the United States, officials stated. They pointed out that such action would hamper operation of eleven mail and transport routes connecting all the important population centers in the country.

Ald. Crowe's statement followed the introduction of a resolution from the Chicago aero commission at yesterday's council meeting, asking the council to withdraw the $450,000 airport bond issue from the April ballot. The commission stated that such an investment would be unwise because of the short term lease now held by the city on the airport property. The resolution was referred to the council finance committee. Ald. Crowe said that he will seek a special meeting of that committee to give immediate attention to the airport matter.

It is considered unlikely that the finance committee will recommend the withdrawal. Its supporters point out that if such action were taken there would be no funds available for improvement in case the property transfer is effected.

Caldwell Explains Delays.

President Caldwell of the board of education attended the council meeting prepared, he said, to "tell a few things to Ald. A. J. Horan." Horan, it is reported, has accused the school head of insincerity in his declared support of the airport lease. Mr. Caldwell said he had no opportunity to make his reply because the aero commission's resolution was not read to the council.

"I have been pushing this airport lease all along, but I haven't been able to get sufficient support from the trustees," Mr. Caldwell said. "Eight votes are necessary and because several members are out of town there isn't enough support to see it safely through. The matter will have to rest until the board members return."

Caldwell expressed the opinion that March 26 was the earliest date on which action could be expected.

MUCH MARRIED "PRINCESS" IN ON NECKLACE DEAL

Latest Husband Is $53,000 Ahead.

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—Official interest in the now famous "bargain" sale of the $400,000 Napoleon necklace was pegged up anew today by reports purporting to disclose hitherto unknown chapters in the career of the so-called "woman in the case," the supposed Princess Gerve Baronte.

The princess was known here as the wife of Col. C. L. Townsend, the former British secret service agent who sold the necklace to a Fifth avenue jeweler, pocketing—it is alleged—some $53,000 of the proceeds as "expense" money and sending a paltry $7,000 or so to the Archduchess Marie Theresa, owner of the gem, as her "share." According to the latest available information, it was the "princess" who persuaded the archduchess to entrust the necklace to the dashing ex-army officer.

Townsend is said to have told the jeweler that his wife was an "intimate" friend of the Austrian noblewoman.

Historic Value Discounted.

The jeweler, David M. Michel, told Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings today that he was not interested in the historic value of the necklace, which Napoleon assembled in 1811 for his second wife, Marie Louisa. He said he had paid $60,000 for the necklace, although the archduchess contends it is worth $400,000.

"I bought the necklace for $60,000 from Townsend in good faith," Mr. Michel told Mr. Hastings. "I was interested only in the diamonds in it and bought them on their weight. They had been cut in the old fashioned way and this meant they would have to be cut over again."

The Italian husband is said to be one Adolfo Bena, former Italian consul general at Hongkong. He married the princess, it is understood, in 1919, at Shanghai. Incidentally, word came from Shanghai that Danner, the Boston, Mass., husband had appeared there the day after the marriage of the "princess" to Bena and protested that the bride was still his wife—that they had never been divorced. She explained that her marriage to Danner was illegal in that she had merely agreed to marry him to save him from the military draft. Whatever Bena might have thought of this version of the venture he appears to have outwardly accepted it.

The princess was admitted to the country as Mrs. Townsend. Within the last few days, however, word has begun to reach the authorities that she left another husband in Italy and that she had been married at least once—without being divorced—previous to becoming the Italian's wife.

Married to Boston Man.

Indeed, data reaching the Austrian consulate through unofficial channels indicates that the princess has had quite a marital career. Some time after he arrival here during the war she was married to one Paul R. Danner of Boston, the consul has been told. There is no known record of the couple having been divorced.

However, the records at Concord, Mass., are said to disclose that she had previously been the wife of one Harry B. Nott, address and present whereabouts unknown and that she had obtained a divorce from him there in 1920. The papers in this case show, the consul was informed, that she sued under the name of Gertrude B. Putnam-Nott, indicating still another marriage.

Mother "Egyptian Princess."

In her "set" it was understood that the princess had inherited her title from her mother, an Egyptian princess, who also had married an Italian.

A son was born to the Benas in time, but after financial adversity overtook the diplomat they drifted apart.

A report reached the district attorney here that Townsend and the princess were on their way back to Shanghai. The last definite trace of the couple shows that they stopped at the Venita Place hotel, Palm Beach, Feb. 17. The couple left here shortly after the sale of the necklace.

Efforts to check up on Townsend's career previous to his coming to this country on his gem peddling expedition have been equally fruitless. Inquiry at the British secret service office in London failed to develop any definite information regarding him.

Documents Awaited.

Meanwhile progress in the investigation has come to something of a halt pending the arrival of documents from Vienna—documents having to do in part with the power of attorney the Archduchess Marie Theresa gave to Townsend when she turned the necklace over to him and the message she says she later sent him revoking this commission.

TWO in the mixing

for Perfect Results

to One in the oven

double action in Leavening must be in the proportion of TWO-to-ONE

MOST baking powders have a double action in leavening. But to produce the light, even texture which every woman recognizes as perfect, this double action must take place in the proportion of two-to-one—two-thirds in the mixing and one-third in the oven.

Two-to-one leavening is produced only by a pure, all-phosphate powder such as Rumford. Some powders release too much leavening gas in the mixing and the cake or biscuits resulting are apt to be dry and crumbly. Other powders largely delay leavening action until exposed to oven heat and produce a bake which is soggy and heavy.

Rumford always produces superior results because Rumford always leavens in the proper two-to-one proportion. 52 laboratory tests in the process of manufacture ensure its uniformity and purity.

And the healthful phosphates of which Rumford is made assure you of a baking powder which is something more than pure—it is healthful as well.

Mardo Pattou Misses Florida but Gets Party

BY THALIA

Little Miss Mardo Pattou can tell you that there are compensations for staying at home, if you have nice sympathetic parents who are sorry for your disappointment when you thought you were going to have a vacation from 'rithmetic, and then didn't.

The Pattous' trip to Florida had to be postponed until it was too late to take it, so Mardo's mother, Mrs. Albert Pattou of Lake Forest devised a lovely party to make up for a juvenile grievance. She is bringing Mardo and five of her contemporaries into town tomorrow for lunch at the Blackstone, and afterward they will go to the Goodman theater to see that perennial favorite, "Little Women." Edith Porter, Peggy McIlvaine, the John R. McIlvaines' young daughter who writes stories and things; Anita Smith, Edith Cowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Knight Cowles, and Nancy Jane Evans, daughter of the Floyd Pruyns.

The tide of fashionable travel is apparently almost at the turning point, and from now on, we may have reason to chronicle instead of everlasting departures. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Peterkin of 199 Lake Shore drive and their daughter, Miss Jeanette Peterkin are back from Pasadena, Cal., where they have been visiting Mrs. Peterkin's mother, Mrs. Knight. The young Daniel Peterkins Jrs. are expected back this week from the west also, and Betty Borden Pirie and her new husband, Robert S. Pirie, will return from their wedding trip abroad in a week or 10 days.

Jean Purcell is home again after a trip with the Edward C. Crossetts on their yacht, the Betty R., down in West Indian waters. Miss Betty Crossett is stopping in New York City for a few visits with friends before she comes to Chicago, and her parents are staying in the south awhile longer.

The Palm Beach season reached its zenith last night with the Everglades ball, and the numerous Chicagoans there will be joining the homeward trek soon. The Orville Thompsons expect to be back March 15.

Hand-me-down clothes used to be looked on with disparagement, and women guilty of wearing them never admitted their origin. This state of affairs has been as dead as bustles, since the time one of the directors of the White Elephant Rummage shop recognized one of her castoff hats on a fellow member of the board who had purchased it from the White Elephant stock.

The provisional members of the Junior league, who are hard at it to corral clothes and accessories for their second hand sale next Tuesday and Wednesday had to be restrained by a kindly but firm manageress from making pre-sale purchases, and so they're planning to be on hand the first thing in the morning to buy as well as sell the choice bargains.

Mrs. Darrow Bruce Fulton loaned her wedding veil to her friend, Miss Susan Blake, daughter of Mrs. Teresa Hartnell Blake, for her marriage last Tuesday to Milton Price Harley of Philadelphia, Pa., and the Fultons went to New York to attend the wedding.

It took place at the Hotel Delmonico at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon with just relatives and close friends present. Mrs. Thomas Dawes Blake II. of Philadelphia was matron of honor.

Miss Irene Wilson of 209 Lake Shore drive and Mrs. Robert W. Locke of Washington, D. C., sailed on the S. S. Majestic for a trip of several months in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball of Indian Hill have gone to Chandler, Ariz., to join the Ira C. Darlings of Glencoe who have already been in Chandler a week. Mr. and Mrs. Ball are to be gone for a fortnight.

Mrs. Charles E. Pain of Winnetka is making a long visit in the south. She went to Birmingham, Ala., to be matron of honor at the wedding of Miss Emily William, which took place on Feb. 25, and to be present for the wedding gaieties, and since then has been visiting her brother, Dr. J. M. Forney, and his family at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Find Fire God's Temple in Mexico; Built 200 B. C.

MEXICO CITY, March 6.—(AP)—Explorations by archæologists of the department of education have led to discovery of a temple to the Indian god of fire, Xintecuhtle, and a statue of that god in the Tenayuca archæological zone, only a few miles from Mexico City.

What heretofore was thought to be an ordinary pyramid was found to contain in its base a spacious hall, in which the statue rested on a pedestal. It is believed the pyramid was built over the room, which formed a part of the temple, about 200 B. C. The temple itself probably was erected two centuries before the pyramid.

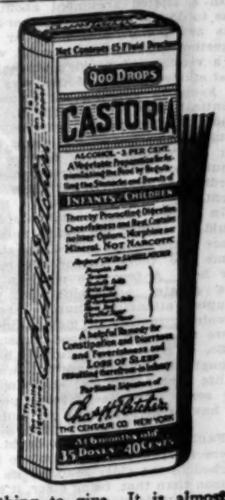
When Babies CRY



Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comforted; if not, you should call a doctor. Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition. Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could by no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

Bride Helps Pay for Home; Husband's Mother Bosses It

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The ideal world, thinks "Buster," would be a world peopled only by orphans. Orphan would marry orphan and there wouldn't be any more in-law troubles.

"Buster" at 23 is a three year bride, still working and not enjoying the privileges of her mother-in-law's home, although her husband supports it. Mother-in-law is 50, spry and healthy.

The first day the bride moved in the two women got off on the wrong foot with a heated argument about who was to do the cooking. Mother-in-law was not going to intrust her son's digestion to the experimental whims of a very young cooking student. So that started a row. Mother was going to keep on running the house the identical way she wanted it. That made the row a bit warmer. And daughter-in-law was not going to tell her how much better the furniture would look if it were rearranged according to modern furniture treatment.

In other words, daughter-in-law could be at her job, bring home her share of the bacon, and be glad she had some one there to run the ménage for her. A few side remarks about the greater advisability of young couples attending church meetings, evenings, instead of moving pictures were thrown in for good measure.

So, to Buster, it begins to look as though she had committed herself to a life sentence unless she can think up some way, like divorce perhaps, of having her sentence commuted.

Faults on both sides, no doubt. But there is always more blame to be attached to the older head for no other reason than that, being older, it should be more understanding.

It is quite possible that a modern young woman, even of the flapper genie, would like to try her hand at cooking. Some of them can cook surprisingly well for an accomplishment that is not rated high among girl assets. Some of them could improve the character of a house by a rearrangement of furniture therein. Anyway, there is no harm in letting them try. Young folk are amenable to kindly suggestion, but ruthlessly stubborn in the face of unsympathetic opposition, exactly as mothers-in-law were when they were young.

Compromise, mother-in-law, compromise! Let the younger woman show off her housekeeping talents, too, before your boy—and her boy.

Two Color Ensemble Is Suggestive of Youth

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris has done several things to increase the youthful pep of first spring ensembles without returning to knee length skirts. The skirt length style slogan is still, "Four or five inches below the knees, or fight," but the ensemble coat has no such restrictions.

Coat hems are on the upgrade, and some Paris dressmakers are forecasting ensemble coats no longer than coatees and boleros. It is certain that a good many of them will be cut off just above the knees, as so many were shown in the Paris midseason shows. Naturally at this length a generous part of the skirt shows below.

Jenny offers something piquantly new in ensembles with knee length coats by making the coat in a light colored material and the dress dark, as shown in the ensemble illustrated. She was surely thinking of girls who must make one coat serve as an ensemble wrap for several dresses when she designed this ensemble, and this is doubtless one reason for its great success. Two color ensembles are going to be chic this season.

Jenny has chosen navy blue wool georgette for the dress of this ensemble and rose beige broadcloth for the coat. The latter is fitted in slightly under the arms and has a sort of peplum around the sides and back at the high waistline. The collar is lined with dark blue crêpe to match the dress.

The skirt of this frock is gored, and from the knees the gores are flared and zigzagged along the edges, this being clearly indicated by rosy beige piping. Half moon bands outline the scalloped hem. The blouse is made springlike by the introduction of a plaited vestee and cuffs of pink plaited organdy. The navy leather belt at the normal waistline is banded with pink.

To Discuss Government.

Dr. A. R. Hatton, professor of political science at Northwestern university, will lecture on "How the City Manager Plan Was Won for Cleveland" at 2 p. m. today in the Masonic temple at 32 West Randolph street. The meeting is open to the public.

Blue Eye Shadow Brings with It Youthful Beauty

by Gabrielle Ferrell

Have you noticed lately how frequently beauty experts advocate the blue eye shadow? I was talking to one the other day who had just converted a girl of the blue eyed, dark haired Irish type away from her smudgy black eyelid shading to a blue that the expert tells me proved devastatingly becoming.

For those who have been in the habit of using brown eye paste the same internationally known expert advises a trial with the blue anyway.

In these pastes a younger eye effect is recognized. Hazel eyed, green eyed, gray eyed, blue and frequently a dark eyed woman finds the blue touch on the lid just what her eyelid was blinking for.

A heavily shaded lid has a tendency to make the eye recede, and therefore seem smaller, look older and harder. Brown shading on certain types of women has a distinctly ageing effect.

Cosmetic rules, of course, are made to be broken by the individual requirement. I notice, too, a tendency in these ultra-sophisticated beautifying circles to preach eye makeup more than they used to. Their theory now is that women have gotten pretty expert with cheek and lip coloring and with the same skill they might just as well make the eyes do a little art talk, too. However, they do preach moderation in the use of eye paste. You cannot get advice in any of these centers without hearing the word "delicately" stressed as the proper way to apply eye paste.

Perhaps we have arrived at a point of chic now when the eyelid should be played up just as well as cheek and lip, although I must make the reservation that certain types of women are better without eye shadow in the daytime. I do not think the wrinkled lid is helped.

However, if you want to see how you would look as a complete art creation, try out an eye shadow and believe what your mirror tells you, if your best friend fails. Dip your finger first in your cold cream jar and grease the lid lightly. Then put on the coloring ever so lightly. You can add more if the eye is equal to it.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MRS. E. W. W.: I HAVE EXERcises for reducing the neck and a double chin which I'll gladly send you on receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope. Be sure to hold your head erect at all times. The position in which the head is held has much to do with sagging muscles and a double chin.

I. F. C.: A WAVE SETTING LOtion may be made with one tablespoonful of quince seed and a quart of water. Let boil for a half hour. Strain when cold. You may add your favorite perfume. If it should be necessary to thin the lotion, add a spoonful of toilet water.

W. Adams' Lighter Works on Show at the Hoosier Galleries

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Water colors by Wayman Adams and pastels by Johann Berthelsen are the new exhibit opening today in the Hoosier Art gallery, 211 West Wacker drive. It is a particularly nice exhibit. Five of the water colors by Mr. Adams were in his exhibition which won the Dana gold medal at the Philadelphia academy and the exhibit, as it is here, came from the Brooks Memorial Art gallery at Memphis. It is a delightful, amusing, light hearted chapter in the record of Wayman Adams' career.

These water colors are not considered by him as being of serious import. They are chiefly little sketches thrown off in idle minutes on a pleasure jaunt, vacation day titbits. That they should be important to us presupposes the importance of Mr. Adams as a painter. He is undoubtedly one of the big figures in contemporary American art. He carries the drive of his personality over from his impressive oils into the shallow waters of such work as is laid open today in the Hoosier gallery. It is a great personality, far-visioned, possessed of humor and common sense, and unafraid before modernist railings.

In the current exhibit there are several landscapes, roughly sketched, which give variety, the more unexpected as Mr. Adams deals customarily with persons only, and places them more often against architectural surroundings than pastoral. His "Misty Day, Adirondacks" and "Pale Day, Adirondacks" have subtle charm. Of the rest "Courting," "Antique Dealer, New Orleans," "The Wash," and "French Quarter, New Orleans," stand out.

Johann Berthelsen is a musician by profession. He has taken up painting as an amusing hobby and paints only in pastel, which is a medium that is the least severe on lack of academic training. Nearly anything may be glossed over in pastel. It softens and encourages and beautifies and altogether is to painting what candle light is to a complexion unsure of itself. In the present case a slight monotony of beauty takes the edge from the interest a first quick survey of these pictures inspires. They are night scenes with sudden lights showing up dim towers and piercing the romantic dusk with poetic flares. A slim group of them are essentially good. "Summer Evening," "57th Street," "The Hudson," and "Night," are well worth while. The others are a repetition of a theme that threatens to cloy, but considered from the standpoint of a musician's entry into a painter's field are very creditable to Mr. Berthelsen.

The exhibition will continue through the month of March.

MRS. JOSEPH E. AUER.
[Du Bois Photo.]

Old Home of Washington's Stepson Wrecked by Fire

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(AP)—A rambling two story mansion of colonial days that long has stood deserted, beaten by wind and rain, but nevertheless a landmark rich in associations of George Washington, has fallen before the flames of a brush fire which were driven by the wind.

The house, where lived John Custis, son of Martha Custis—she later became Martha Washington—and after him his widow, was burned yesterday. Firemen summoned to the scene in nearby Virginia, were unable to extinguish the flames because of lack of water.

Abingdon, as the mansion was known in its better days, after passing from the Custis family, passed through the hands of many owners, finally was stripped by souvenir hunters, occupied by various families who had little appreciation of its historical significance, and gradually became a ruin.

More than Half of the Boy Scouts' Fund Is Promised

It is the elders who are bad in a neighborhood—not the boys. Such was the diagnosis of the "bad boy" problem by Dr. Louis L. Mann of Sinai temple. He was a speaker last night at the banquet of the Chicago council of Boy Scouts in the Palmer house.

The dinner, presided over by Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the campaign committee, summed up the first month's efforts to raise a $1,250,000 fund to finance the four year expansion program of the scouts in Chicago. When the workers completed their reports the amount raised to date totaled $650,000. That is more than half their goal.

"Whenever boys are bad in any neighborhood it really isn't the boys who are bad, but their parents," Dr. Mann said. "They're 'bad' for not giving the youngsters an opportunity to expend excess energy. There are no bad boys. But there are bad citizens, the so-called 'good people' who won't give boys a chance to express themselves."

Preceding Dr. Mann's talk Brig. Gen. Abel Davis broadcast over WMAQ from the banquet room an appeal to the citizens of Chicago "who appreciate the value of the right kind of manpower" to come to the aid of the scouts or "our efforts will be in vain." He declared the Boy Scout movement an aid toward bringing world peace.

"Dislocated Psyche" Latest Illness for the Tired Business Man

Physicians were warned to be on the watch for a new malady called "dislocated psyche" yesterday by Dr. George B. Lake, editor of Clinical Medicine and Surgery, at a conference on abnormal illnesses yesterday at Woodlawn hospital and clinic, 61st street and Drexel avenue. The new type of ailment, the doctor declared, develops from the strain of modern business and city life and results in definite illness.

"Dislocated psyche is a gradual loss of mental or emotional balance," as Dr. Lake described it. "Sometimes it is violent temper just short of insanity. It may afflict children as well as adults. It is notably on the increase especially in cities and is one of the most baffling problems confronting modern physicians."

Dr. Lake said the new psychic factor in medicine is not related to "psychoanalysis nor to mediophilosophical" theories, but is a new diagnosis based on the principle that the "psyche"—the emotions and the mind—is just as much a part of the human organism as is the chest or the abdomen.

"Fear is one of the ailment's chief causes," Dr. Lake stated, "and parents should realize it may be the hidden source of problems they encounter with their children. Faulty heredity, wrong early training, emotional conflicts arising from household difficulties, frustrated ambition, exhausting diseases are other causes. Sex is usually a minor factor."

Yes, Why Not? Mother Is More Effective than the "No" Type

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The following booklets by Mrs. Bevans will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope: "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them," "Sex Education Booklet," and "Play Booklet." A book on the care of babies by Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom can be had at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

Are you a "No" mother or a "Yes, why not?" mother?

This is not original with me, but it was so pithy that I took it from a letter. The letter said in part, "I used to be inclined to be a "No" mother when I didn't wish to be bothered. Now I consider the question from a child's angle and have become a 'Yes, why not?' mother from reading one of your articles. Through it my little son and I are the best of pals."

Here in everyday language is a deep psychological treatise. This brief letter embraces a whole important aspect of the relation between parents and children. Put into the technology of the science, it would be most impressive. But we don't express ourselves that way in this department. Still it needs to be made impressive, that simple letter. Each sentence is pregnant with significance. Take it point by point:

"I used to be a 'No' mother when I didn't want to be bothered." How often that tells the whole story! Children's needs and legitimate desires are at least half the time denied because they often interfere with our own adult concerns.

Take the next point. "Now I consider the question from the child's angle." That's what we need to consider wherever our intelligence and sympathy will let us. If we could only know more about his angle!

Then the next: "I have become a 'Yes, why not?' mother." Not just a "Yes" mother, but, as the writer says, "I have become a 'Yes, why not?' mother." Our first impulse should be to say yes to the children—unless there is some good and sufficient reason why not. Nothing could be more open minded than "Yes, why not?"

And last: "Through this my little son and I are the best of pals." He knows, he senses the difference. His mother is with him, in spirit, and so they become friends—one of the most beautiful of human relationships. This is what it means to become a "Yes, why not?" mother. Fathers might try it, too.

At the Apron Booth.

A friend recently presented me with a fancy apron, which she had made, for my birthday. It proved to be too large for me and too small for my mother, so I generously gave it to a neighbor who was soliciting donations for a church bazaar.

A few evenings later I attended the bazaar and sauntered around to the apron booth. To my utmost dismay I discovered the donor of my birthday gift presiding there. My evening was utterly ruined. E. C.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

This modified princess design shows two circular tiers for the skirt, and makes it ideal for general daytime wear. The tiers take a downward curve at the back—a clever means of lengthening the silhouette. They are finished at the top with a faille silk crêpe applied band that ties in a bow at the front. The deep V neck is finished in the same way, except for the bow. The long sleeves are gathered into narrow, fitted bands at the wrists. Crêpe de chine, crêpe marocain, wool crêpe, and wool challis are smart materials.

The pattern, 3,278, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39 inch material with ¾ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Little Marguerite, not quite 5 years old, was closely watching some people moving in a few doors away.

"That's all," she heard one of the furniture men say, so she said, "O, mister, aren't you going to move in any little boys I can play with?"

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Studying Photography.

"I have been a patient at this tuberculosis sanitarium for many years and since I am unable to buy something I am most anxious to own, I am coming to you for help. It is a camera. I am studying photography and need one. Now, please do not think I am being too particular when I say that to derive any benefit out of my study I should have a camera with a sharp lens. I shall be most grateful if you can help me. M. F."

In his endeavor to equip himself for a suitable occupation when he is released from the sanitarium, this patient is devoting as much time as possible to the study of photography. Can you assist him by supplying this much needed sharp lensed camera?

Dressmaker's Model.

"There is a dressmaker's model, size 44, at your disposal for some one who could use it. I have no further need of it. MRS. M. B."

The problem of fitting is solved for the home dressmaker when she has a dress form to work with, and getting a smart garment together becomes much simpler. If you are interested in securing one of this size, write me; please do not telephone.

Martin J. Insull Talks of Problems of Housewives

Responsibilities of the electric power companies to the twenty million homes they serve were outlined today by Martin J. Insull, president of the Middle West Utilities company, addressing a luncheon of women members of the National Electric Light association at the Palmer House.

The conference is discussing the home service activities of the electric companies.

"Home service work has the opportunity of bringing to twenty million homes a knowledge of all the electric devices and appliances that relieve the housewife or the servants of unnecessary manual labor and give them time and strength for cultural development which otherwise would be impossible," Mr. Insull said.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds, or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)
